FYFFES LINE
The Comfort Route

A good manager and housewife, adaptable, resourceful, and full of ideas; with a well-stocked mind, a love of comfort, order, method and efficiency, much natural good taste and judgment, and an attractive and unselfish disposition, but not strong-willed, too sensitive to push herself forward, and apt to stand aside and allow her inferiors to get in front of her. Reads widely, and finds much happiness in imagination, but seems vaguely conscious of disappointment and disillusionment.

The above is a Delineation of a reader's character from her handwriting. See others in the Weekly Irish Times

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE O'BYRNE.)

A settlement was announced in an action in which James Kennedy, a farmer, of Bantiss, Cloughjordan, Co. Tipperary, and his wife, Kate Kennedy, claimed damages against Frederick Moore, a commercial traveller, of Highfield road, Rathgar, Dublin, and Arthur J. Nicholson and Alexander H. Nicholson, trading as Nicholson Brothers, of Beresford place, Dublin, for personal injuries caused to Mrs. Kennedy, and damage to the property of Mr. Kennedy, in a collision between a motor vehicle stated to have been owned by Messrs. Nicholson and driven by Mr. Moore, and a pony trap belonging to Mr. Kennedy near Nenagh in August, 1931.

The settlement provided for the payment of £500 and costs to the plaintiffs.

Mr. J. M. FitzGerald, K.C., and Mr. Esmonde (instructed by Mr. J. B. Quigley) appeared for the plaintiffs, and Mr. Dockrell, K.C., and Mr. Murnane (instructed by Mr. W. L. Hodgins) for the defendants.

STRUCK BY A VAN.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE O'BYRNE AND A JURY.)

Mrs. Ada G. Ray, 10 Leinster road, West, Dublin, sued Messrs. S. Fine and Company, Ltd., Weavers' Hall, the Coombe, Dublin, for personal injuries sustained by her through the alleged negligence, carelessness and breach of duty of the defendant company, its servants or agents, in the driving and management of a motor van at Harold's Cross road, Dublin, on May 28, 1931.

The defence was a denial of negligence and an allegation of contributory negligence on the part of the plaintiff.

Mr. A. A. Dickie, K.C., Mr. K. B. Dockrell, K.C., and Mr. W. Hamill (instructed by Messrs. Giltrap and Lambert) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Joseph O'Connor, K.C., Mr. Martin Maguire, K.C., and Mr. K. Dixon (instructed by Messrs. Little, O hUaidhaigh and Proud) for the defendant company.

The plaintiff stated that she saw the van approaching from the direction of the city, and thought she had plenty of time to cross the road. She had almost crossed the road when the van struck her. She was conveyed to the Adelaide Hospital. Her left leg was fractured; she sustained a scalp wound, and her nerves were affected. She was eleven weeks in hospital, and had her leg in plaster of paris for five months.

For the defence, John Hayden, the driver of the van, said that he saw the plaintiff come out behind a bread van. It was a wet day, and she had an umbrella opened. He sounded the horn, applied the brakes, swerved to avoid her, and did everything possible to avoid the accident.

Simon Fine, a member of the defendant firm, said that when he saw the plaintiff she was only a couple of feet in front of the van, which was pulled up in its own length.

The jury, on the questions submitted to them, found that the driver of the van was negligent, and that the plaintiff was negligent, but that, notwithstanding her negligence, the driver, by the exercise of reasonable care, could have avoided the accident. They assessed damages at £50.

Mr. Justice O'Byrne gave judgment for the plaintiff accordingly, with costs.

SALE OF ABERDEEN-ANGUS BULLS.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

Trade for pedigree Aberdeen Angus bulls at the sale conducted in Perth yesterday was remarkably good. 338 bulls sold averaged £40, a decrease of £8 on last year's figures. The grand champion, belonging to Sir Edmund Findlay, of Aberlour, was purchased by Mr. Grant, of Logie; Forres, a son of Sir Alexander Grant, for 600 guineas. Mr. Wigan, Andover, Hants, gave 300 guineas for a bull, Mr. Wignall, Toroboll, Caithness, 220 guineas for another.

DUBLIN CIRCUIT (CRIMINAL) COURT

STOLEN POSTAL ORDERS: RECEIVING CHARGE.

(BEFORE JUDGE DAVITT.)

When John Phelan, whose address was given as 83 Sterndale road, London, W.14, pleaded not guilty to receiving postal orders to the value of £7, knowing them to have been stolen,

Mr. Joseph A. McCarthy, who (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor) prosecuted, said that this was an important case which concerned the organisation of the Postal Department and also an organisation conducted by the Hospitals' Trust for the purpose of having money sent from Great Britain to this country. Some of the letters posted to addresses in this country were not delivered.

Sergeant John Barlin, Metropolitan Police, G.P.O., London, said that he went to the prisoner's address and showed him two postal orders. The prisoner said that he was given the postal orders to pay to the Hospitals' Trust, but he mislaid them.

Patrick Joseph Barry, a Dublin postman, said that he took one of the sweepstake letters containing £3 and sent it to the prisoner in London. The prisoner had written to him saying that he was out of employment.

The case for the State having closed,

The prisoner, in evidence, said that he had not received any postal orders knowing them to have been stolen.

The jury found the prisoner guilty, and he was put back for sentence.

The Court adjourned until to-day.

DUBLIN ARTISANS' DWELLINGS.

SUCCESSFUL YEAR'S BUSINESS.

Mr. Lawrence W. Martin, chairman, presided at the seventy-seventh ordinary general meeting of the Dublin Artisans' Dwellings Company, held yesterday in the offices, South William street.

The directors' report showed that the total rent received for the past year was £70,539 10s. 4d., as compared with £68,800 for the preceding year. After paying all expenses, income tax, etc., there remained a balance of £32,847, which, with the balance brought forward from 1931, made a total of £42,155 9s. 7d. to the credit of the net revenue account. Out of this sum an interim dividend of 3 per cent., amounting to £8,110 16s., was paid last July. The general reserve account was now £140,000. A final dividend of 3 per cent., free of income tax, amounting to £8,110 16s., was now recommended, making a total dividend of 6 per cent. for the year ended the 31st December last, and leaving a balance of £9,933 17s. 7d. to be carried forward.

The directors, it was stated, had entered into contracts for the erection of thirty houses—twenty at Rialto and ten at Halliday road, Manor place

The Chairman, moving the adoption of the report and statement of accounts, said that the rents got in for the year showed a considerable increase over the receipts for 1931, owing mainly to the fact that 53 weeks fell into last year's collection, but also to the termination of an agreement under which the rents of some 36 dwellings were received half-yearly in arrear. Since the beginning of 1932 these rents were collected weekly, in addition to the six months' arrears referred to. On the other side of the account the increase in outgoings was attributable to taxes. Higher rates of income tax and Corporation profits tax had been in force, and, with respect to the Corporation profits tax, the additional charge levied on the revenue in 1931 had to be met. It was hoped that the erection of the proposed new houses would be completed by mid-summer. The total population of the company's houses was 16,470, with a death rate for 1932 of 7 per thousand, as compared with 15.4 in the Dublin area.

Mr. F. D. Darley seconded the motion, and the report was adopted.

On the motion of the Chairman, seconded by Mr. V. C. Le Fanu, the dividend of 3 per cent. recommended in the report was passed.

The two retiring directors—Mr. L. W. Martin and Mr. Frederick D. Darley—were re-elected. Mr. F. H. Grierson was re-appointed auditor.

GALWAY HARBOUR DEVELOPMENT.

ACTION FOR ALLEGED LIBEL.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE HANNA AND A JURY.)

The hearing of the action of Mr. Michael O'Braonáin, T.D., chairman Roscommon County Council, against Mr. Jasper Tully, ex-M.P.; his sister, Annie Gertrude Tully, and the Herald Works, Ltd., Boyle, Co. Roscommon, was continued. The plaintiff claims damages for an alleged defamatory libel, stated to have been contained in a letter in the issue of the Roscommon Herald of May 19, 1931, over a nom-de-plume of "One Who Knows Slippery Mick." He pleaded that the publication was understood to mean that he had been guilty of dishonest and dishonourable conduct and was unfit to hold the position of T.D. and chairman of Roscommon County Council. Among the matters referred to in the publication was a reference to a loan guarantee for the development of Galway Harbour, and plaintiff complained that it was suggested that he brought that project before the Roscommon Council for personal gain.

The defendants pleaded fair comment on matters of public interest, and counterclaimed against plaintiff in respect of a speech made by him on 5th May, 1931, at a meeting of the Roscommon Council in reference to the Galway Harbour project. Plaintiff pleaded that his words were bona fide comment for the public benefit.

Mr. J. M. Fitzgerald, K.C., Mr. Joseph O'Connor, K.C., and Mr. Louis O'Doherty (instructed by Mr. M. J. Neilan) appeared for the plaintiff; and the Attorney-General, Mr. A. E. Wood, K.C., Mr. C. Lavery, K.C., and Mr. Felix Sherry (instructed by Mr. J. Vincent Brady) for the defendants.

Cross-examined by Mr. Wood, the plaintiff said that he was not "almost born into public life." He was now 47 years of age, and he first entered politics in 1916. He was in the Gaelic Athletic Association; in that way he was in the public view, but that Association was neither political nor sectarian. Before the attack of May 5th there were other attacks upon him in the Roscommon Herald in regard to other matters, but not in regard to the Galway Harbour project. There were letters in the paper from Mr. Mulligan on the subject of the rates in Roscommon; he referred to them on May 5th. Mr. Mulligan was Secretary of the Ratepayers' Association, but Mr. Neilan, his solicitor, was not. Mr. Mulligan stated that the rates for that year had been increased by £8,600.

Mr. Fitzgerald—That is on March 7th, and is headed, "The New Muzzling Order." (Laughter.)

OTHER LETTERS.

Continuing, the plaintiff said that other letters followed Mr. Mulligan's letter; there was one from Mr. MacDonnell. To his mind these matters were sufficient to complain of. There were also other anonymous letters. All those letters were previous to the attack in May. He added that he had been chairman of the Roscommon County Council for thirteen consecutive years. He had retained his position on the County Council, and, as far as the Dail was concerned, he agreed that his position in the county had improved.

Replying to further questions put by Mr. Wood, the plaintiff said that his first preference figures increased from September, 1927, to February, 1932. He knew that he was injured by what appeared in the Roscommon Herald. On the previous occasion, at every speech he made, "Galway Harbour" and "Slippery Mick" were thrown in his face. He rejected the notice of motion from Mr. Clyne in regard to the Galway Harbour scheme, because it was out of order and did not refer to the resolution which had been passed. It was to Mr. Loftus, of the Roscommon Messenger, that he handed his written speech. Mr. O'Braonáin denied that he ever appointed Mr. Loftus to any position in the Courthouse at Roscommon.

Mr. Wood put it to the witness that he could have amended the motion in its wording only he wished to deliver his written and proposed attack upon the priests, the Press and the Ratepayers' Association.

"That is not so," replied the witness.

Mr. Fitzgerald—There was no attack upon the priests.

In reply to Mr. Wood, the witness said that he wrote the notes of his speech in his own house and delivered it at the meeting of the Council, so as to clear up the matter before the public, as it was entirely misrepresented.

In the course of further cross-examination, Mr. Wood put it to plaintiff that the reference in the Roscommon Herald publication to a £25,000 levy on Roscommon for Galway was a fair assumption of what had taken place under the resolution at the Council meeting.

Plaintiff—It was very unfair, to my mind. He further said that he was not recommending it at all, except as a matter of public interest and utility. "If," he added, "there was not a section of an Act under which this could be done, it would not be done. That was my position."

Several questions followed arising out of matters connected with plaintiff's action in the County Council, and Mr. Wood then referred to Mr. O Braonain's election to the Dail, and asked—Do you think that your acts in the Dail itself had no effect on public opinion, even in Roscommon?

Witness—Possibly they should have.

FAMOUS DIVISION.

Mr. Wood—Do you remember a famous division in which it was sought to defeat the Government—the Jinks division—did you vote in the Jinks lobby or in the other lobby?—There was no Jinks lobby; Jinks was not there. (Laughter.)

On which side did you vote?—On the Cosgrave side.

Mr. Jinks was Independent?—I think he belonged to what was called the National Party.

You supported the then Government?—Yes.

Mr. Wood questioned the plaintiff about the letters upon which he based his attack on the Ratepayers' Association; he could not tell what was in Mr. Mulligan's mind, nor who was the guerilla penman referred to in one of the letters.

Counsel read letters which were published in the Roscommon Herald on March 14 and March 21. The plaintiff said that he took objection and exception to a number of paragraphs in those letters about the figures of the rates in the county, as he contended that there was an intention in one of those communications to deceive the public. In consequence of those letters from Mr. Mulligan, there was widespread dissatisfac tion in the county about the rates.

Mr. Wood read further letters from the Roscommon Herald, which bore the names of Mr. Mulligan, Mr. Neilan, Mr. O'Rourke and the plaintiff. "You have used those columns," suggested counsel, "and the more spicy they are the more appreciated is their reading by the public." (Laughter.)

The plaintiff stated that a reference in one letter to an increase of £30,000 in the rates of the county during the last few years did not represent the real situation. Anything he, or Mr. Neilan, or Mr. O'Donnell, or Mr. O'Rourke, his friends, wished to say was published in the Roscommon Herald. He might have written the last letter, and he hoped that he had the best of the newspaper correspondence.

The plaintiff's evidence having concluded, the further hearing was adjourned until this morning.

TRANSFER OF A TRUST.

THE POWER OF PARLIAMENT.

PROVISION IN THE CONSTITUTION.

ARTICLE 8 of the Constitution of the Irish Free State was referred to by Mr. Charles S. Campbell during his resumed argument on behalf of the Presbyterian "special defendants" in the case of the Governors of the Erasmus Smith Schools against the Attorney-General and others, in which the Governors are appealing from a judgment of the High Court that the paramount object of Erasmus Smith in endowing the schools was educational, and not religious.

The hearing was continued yesterday before the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Murnaghan, and Mr. Justice Johnston.

Mr. Jellett, K.C.; Mr. Overend, K.C.; Mr. Kingsmill Moore and Mr. O'Dell (instructed by Messrs. Darley, Orpen and Synnott) appeared for the appellants; the Attorney-General, Mr. McCann, K.C.; Mr. Vincent Rice, K.C., and Mr. McGuckin (instructed by Messrs. O'Hanlon and Robinson) for the Attorney-General; Mr. Lavery, K.C.; Mr. Gavan Duffy, K.C.; Mr. E. J. Kelly, K.C., and Mr. Hooper (instructed by Messrs. Sheridan and Kenny) for the Roman Catholic "special defendants"; and Mr. Dickie, K.C., Mr. Charles S. Campbell, and Mr. W. Hamill (instructed by Messrs. Dickie, Coulter and Hamill) for the Presbyterian "special defendants."

TRANSMITTED TRUSTS.

Continuing his argument, Mr. Campbell dealt extensively with authorities relating to the conveyance of legal estate; with the principles of equity; and with chancery law; and said that it could not be argued that a set of trustees holding a trust from a previous set of trustees could hold the same transmitted trusts for a different object unless there was a Statute enabling them to do so.

Mr. Justice Murnaghan asked was Mr. Campbell not trying to get the Court to say that the trustees did not hold under the Letters Patent, but under the Trust Deed?

Mr. Campbell replied that that was precisely what he did want the Court to say, and he added that there was no power to put into the Claims Court certificate or the Patent a clause giving Erasmus Smith the right to declare further and other trusts at a later date. Erasmus Smith having conveyed the lands to declared trustees by the deed of 1657, had not, nor had any other person, power to alter or vary the trusts; and, in so far as any of the lands might be looked upon as surplus or additional lands, any such surplus or additional lands, or accretions, would be governed and covered by the same trusts as were the original lands, and would be precisely the same trusts as were defined and set out by Erasmus Smith in his deed.

EXPRESS PROVISION.

Even the Court itself, submitted Mr. Campbell, could not alter the trusts: only Parliament could modify them. For his argument he relied on the case of the Attorney-General v. Boucherette, and said that if that was the proper principle of law before 1921 it should even more so be the proper principle of law now, because in the Constitution of the Irish Free State there was an express provision restraining the power of Parliament from taking away from any denominational or educational establishment moneys which were the property of that establishment.

Article 8 of the Constitution was the Article to which he referred, and he thought it was well to bear in mind that that Article was in the Constitution of this country and was, as he suggested, based on the existing law—that if a founder or donor had endowed his charity with a denominational aspect, it was not in any way to be taken away, even by Parliament.

On the subject of the Charter, Mr. Campbell said that, as he understood the principle, it was that when the Crown granted a Charter to a person who was a founder, the Courts would take it that the Charter was granted for the purpose, and with the object, of carrying out the intention of the founder, and certainly not for the purpose of contradicting him. It would be impossible to suggest that in 1657, or in the present twentieth century, there would not be sufficient scholars to eat up any possible surplus, provided that they got free teaching in three grammar schools and would accept Usher's Catechism.

From the point of view of Presbyterian children or their parents, or from the point of view of people who would be willing to accept either the Catechism of the Assembly of Divines or Usher's Catechism, they had been distinctly badly treated by the Governors from the time of the death of Erasmus Smith until the present time, because the Governors had departed entirely from the directions of the founder, whether those directions were to be discovered in the deed, in the Charter, or in any of the other instruments. In fact, the class to which he had referred had been excluded from the use of these schools from a time shortly after the death of Erasmus Smith. In 1712 there was brought in a series of rules which must necessarily exclude everyone of Presbyterian thought or Puritan thought—in fact, anybody who was not in every sense of the word a member of the Church of Ireland.

This series of rules, said Mr. Campbell, was not alone inconsistent with the trusts, no matter where they got those trusts, but was actually destructive of the objects and intentions of the founder.

ROMAN CATHOLICS.

Mr. Lavery, opening the case for the Roman Catholic "special defendants," said that they came into the action by virtue of an order made subsequent to the institution of the action, but although they were not original defendants, he thought he was not misstating the position when he said that the issue that the Court was to determine was an issue arising directly on trusts appertaining to the class whom he represented.

They were appointed to represent, for the purposes of the action, a class of Roman Catholics residing within two miles of any of the schools founded by Erasmus Smith, and the class of Roman Catholics who are now, or but for the operation of the Land Act would be, tenants of the estates formerly owned by Erasmus Smith. It was sometimes forgotten that, in addition to the trust lands, Smith had enormous estates in Ireland. They knew from a document of 1672 that Smith's profitable lands amounted to 20,780 acres, and, with unprofitable lands, he had in the nineteenth century 46,000 acres. He had lands in the Counties of Limerick, Tipperary, Galway, Sligo, Westmeath, Meath, Louth, Kildare, Roscommon, King's County and Queen's County, so that the class of "special defendants" which counsel represented was very large. They were persons who, if they had any special rights, would be quite sufficient to absorb the endowments or a substantial part of them and usefully employ them.

To show how the action started Mr. Lavery quoted a resolution of the Governors concerning the educational policy of the grammar schools under the control of the Governors, with special reference to the Tipperary school, and stated that a bill had been introduced in the Oireachtas, but was withdrawn, pending a declaration by the Courts regarding the objects of the charity.

Mr. Jellett objected, and said that they were not concerned with administration. What the Governors had done, or were doing, had no reference to the matter before the Court.

The Chief Justice asked if, on the twenty-fifth day of the hearing, the Court was to be asked to go into the question of administration.

Mr. Lavery said that was not his object, but he thought it necessary to open these documents, so that the Court could more easily understand how the issues to be determined arose. The Court was being asked to give a series of declarations upon which the plaintiffs did not propose to seek any relief in the Courts, but, furnished with the Court's decisions on these declarations, they proposed to take certain action in the Oireachtas.

Mr. Jellett said that the one question was whether the charity was a Protestant educational endowment or not. They were asked to bring it to establish their rights.

Mr. Lavery said that the High Court had decided the paramount intention, and it seemed to him that the plaintiffs' arguments now were "hands off religion," and that there could be nothing paramount or subsidiary where religion was concerned. If they got a declaration that the charity was a Protestant charity for the propagation of the Protestant faith, then they could go back to the Oireachtas and get powers to alter the charter accordingly.

The further hearing was adjourned until this morning.

CORK CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

STATE OF WORLD ECONOMICS.

TOTTERING FABRIC OF TRADE.

Mr. A. J. Magennis, M.Sc., F.S.A.A., President of the Cork Incorporated Chamber of Commerce and Shipping, addressing the annual meeting of that body yesterday, said that the year just closed had been remarkable in many ways, but the collapse of international trade would stand out as the most calamitous event in the history of this generation. Side by side with bountiful harvests and abundant food supplies everywhere, they found the most dire poverty and distress throughout the whole world. Referring to the various solutions suggested to solve economic problems that faced all countries, he said that the cancellation of all war debts was inevitable, for the good and sufficient reason that the debtor nations could not or would not pay in cash or kind. Cancellation, however, was, at best, only a palliative, and not a cure, for the tottering fabric of international trade. Truly, the world was out of joint, and the irony of the situation was that the League of Nations, set up after the war to put the world right, seemed helpless to curb the warlike and predatory enterprises of some of its own members.

If nations or individuals continued to ignore, and set themselves out to circumvent, God, as they were doing in Russia and Mexico, then the outlook for the future of mankind was dark, declared the speaker.

IRELAND'S POSITION.

They had reason to be thankful that they in Ireland had escaped many of the ills from which other countries were suffering, but their economic position was not as satisfactory as they would wish it to be. Apart from the British embargo, and, indeed, long before its imposition, the price of their produce had been steadily declining in the British market in sympathy with those of overseas commodities, and, though the embargo had seriously affected their principal industry for the time being, yet the present condition of agriculture was not altogether due to that one cause. The imposition of a punitive embargo such as this was not only the negation of statesmanship, but a cynical attempt by a stronger nation to coerce a weaker one to do a thing which the latter conceived to be its patriotic duty to resist. It was their earnest hope that an accommodation between the parties to this deplorable dispute would soon be arrived at and friendly relations between the two countries re-established. This country must be allowed to develop its economic policy without outside interference, and, although there might be honest differences of opinion as to the wisdom of a particular policy, and that policy was adopted and approved by the people in a constitutional way, it was the duty of all citizens to co-operate with the Government of the day in giving it a fair trial.

It was true they had few, if any, alternative markets to counter-balance the effects of the British embargo, but under the new national economy adopted by the present Government, it ought to be possible, with enterprise and full mobilisation of their capital resources, to develop the home market and find new ones abroad.

MERCANTILE MARINE.

The Free State was the only country in Europe that could not boast of a mercantile marine owned and controlled by its own nationals. As a result, Irish interests were bound to suffer, and sooner or later the State would have to intervene to break down this shipping monopoly.

Referring to the affairs of their own city, he said that whatever the conditions of trade were—and they were no worse than elsewhere—it could not be denied that the city was making rapid progress in the direction of housing, improved streets, roads and sanitation. All these undertakings were of prime importance, and were giving much-needed employment. The one existing blot on the city was the existence of slums, but the Corporation of Cork was attacking this problem with vigour.

With respect to taxation, he said that if the 5s. rate of income tax were continued, it would have the effect of retarding expansion of existing industrial undertakings and businesses. Whatever justification, if any, there might have been for this increase, it was altogether indefensible, not only to retain the corporation profits tax, but to lower the margin from £10,000 to £5,000, and increase the rate from 5 per cent. to 7½ per cent. New enterprises should, at least, be given some abatement until they were firmly established.

He was sure they were all glad to know that the Blackpool factory, which was idle for some years, was being equipped for the manufacture of art silk and similar fabrics, and that Fords were now manufacturing passenger and commercial bodies locally.

CRITICISMS.

Mr. Sinnott complimented the President on his address, but said that there were two points on which he must offer criticism. One was the President's throwing responsibility upon Britain for the present conditions between this country and Britain. That was not right. The other was the control of mercantile shipping. The seas were free to all, and it was open to any shipping company to come into this port or any other port in the Free State to compete. It was due to the efficiency of the existing cross-Channel services that the existing control was allowed to continue.

Messrs. H. Pelly and W. J. Young asserted that the President's address was tinged with politics, but the President maintained that there was not a political line in it. He had complimented local shipping services on their efficiency, but said that, apart from the question of control being centred in England, he wanted to convey that they should have a pride in their own country and a mercantile marine of their own.

Moving a vote of thanks to Mr. Magennis, Mr. B. Sutton said that he had steered them through a difficult period. On the one hand business men were being asked to use their moneys freely in the development of the country, while, on the other hand, their Finance Minister kept a four-wheel brake on as hard as he could. Income tax at five shillings was bad enough, but the people did not appreciate the effect of the Corporation Profits Tax on business.

Mr. Rogan seconded, and the motion was carried unanimously.

The annual report was adopted.

FOOD AND PRODUCE MARKETS.

Manchester—Cattle prices steadily maintained. Leeds—Fair trade. Cambridge—Cattle prices rather lower. Dublin—Butter plentiful and unchanged, Eggs dearer, Poultry in demand, steady trade for Fish, market glutted with Cauliflowers, Grain slow, moderate supplies of Hay and Straw. Rubber steady. Tin idle. Copper quiet. Wheat firmer.

CATTLE.

MANCHESTER.—On offer: Beasts, 1,280 (increase 41); sheep and lambs, 5,125 (decrease 520); pigs, 33 (decrease 8). There was again an absence of Irish lambs, but entries from that country included 501 fat cattle (increase 124) and 19 dairy cows (increase 2). Fat cattle in quiet request. Sellers occasionally showed some disposition to meet buyers, but values generally showed little quotable alteration. Steady trade experienced for lambs at firm figures. Best English and Welsh fat cattle quoted 8d. to 8¼d., bullocks 7d. to 7¾d., good fat young cows up to 6¾d., sheep 8d. to 9d., best lambs 11d. to 11½d., others 10d. to 10½d. per lb.; cows suitable for dairy purposes £17 to £24 per head.

CAMBRIDGE.—Beasts, 217. Beef (per live cwt.)—Light, firsts to 46/3, seconds to 43/6, thirds to 40/-; ditto heavy, firsts to 44/3, seconds to 41/-, thirds to 38/-. Sheep, 807. Mutton (per lb.)—Shearlings to 8¾d., hoggets 8¼d. to 10d. Pigs, 1,560. Pork (per stone of 14lb.)—Bacons to 7/6, cutters to 8/6, porkers to 9/-. Calves, 107. Fat cattle—Excellent supply and rates rather lower. Store beasts—A fair number to hand. Fat sheep—A very large supply, and values maintained. Fat pigs—Not so many offered as recently, and rates unchanged. Store pigs—A fair trade.

DERBY.—Good supply, and careful trade after foot-and-mouth stoppage; handy heifers 8½d., heavy 8d., young cows 7d., thirds 6d. Sheep in short supply; light-weights 9d., heavy 8d., ewes 6d., hoggets 10½d. Calves a fair show, fully 11d. per per lb. Pigs in good supply; porkets 12/-, handy baconers 11/6, heavy 10/6, sows 7/6 per score lbs.

LEEDS.—On offer: 603 beasts, 5d. to 8½d.; fair trade. Sheep, 1,767, at 8d. to 10d., ewes 5d. to 6d.; fair trade.

GRAIN.

DUBLIN.—Business here shows some slackening off from recent encouraging reports. Buyers are more cautious, and although values show no change late rates are difficult to repeat. White oats 11/- to 12/-, extra 12/6 barrel, and blacks 10/- to 10/9.

LIVERPOOL.—American markets finished decidedly better than expected, and forward deliveries of wheat here showed a fair advance at the commencement of oprations, but afterwards gave way owing to free offerings of Argentine wheat, better Montreal rates of exchange, and easier late afternoon cables, though some demand from "shorts" to cover just at the finish caused a moderate improvement to be registered from Monday night. C.i.f. parcels of wheat 1½d. dearer to 1½d. lower, only business reported being Rosario-Santa Fe (63½lb.) just sailed at 20/9 per quarter. C.i.f parcels Maize River Plate arrived sold at 16/3, and Danubian February 17/9 per quarter. WHEAT on the spot quiet and unchanged. MAIZE—Spot parcels easier at 4/2¼ to 4/3 per cental for River Plate. FLOUR quiet at late rates. Graded wheat futures opened ½d. to ¾d. per cental dearer, then declined with moderate fluctuations, until advance fully lost, but later improved market, closing steady at ½d. to ¼d. over Monday night. Values—March (old) 4/3¼, March 4/7¾, May 4/7⅞, July 4/9 per cental. Sales, 100 loads.

FLOATING GRAIN CARGOES (BALTIC)—WHEAT cargo market steadier, following the improvement in North American cables, but buyers continue reserved. Manitoba grades unchanged to 3d. per quarter dearer, and Australian qualities 3d. up, with Plate kinds 1½d. firmer. No. 1 Northern Manitoba (Vancouver), February sellers 24/3; do. Atlantic, February 14th loading 24/9; Australian February 24/- Parcels slow of sale, but held for higher prices. Manitoba sorts marked an advance of 3d. to 4½d. per quarter, with Plates unchanged to 1½d. up, but Australians remained unchanged. No. 1 Northern Manitoba (Vancouver) February sellers 24/-, No. 2 do. 23/6, No. 3 do. 23/1½; Australian February 24/- per quarter of 480lb. c.i.f. terms. MAIZE cargoes quiet, but late rates were generally repeated. Plate February sellers 18/9, March 18/10½, April 18/3, May 18/-. Parcels quiet and tendency easier. Plate February-March sold 18/1½, March-April sellers 17/10½, April-May 17/4½ per quarter of 480lb. c.i.f. BARLEY—Parcels inactive and nominally unchanged. No. 3 Canadian Western (Vancouver) February sellers 17/3; Plate, 64-65 kilos, January-February also March 15/3; Persian February 16/- per quarter of 400lb. c.i.f.; Californian February-March sellers 22/- per quarter of 448lb. c.i.f. OATS—Parcels dull of sale. Plate afloat sellers 11/9, February-March 11/6; No. 2 Canadian Western (Vancouver), February 15/7½ per quarter of 320lb. c.i.f.

PROVISIONS.

LIVERPOOL.—BACON—The demand for Continental is disappointing, and with sellers more anxious to make progress purchases in some cases can be made at a slight discount from the official quotations. Irish, American and Canadian quiet, without quotable change. HAMS quiet, and prices favour buyers. Shoulders scarce and nominal. LARD on the spot steady for both prime steam and American refined at late rates, buyers operating moderately in the latter. CHEESE steady, with a moderate business reported in New Zealand at late rates. BUTTER meets a fair inquiry for Colonial at unchanged prices, while Continental rules steadier, though little business reported. EGGS steady, and Irish Free State hen dearer at 13/3 to 13/9 for extra selected, 13/- to 13/6 selected; though Northern unchanged, specials 17lb. still 15/3 to 15/9, standards 15½lb. 14/9 to 15/3, selected 14lb. 13/9 to 14/3, and duck 14/- to 14/6 per 120.

MANCHESTER. — BUTTER — Shipments of Danish, Swedish (not including Gothenburg) to northern ports for the week ended February 4th totalled 29,285 casks (increase 550 casks). Market opened rather on quiet side; Continental makes occasionally easier, but Colonial fairly steady. Choicest qualities quoted—Danish 113/- to 114/-, special dairies extra; Finnish 103/- to 104/-, Swedish 103/- to 104/-, New Zealand 82/- to 84/-, Australian 81/- to 83/-. BACON—Shipments of Danish and Swedish, 22,255 bales (increase 1,534 bales). Weather conditions affecting demand to certain extent, but steady feeling for both Irish and Continental cures. Irish nominal; Danish 57/- to 62/-, Swedish 51/- to 56/-, Dutch 44/- to 50/-. LARD continues quiet and favouring buyers. English refined 46/6 boxes ex works, American 39/6 to 41/- according to brand. CHEESE—With easier prices, demand for Cheshire shows some improvement; choicest grass makes around 9½d., new 8d. to 8½d., medium and lower grades around 7½d. per lb.; Colonial steady; New Zealand white 49/- to 50/-, coloured 59/- to 60/-; Canadian white and coloured 66/- to 68/- per cwt. EGGS—Shipments of Danish and Swedish, 1,576 cases (decrease 33 cases). Spot supplies very short, and prices firm. Irish Free State extra selected 13/9, selected 13/6, mediums 12/6; English 16/6, Northern Ireland nominal, Danish 15½lb. 13/6, Swedish 15½lb. 13/-, Norwegians 11/6 to 13/-, Egyptians 6/-, Chinese ducks 10/-.

MANCHESTER GAME AND POULTRY.—Chickens in good inquiry, and best quality sell well; turkeys quiet at about late rates; fairly steady tone in other departments. Irish and English chickens 1/2, fowls 8d. to 9d., ducks 10d. to 1/-, Irish turkeys 1/-, Continental 8d. to 10d.; geese 7d. to 9d. per lb.; pheasants 9/- per brace, best trapped rabbits 2/6 to 3/- per couple, brown hares 2/3 to 2/9 each.

MANCHESTER MEAT.—Home-killed beef: best small-weight sides around 8d., others around 7½d.; choice small lambs 10d., stronger sorts 9d. to 9½d., ewes 5½d. to 6d.; small pigs 8½d., others 7d. to 7½d.; chilled beef: hindquarters 5d. to 5½d., forequarters 3½d. to 3¾d.; frozen beef: ox hindquarters 3½d. to 3¾d., crops 3½d. to 3½d.; mutton: wethers 3½d. to 4d., ewes 3½d. to 3½d., lambs 4½d. to 7d.; pigs, Australian and New Zealand 6d. to 6½d.

DUBLIN BUTTER AND EGG.—Creamery supplies again large, with a fair amount of fresh made on offer. Trade continues quietly steady at late rates. Factory butter also plentiful, which some factors find a good sale and others the opposite. Farmers' parcels very scarce, with few choice lots coming this way. Creams 1/1½ to 1/1½ lb., farmers' 8½d. to 9d., and factory 10d. to 10½d. Egg supplies on the short side, especially the better grades, this being due to the continued strong cross-Channel demand at firm to dearer rates. Local trade shows little change since last report, there being a fair enquiry, with buyers not willing to pass present values. Duck eggs scarce, and stocks are readily cleared. Extra selected 16lb. and 17lb. grades 11/- to 11/9 and 12/- case lots, ordinary and selected 10/3 to 10/9, mediums 9/3 to 9/9, smalls 8/-, and ducks 8/- to 11/6, according to class. In some cases higher prices than the above are being looked for.

DUBLIN FRUIT AND VEGETABLE. — Cauliflowers in very heavy supply, and failed to clear at much lower prices. Cabbage, swedes and mangolds plentiful, and found ready buyers at firm rates. Other classes just sufficient for requirements. Sales—York cabbage, 16/- to 36/- large load, small 8/- to 12/-; Savoy, large 8/- to 17/-, small 5/- to 9/-; swedes, 10d. to 1/3 cwt.; mangolds, 10d. to 1/-; cauliflowers, 6d. to 1/-, extra 1/3 to 2/- doz., seconds 4d. to 6d.; lettuce, 1/-; leeks, 2/- to 2/6; carrots, 1/6 to 2/-, bags 4/- to 6/-; parsnips, 10d. to 1/-, bags 2/6 to 3/6; turnips, 6d. to 9d. bunch; jellies, 4d. to 5d.; mint and sage, 2d. to 3d.; thyme, 1d. to 2d.; celery, 1/- to 4/-; chokes, 2/-; chip; sprouts, 3/- to 3/6 tray, chip 2/-; and parsley 6d. to 1/- tray. Foreign stuffs more wanted at last day's prices, except grape fruit, which closed firmer. Apples—American, 30/- to 40/- barrel; Russets, 35/- to 40/-; Jonathan's and Spitz, 14/- to 16/- box; Newtowns, 14/- to 17/-; oranges—Valencias, 10/- to 15/- case; Jaffs, 10/- to 16/-; lemons, 22/- to 28/- case, box 14/- to 17/-; grapes—Belgium, 2/- lb.; Almeria, 20/- to 28/- barrel; Californian, 15/- box; Cape plums, 5/- tray; peaches, 6/-; Californian pears, 20/- to 24/- box; pineapples, 4/- to 6/- each; Canary tomatoes, 3/- to 5/- box; Tunis dates, 8/6 doz.; grape fruit, 18/- to 28/- case; bananas, 18/- to 22/- crate, box 8/- to 12/-; onions—Spanish, 12/- to 15/- case, and Dutch 11/- bag.

PALM KERNELS quietly steady, with sellers February-March and March-April shipments £9 10/-, and buyers 2/6 per ton less. Later 1/3 easier. TALLOW remains very slow for South American, with the nominal quotation for shipment parcels 21/- c.i.f. terms. Australian good colour mixed quoted 20/6 to 21/- per cwt. c.i.f. forward shipments.

LIVERPOOL SUGAR.—Tate and Lyle's quotations:—Crystals, ones, 21/-; granulated, standard, 18/7½; yellows, thirds, 18/-.

MISCELLANEOUS.

DUBLIN HAY AND STRAW.—A moderate supply of hay came on market, which gave fewer choice loads to draw upon. With most arrivals in damp condition buyers showed a more cautious attitude; still all choice loads repeated late rates, after which sales became dragging, in many cases less money being accepted in order to clear damp and inferior sorts. Market cleared fairly early, at the following:—Choice 1st crop 4/- to 4/3 per cwt., 2nd and 3rd 3/6 to 3/9, old meadow 2/6 to 3/-, anything beating latter figure exceptional; damp and inferior arrivals 1/9 to 2/3. Little change to report in trade for straw; supplies show no increase, and buyers are obliged to pay late rates freely for anything of quality. Other classes cleared fairly early at previous values, notwithstanding the damp condition. Oaten and wheaten loose 2/- to 2/6, occasionally 2/9 per cwt., and baled 2/- to 2/3.

LONDON METALS MARKET.

TIN IDLE—COPPER QUIET.

TIN—Eastern cables were unaltered, and here a steadier tone was in evidence, though buyers were somewhat reserved. On balance official quotations, however, marked a decline of 2/6 per ton for cash and 7/6 forward. Standard cash quoted £149 12/6 to £149 15/-, three months £150 to £150 2/6; settlement price £149 15/-. Sales amounted to 250 tons; cash at £149 10/-, £149 15/- and £149 12/6, three months £150, £149 15/-, £150 5/- and £149 2/6; English ingots quoted £150 10/-. Business was reported in the East at £153 10/- c.i.f. COPPER market fully steady with dealings on a fairly liberal scale. Official quotations were generally advanced by 1/3 per ton on balance. Standard cash quoted £28 8/9 to £28 10/-, three months £28 13/9 to £28 15/-; settlement price £28 10/-. 700 tons changed hands; cash at £28 10/-, £28 11/3 and £28 10/-; three months £28 15/-, £28 16/3, £28 12/6 and £28 13/9; electros quoted £32 12/6 to £32 17/6; wire bars £32 17/6, best selected £30 10/- to £31 15/-, strong sheets £61. DISTRICT HOSPITALS.

A COUNTY DUBLIN SUGGESTION.

At a meeting of the Dublin County Board of Health, held at 11 Parnell square, Dublin, yesterday, Mr. Dardis, chairman, presiding, Dr. J. A. Harbison, County Medical Officer of Health, submitted a report regarding the establishment of district hospitals in the county, in which he stated that as the matter was one of importance, before any progress could be made the Board would have to prepare a scheme for hospitals, and submit it to the Local Government Department for approval. He would, therefore, suggest that a committee, on which the dispensary medical officers could be elected, should be set up to discuss the matter with the Board.

Mr. Fogarty said that they wanted to establish district hospitals in County Dublin, on the same lines as in other counties. They wanted hospitals where they would be able to deal with their own sick and poor in the county.

It was decided to adopt Dr. Harbison's suggestion, and call a meeting of medical officers concerned.

Mr. Fogarty expressed the hope that the committee meeting would not be put on the long finger. It was six months since the matter was first raised.

It was decided to have a meeting of the whole Board to deal with the matter on the 17th inst.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES

TONE AND COMMENT

DUBLIN FIRM.

"KAFFIRS" EASIER.

Apparently the dealings in "Kaffirs" on Dublin Stock Market yesterday absorbed the bulk of attention, if we may judge by the list of markings under "Other business done." Prices did not hold up well. Many operators seem to be taking profits. Several of the favourites declined some shillings, although there does not seem to be much wrong with a market in which such things as Glynns Lydenburgs are dealt in at 22s. 4½d., or Simmer and Jacks at 8s. 3d.

Free State Funds continue to appreciate, Second and Third Loans both putting on another 5s. The rise in the Second Loan is due to the very profitable operation of converting sterling into dollars and dollar dividends into sterling. Land Bonds were 1/16 to the good at 106¼. War Loan was firmer, and Land Stock of 1903 rose to 77½.

Rails are drifting to fresh low levels. Great Southern Guaranteed lost 3 points at 15, and Great Northern Debs. marked 1½ lower at 44. Dublin Tram Prefs. lost a shilling at 184s. 6d.

The Banking section was steady, Bank Stock rising a point, 278, and Munster and Leinster repeating 97s. 9d.

Guinness units again closed easier and 3d. lower at 77s. 6d. Cables "A" lost ½ at 27. Alliance Gas rose ⅛ to 12, and Goulding Ord. put on 1s. at 77s. 6d. Irish-American Oil Pref. fell 6d.

The Industrial section had quite a healthy appearance. The Tobacco issues were strong, and Chemicals came into favour once more. Courtaulds also made a better showing, and there were a few other movements of a few pence in either direction.

LONDON QUIET.

KAFFIRS FLUCTUATE.

Decidedly quieter conditions prevailed in the London Stock Markets as a whole yesterday, but, although compared with recent sessions the House appeared slow, quite an appreciable volume of business was put through. The strong buying taking place in the "Kaffir" market of late has died down, and in the morning easier conditions developed on the receipt of selling orders from Johannesburg. Subsequently, however, a steadier tendency developed, and prices, after having fluctuated considerably during the course of the day, showed fewer movements, while those recorded made an irregular showing. Other sections of the Mining Market maintained a steady to firm tone. Dealings commenced in the new Austin Motor 6 per cent. Mortgage Debs. at around 3¼ prem., while the new 5s. shares of the Gold Coast Selection Trust, Ltd., made their appearance in the West African market, and business was transacted at around 10s.

British Funds again failed to attract any appreciable volume of interest, and, in the absence of support, quotations displayed an easier trend. The tendency improved during the latter part of the session, but the initial losses were not always made good. Irish Free State Land Bonds again showed a firmer front, closing ½ up at 106. There was not a great deal going on among Foreign Government Stocks, but somewhat steadier conditions developed. German Bonds made good a part of the previous day's losses, the Sevens finishing a point up at 92, with the 5½ per cent. 2 points better at 80. Profit-taking, following upon the previous day's sharp recovery, resulted in lower values among British Rails, and most of the leaders returned slightly lower values. Metropolitan Cons., however, again attracted support, and further advanced to 62½, as compared with 60½ overnight. Colonial and Foreign Rails disclosed an easier appearance. Entre Rios were marked back further as a result of the announcement regarding the moratorium, the 6 per cent. Cum. Pref. losing 3½ points to 15½, while the Ord. were a point easier at 10. Central Argentine Def., Central Uruguay Ord., and San Paulo Ord. each dropped a point; but "Can-Pacs" rallied to 15⅞, "Bags" to 25, and Central Argentine Ord. to 19.

Trading in the Industrial section remained on a quiet scale, and prices moved in irregular fashion. Firm spots were provided by Chemicals, Dunlops, Guinness, Woolworth, and Courtaulds; while Carreras scored a smart improvement. United Dairies, however, went off rather sharply, and Spillers, Turner and Newalls, and Unilevers were easier inclined. The trans-Atlantics were firm, following the latest advices from Wall Street. Elsewhere, Tea shares again attracted a considerable volume of business at steadily improving values, while Oils rallied, Burmah and Royal Dutch being good markets.

THE INDUSTRIAL MARKET.

COURTAULDS SUPPORTED

Although there was not a great deal of fresh business passing in the Industrial Market yesterday the general tone was described as firmer.

More encouraging advices from Wall Street assisted the trans-Atlantic issues, and fair gains were recorded. Drugs closed 1¼ better at 51, and Steels 1 up at 39¼, with Nickels finally 11 and Radios 6¼. "Emmies" also enjoyed a moderate rally, and closed around 10s.

Fresh buyers came forward for Cables and Wireless stocks, noticeably the Preference, which touched 83¾, and eventually finished ⅜ up on the day at 83½. Canadian Marconi hardened to 6s. 4½d.

A sharp reaction occurred in Thomas Tilling, which finished 1s. 9d. down at 52s. 3d. The annual report of this company is expected shortly. Other Motor issues were fairly well maintained, though Austin Ordinary eased to 36s. 3d. and Dennis to 14s. 10½d. Leylands further improved to 26s.

Additional supporting orders were received from the provinces for Courtaulds, on more hopeful views regarding the final dividend. The price finished 10½d. better at 29s. 3d., with buyers still in evidence in the late dealings. British Celanese rallied a trifle to 7s., but Canadian Celanese receded 1/16 to 1 11/16.

Textiles seemed somewhat steadier. Bradford Dyers hardened to 15s. 7½d. and Whitworth and Mitchell to 51s. 3d., but William Hollins were a dull spot at 18s. 10½d.

The feature in the Stores group was pronounced activity in Woolworth Ordinaries, on a resumption of good investment buying, and the shares changed hands above 78s. on several occasions before finishing at 77s. 3d., with a net gain of 1s. 6d.

United Dairies continued on offer on the proposals of the Milk Reorganisation Commission and were sold down to 50s. 6d., although they showed a firmer tendency towards the close, when they were called 51s. 3d., a net decline of 1s. 4½d. Tate and Lyles developed an uncertain trend, and were finally a few pence easier at 61s. 9d.

The Tobacco leaders came in for renewed attention, particularly Carreras "A," which finished ⅛ to the good at 6⅛, with the "B" shares closing buyers at 17s. "Bats" changed hands at 99s. 9d. and "Imps" were finally the turn harder at 4 25/32. "Cantabs" recovered 1s. 9d. to 38s., following a rally in the Canadian dollar rate.

Although quiet support was forthcoming in places Breweries displayed irregularity. Guinness, Watney Deferred, City of London and South African Ord. all gained a few pence. On the other hand, Allsopps, Bass Ratcliff and Mitchells and Butlers closed slightly easier.

James Finlays and Harrisons and Crosfield Deferred continued active and strong, the former gaining 1s. 6d. further to 59s. and the latter 1s. to 48s. Although closing a shade under the best, Chemicals were finally 9d. higher after a considerable turnover, while the Deferred attracted further attention, leaving off 4½d. better at 22s. Numerous moderate improvements included Associated Cements, Crittalls, London Brick, Joseph Lucas and Turner and Newalls. Borax Deferred weakened 9d. to 10s. 6d., and British Oxygen were levelled to 27s.

RUBBER SHARES FIRMER.

Although it cannot be said that there was any material expansion in the volume of business passing in the Rubber Share Market, there was evidence of a broadening of interest, especially in the shares of companies whose activities cover tea as well as rubber, and the few price movements returned at the end made a favourable showing. The margins, however, were of modest proportions. Quiet conditions characterised the raw material department, and, in the absence of any new feature, quotations remained much as before. Spot and March fetched 2¼d. per lb., with April to June closing at 2 5/16d. per lb., and July to September at 2½d. per lb.

OIL SHARES RALLY.

Indications were not lacking towards the close on Monday of the development of a slightly harder tendency in the Oil Share market. At the opening yesterday buyers made their presence felt. The demand was not large, but it was evident that the fall which has taken place in the better-class shares has brought prices to a level at which they are attracting attention. Prices all round were quick to respond to the change in sentiment, and at the close quite a confident tone prevailed, and price movements, with only a few unimportant exceptions, were in favour of holders.

THE MONEY MARKET

COMFORTABLE CONDITIONS.

Conditions were quite comfortable in Lombard street yesterday, and while occasionally ⅝ p.c. was paid for short loans during the early hours most borrowers were able to satisfy their requirements at ½ p.c. Old day-to-day money was also renewed at that figure.

The tendency of bill rate was firm. The hot Treasuries were offered at 11/16 p.c., while fine three months' Bank bills were quoted at ⅝ to 11/16 p.c.

Both India and China were sellers of silver, and the price declined 1/16d. to 16⅝d. per oz. spot and 16 11/16d. for forward delivery. Gold rose 5d. to 120s. 2d. per oz. fine. About £230,000 in the market was taken for the Continent.

In the Foreign Exchange market yesterday closing quotations were well against the London balance, but above the lowest recorded for the day. Dollars, after touching 3.42¼, closed at 3.42 11/16, as compared with 3.43⅝ on Monday, while Canadian dollars were also firmer on the day, being 4.06⅞, as compared with 4.09¼. Among the European currencies, francs at 87⅞, Swiss francs at 17.75½ and belgas at 24.63¼ were all firmer at the close. The Dutch rate fell by 2¼c. to 8.53 and the German exchange by 1/16mk. to 14 11/32. In the Scandinavian section the Swedish rate again rose fractionally to 18 11/32.

LONDON MINING MARKET SLOWER.

KAFFIRS CLOSE LOWER.

The tendency in the Kaffir market was decidedly less satisfactory than on any previous day during the recent boom, and the volume of business was very much smaller. In all 1,867 bargains were recorded, of which 133 were in South Africans. The previous day's figures were 2,925 and 2,110 respectively.

The public appetite for Kaffirs at last showed signs of being appeased. The opening tendency at the Cape was definitely weak, the early prices there being in some cases several shillings lower. This forced down quotations in London, but the decline did not reach the same proportions as in Johannesburg. Profit-taking here continued, but was offset to some extent by fresh demand.

The quieter conditions in the "House" were fully reflected in the "street." Fewer dealers gathered and business was of a desultory character. The tendency during the early part of this period was dull, but prices rallied slightly towards the end. On balance, however, most issues closed lower.

Rhodesian dealers had very little to report, a quiet, but firm, tendency prevailing in this department. The Copper shares regained the small declines which occurred on the previous day.

One or two Tin shares improved, but there was little business passing. The price of the metal closed below the best at £149 7s. 6d. per ton.

West Australians were less active, but enough support was forthcoming to enable prices to hold the greater part of Monday's gains. Closing prices:—

THE LATE REV. JAMES M. KEARNEY.

The remains of the Rev. James M. Kearney, of Corpus Christi Church, Maiden lane, London, were conveyed by the L.M.S. mail steamer from Holyhead to Dun Laoghaire yesterday morning, en route for Cork, where interment will take place to-day. They were accompanied by the Right Rev. Dr. Cotter, Bishop of Portsmouth, and the Rev. Father Kearney's three nephews—the Rev. M. J. Cashman, Bedminster, Bristol; the Rev. J. M. Cashman, South Parish, Cork; and the Rev. W. J. Cashman, Ballydehob.

There were a number of the dead clergyman's friends at the Carlisle Pier to receive the remains, which were conveyed by motor hearse across the city to Kingsbridge Station for the journey to Cork.

The Duke of York has become a member of the Order of the Road, the safe-driving organisation. The Prince of Wales became a member of the Order in 1931.

IRISHMAN'S DIARY.

St. Werburgh's Church : A Disappearing Trick : 'Bus Speeds. Question and Answer.

Ice and a Penny.

Just at this time of the year it might be interesting to note a simple, but mystifying, little trick which may be performed with some ice. A metal cylinder is packed full of ice, and a penny is placed on the top. A clamp is now fitted over the penny, and pressure exerted for about ten seconds. The pressure is then released, and when the clamp has been lifted it will be discovered that the penny has completely disappeared. If the ice is then removed from the cylinder, however, it will reveal the truant coin sitting at the bottom of the cylinder, having apparently sunk through solid ice. This might seem to involve some intricate explanation, but really it is very simple. It is a scientific fact that when pressure is exerted upon ice its freezing point is immediately lowered. So it is easy to see how the penny travelled from top to bottom. When pressure was exerted on the penny the ice became liquid, and the penny sank to the bottom; then, when the pressure was released, the water reverted to ice again. If it were not for the small amount of trouble involved in its preparation, I am sure that this little experiment would make quite a mystifying conjuring trick.

St. Werburgh's Church.

The photograph of the interior of St. Werburgh's Church which apeared in a recent issue, reminded me (writes a correspondent) that this church probably possesses more historical interest than any other in Dublin. It is mentioned in a Bull of Pope Alexander III., in 1179, as having just been built. According to Stanihurst, the church was "so-called of a Cheshire virgin," St. Werburga, daughter of Wulfhere, the Saxon king of Mercia, who died in 683. The cathedral of Chester was formerly the Abbey of St. Werburgh, and there is a church of the same name in Bristol. It was the Bristol settlers under Henry II. who originally built the Dublin church, which stood for over five hundred years, until it became unsafe and there is a church of the same name about the beginning of the eighteenth century. St. Werburgh's was rebuilt between 1710 and 1719. A tall octagon tower with Ionic pilasters was added about twenty years later, together with a clock and a peal of bells. In 1754 an accidental fire, caused by a careless attendant emptying candle-snuffers on the straw matting which covered the floor, partially destroyed the church. It was restored in 1759, and a spire, said to be the finest in Ireland, was erected in 1768. Unfortunately, in 1810, this spire began to lean out of the perpendicular, and had to be removed, while the tower met with the same fate some twenty years later.

Links with '98.

It was to one of the vaults of St. Werburgh's that the body of Lord Edward Fitzgerald was removed on his death in Newgate in 1798. Forty-three years later, in a corner of the graveyard, was interred the coffin of Major H. C. Sirr, the officer who effected Lord Edward's arrest. Sir James Ware, the antiquary (1594-1666), is also buried in St. Werburgh's. Perhaps, the most remarkable object in the church itself is the beautiful carved pulpit, said to be by Grinling Gibbons (1648-1720). This was formerly in the Chapel Royal, but was transferred to St. Werburgh's in 1877. The church plate dates back to the seventeenth century, one of the pieces being the gift of Thomas Doggett, father of the comedian, who is now chiefly remembered by the "Doggett Coat and Badge," still competed for annually by Thames watermen.

'Bus Speeds.

I have often thought that some of the large 'buses on the main lines of traffic in and out of Dublin seemed to develop a remarkable turn of speed, especially at night. Possibly the darkness makes them appear to travel faster, but a friend of mine, who owns a fast car, told me the other day that, even when he let his engine "all out," he could hardly overtake a 'bus. In view of the number of these large vehicles on the roads, the fact that there are not more serious acidents is a tribute to the skill of the 'bus drivers. Indeed, the lot of these men is not altogether to be envied; they are often "between the devil and the deep sea." They must not drive too fast, or, at least, they must be very careful where they do so. One the other hand, if they drive slowly, with the object of picking up fares, they are liable to be prosecuted for obstruction For similar reasons, they must be careful where they come to a stand-still. It is to be hoped that whatever authority eventually deals with the transport problem will prohibit 'buses below a certain carrying capacity, since many of the smaller contraptions plying round Dublin leave much to be desired, both in security and cleanliness.

"Rightly."

I have always considered "rightly" a very expressive word. It can be used to great advantage on so many occasions, and as a rule it neither overstates nor understates the case. If a person is asked how he is doing, he need not say "well" or "not well," but just "rightly," which means that he might be doing better, but that in the circumstances he is not doing so badly at all. As a term of praise it is also very broad; the exact shade of meaning in "he did it rightly" cannot be expressed with any other single adverb that I know of. An English friend of mine who had noticed how well the word "rightly" is used in Ireland told me the other day about a conversation he had overheard in a train between two women who were discussing the recent Free State elections. One of them was evidently of the opinion that the best way to win an election is to get voters, even if you have to send abroad for them. "Sure, he wouldn't have got in at all," she said, "if he hadn't brought them in motor cars from the North and everywhere to vote for him." "How do you know?" her companion asked. "I know rightly," said the other woman.

Question and Answer.

The French, I believe, have a saying which means that "there cannot be a perfect answer without the perfect question," but, while the average Frenchman might recognise both the perfect question and the perfect answer in France, I doubt if many Frenchmen, or, indeed, many people except Irish men or women, could see much to be admired in some of the questions and answers that amuse us. My reference to the word "rightly" reminds me of the repartee between Patsy McCann and his daughter Mary in James Stephen's "The Demigods," which is, I think, a good example of a type of Irish humour that is not understood by other people. The donkey, you may remember, has been set loose for the night and—I quote from memory—Patsy is sitting at the fire smoking his pipe after his supper, when he says to Mary: "Do you know what I'd do Mary if I had a bottle of stout sitting beside me in this field this night?" "I do rightly," said Mary. "You'd drink it." "I would just," said Patsy, "but before I'd drink it I'd put the stem of my pipe into it, and then I'd be getting both a good smoke and a good drink."

CENTRAL MIDWIVES' BOARD.

DEPUTATION FROM IRISH NURSES' UNION.

The statutory meeting of the Central Midwives' Board of the Free State was held at the offices of the Board, 35 St. Stephen's Green, Dublin, last Friday, the following members being present:—Senator Sir Edward Coey Bigger, M.D.; Sir William J. Smyly, M.D.; Miss G. O'Carroll, Dr. T. Hennessy, M. Stafford, Mrs. M. Price and Dr. P. T. McArdle. Apologies for non-attendance were received from Mrs. Blunden, Dr. J. Kearney and Miss E. F. Colburn.

On the motion of Mr. Stafford, seconded by Miss O'Carroll, Sir Edward Coey Bigger was unanimously re-elected as Chairman; and on the proposal of Mr. Stafford, seconded by Mrs. Price, Sir William Smyly was unanimously re-elected as Vice-Chairman.

The Chairman referred to the work done by the Board in the past year with regard to the holding of special examinations for qualified, but uncertified, midwives in the Free State. He stated that as a result of this special provision these women had been given an opportunity to become enrolled, and the response was very satisfactory.

The Secretary reported that as the provision referred to by the Chairman expired on December 31, 1932, the final examination was held on December 22.

The Board held seven special examinations during the year 1932—two in Cork for candidates from the Southern area and five in Dublin. As a result of these examinations sixty-six candidates were admitted to the Roll of Midwives in the Free State.

Two midwives were reported to the Board by the local supervising authorities for breaches of the rules, and, having considered the reports, it was agreed that their cases should be dealt with by the Penal Cases Committee.

The dates of examinations for 1934 were fixed as follows:—March 20 and 21, June 12 and 13, October 23 and 24.

On the conclusion of the general and finance meetings a deputation from the Irish Nurses' Union was received by the Board.

Having discussed certain matters with regard to the training of midwives and the position of the "handywoman," the Chairman stated that the points referred to by the members of the deputation would receive the attention of the Board.

RECOLLECTIONS OF LORD WAVERTREE.

WHY HE DID NOT GIVE TO BIRKENHEAD FUND.

References to the diary kept for many years by Lord Wavertree were made by the Rev. J. H. Barr, Rector of Bromborough, Cheshire, in an interview with a reporter yesterday.

At the funeral on Monday Mr. Barr stated that Lord Wavertree had filled about twelve volumes of the diary, which he called "The Wayfarer's Diary," and that they revealed startling glimpses of life behind the scenes and pictures of the leading figures of our day.

"Lord Wavertree was criticised because he did not give to the fund for the late Lord Birkenhead," Mr. Barr said yesterday. "The diary shows that Lord Wavertree believed in putting people on their feet once. He gave Lord Birkenhead his first brief for £600 when he was F. E. Smith, then another brief, and he saw him briefed until he was earning £16,000 a year. After this he felt he had done enough.

"He did not believe in helping lame dogs, and once would not help a relative because his horoscope revealed that it was inadvisable.

"Wavertree once bought a picture from a cottager, paying a price which he, as an art connoisseur, thought was fair. Later an art critic valued the picture at £300 more than the price paid, and Wavertree at once instructed war stock to that amount to be bought and given to the cottager.

"He was a great man. I never saw him perturbed. Even after a 60 miles an hour motor smash he stood calmly giving orders while the blood streamed from his hands and face."

THE ANGLO-IRISH BALL.

The third Anglo-Irish ball, organised by the London Irish R.F.C. every other year when Ireland play England at Twickenham, will be held at the Hotel Russell, London, on the night of the match, Saturday next. Players and officials of the Irish Rugby Union have promised to attend, and dancing will be continuous to two bands.

STAMPS OF THE WEEK.

SWAZIELAND NEW ISSUE.

The Mint Stamp Company, 74 Grafton street, Dublin, submit for chronicling and illustration the following new arrivals since last week:—

MALDIVE ISLANDS.—New issue, similar to 1909 type, 2c. grey, 3c. orange, 10c. green. (Set of three, 6d.)

PAPUA.—We now illustrate the 4d. and 6d. values of this handsome pictorial issue. (4d. to 6d., 2s. 3d.)

SWAZIELAND. — 1933 pictorial issue. Values, ½d., 1d., 2d., 3d., 4d., 6d. and 1s. (Set of seven. 3s. 3d.)

TRANSJORDAN. — Another pretty set, depicting different views, etc. Values, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 10, 15, 20 and 50 mils. (Set of nine, 3s. 6d.)

ELUSIVE STAMPS.

The Mint Stamp Company, through the courtesy of a client in Curacao, Dutch West Indies, illustrate a very rare provisional, viz., a block of four of the 2½ cent. green overprinted 1½ cent. in red, with one stamp showing the surcharge omitted; and the same block of four reversed shows this surcharge on the back sideways in red instead of on face. As far as is known this is the only stamp found in the whole printing of 48,000 stamps surcharged, and placed on sale between 27th October and 17th November, 1932.

Collectors of Dutch Curacao should be very interested in this rare provisional, which is offered for sale by the owner.

ETIQUETTES AERIENNES OFFICIELLES.

Finland has two distinctive issues to its credit:—Issued in 1926. Black on yellow. Inscribed "Ilmapostissi Par Avion." Issued 1929. As illustrated. (2d.).

IRISH PLOUGHING CHAMPIONSHIPS.

FOURTEEN COUNTIES TO SEND TEAMS.

The entries for the national ploughing championships, to be held in County Dublin, have closed, and the programme will be in circulation a week before the contest, which has been fixed for the 15th instant. Fourteen counties are sending teams, and of these the counties of Kerry, Longford, North Tipperary and Louth are competing for the first time in this annual inter-county event.

Fifty-two of the best ploughmen in the Free State have entered for the individual ploughing championship of Ireland. The five judges, who will be drawn from a nominated panel of nine or ten, will have a long and tedious task, as, according to the rules, each of the 52 competitors must be placed in order of merit. The task of judging the work will go on continuously from 10 o'clock to about 5 o'clock. Every sod turned will be examined and notes taken.

The County Dublin farmers will loan about 35 pairs of plough horses to the competitors from outside counties, and these horses will be balloted for by those ploughmen who do not provide their own horses. Many of the competitors will, however, provide their own animals, and the number coming from long distances would have been greater but for the short notice given of the Royal Dublin Society's Cup for the best pair of horses.

The field, which is opposite Newlands Golf Links, County Dublin (placed at the disposal of the Committee by Mr. B. O'Dowd), is ideally suited for such a contest, and contains twenty statute acres. Two car parks have been secured for the convenience of motorists, and refreshments will be supplied on the field. The results will be announced on the field.

Considerable cross-Channel interest is being taken in this event, and some agriculturists are expected from England and Scotland.

BRITISH INCOME TAX RECEIPTS.

£21,000,000 LAST WEEK.

Income tax in Britain came in a little better last week, the receipts being £21,149,000, compared with £25,703,000 for the corresponding week last year.

The total ordinary revenue was £33,724,259—a decrease of £3,385,996 compared with the corresponding week last year, and the total ordinary expenditure was £20,702,778—a decrease of £1,924,238.

Customs receipts were £2,287,000, compared with £2,836,000.

The total ordinary revenue from April 1 to February 4 was £545,208,998, compared with £576,184,502, and the total ordinary expenditure was £635,899,047, compared with £649,780,070.

Taking into account the debt payment of £28,956,349 to America, the deficit to February 4 was £134,537,607.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY.

ELIZABETHAN SOCIETY DANCE.

Under the auspices of the Dublin University Elizabethan Society, a very enjoyable dance was held last night in the Aberdeen Hall of the Gresham Hotel, Dublin.

There was a good attendance, and during an interval Miss Dorothy Shea and Miss Ethne Lawrence, with partners, gave effective demonstrations of the latest modern dances.

Mrs. Luce wore a graceful smoke-grey georgette gown and Mrs. Galenby was attired in a smart black lace gown, while Mrs. W. Starkie chose a flame-coloured ensemble. Scarlet satin was worn by Miss Dorothy Phillpots, and Miss Joyce Hill was wearing a pretty pink lace gown. Miss Scott's pale pink angel skin frock was worn with a beaded capelet to match. Miss B. Gregg chose a charming white angel skin frock, trimmed with marabout, and Miss Doreen Travers was dressed in primrose-coloured satin, while Miss Eady wore a beaded capelet with her white gown.

Miss Marjorie Graham (hon. secretary) wore a striking black toilette with a white velvet corsage, and Miss Moira Gamble favoured scarlet crepe, with a black coaten. Ruby-red satin was worn by Miss Marjorie McCowan, while Miss Barbara Travers was wearing an attractive green lace frock, and Miss Dockrell came in a red-patterned velvet gown. Red and white crepe was worn by Miss I. Haughton, and Mrs. Ninian Falkiner wore a distinctive gown of violet crushed velvet. Miss Gore Grizes was in primrose georgette, while flesh-coloured angel skin was worn by Miss Usher. Miss Montgomery chose an ensemble of gold lace and net, and a black scarf was worn by Miss McDonald with her scarlet crepe gown. Miss Hopkins came in apricot georgette with organdie puff sleeves, while Miss Betty Jellet was wearing a smart turquoise blue velvet, and Miss B. Fagan was gowned in emerald green georgette.

Also present were:—Mr. Armstrong, Mr. Grove White, Mr. Dobbs, Mr. Purcell, Dr. Walter Starkie, Dr. Bronté Gatenby, Mr. Henry, Dr. J. Cherry, Mons. Huet, Mr. Gwynn, Mons. Morrisset, Mr. Kerr, Mr. McCarthy Morrogh, Dr. Curtis, Dr. Ninian Falkiner and Miss B. Nicholls.

CRAFTSMANSHIP.

WHERE IT DIFFERS FROM WORKMANSHIP.

Mr. E. Richards-Orpen delivered a lecture on "Craftsmanship," at a meeting of the Architectural Association of Ireland at 8 Merrion square, Dublin, last night.

In the course of his address, Mr. Orpen said that they should differentiate between workmanship and craftsmanship. Workmanship depended only upon the technical skill of the worker, whilst craftsmanship meant much more, because it included the design and proper treatment of the material used as well as the quality of the work produced.

In his opinion there were three essential rules of craftsmanship:—(1) a good craftsman never distorted his material, but produced a design suitable to the material in which he worked; (2) the form or arrangement of the work should be such that it served its purpose well. The decoration should be subservient to the form, and nothing unnecessary should be added; (3) the material should never be treated so as to pretend to be something else.

It was because workers had neglected these points that good craftsmanship was fighting now to make itself understood and appreciated.

Mr. Orpen showed examples of Irish eighteenth century work and slides illustrating the Book of Kells. He said that they could look at them as examples of the three essential rules.

In their National Museum they had the finest collection of early metal work in existence. Though in Ireland the outlook for the artists-craftsmen had not been hopeful, there were signs that a change for the better was coming.

Mr. Manning Robertson (President) occupied the chair, and a hearty vote of thanks was passed to the lecturer.

IRISH AERO CLUB'S ACTIVITIES.

MANY MEMBERS OBTAIN PILOTS' LICENCES.

More than 32,500 miles were flown by the three De Havilland Moth aeroplanes of the Irish Aero Club during the year 1932, from their headquarters at Baldonnel Aerodrome.

The total time these machines were in the air, being piloted either by the instructors or Irish-trained pilots, was 1,031 hours 20 minutes. For 1931, only the flying time for the period April-December is available, and the total during those months was 731 hours. In the same period of last year 818 hours 55 minutes flying was made, thus showing a considerable increase.

Ninety-six members of the Club have joined as pilot members with the intention of learning to fly, while seventy-seven others are ground members. Among the distinguished honorary members are: Wing Commander Sir Charles Kingsford Smith and the members of the Southern Cross crew, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Mollison, Captain Frank Hawks and Colonel the Master of Sempill.

During last year two members of the Irish Aero Club—Messrs. St. John Kearney and E. J. Deane—obtained their "B," or commercial, pilots' licences, and fifteen others—Lord de Ramsey, Dr. St. John Gogarty, Messrs. C. Rogers, A. Scott, T. Kennedy, J. McAuley, P. Grimes, J. Glynn, Williams Franks, Griffith, Langrish, Shirley and Gilmore and Lady Heath obtained private pilots' licences. Lady Heath's licence was a renewal of a previous certificate.

This year has started well for the Club, and during the month of January, despite unfavourable flying weather, 55 hours were spent in the air.

THE GATE THEATRE.

The revival of Walter Ferris's adaptation of "Death Takes a Holiday," entered on its second week at the Gate Theatre, Dublin, last night.

John Stephenson, who is playing the rôle of the Duke of Lamberto, is very convincing in his acting as the entertainer of the Masquerader, Michael Mac Liammoir. Miss Betty Chancellor gives a good performance as Grazia, and both Miss Coralie Carmichael and Miss Shelah Richards are deserving of mention.

Mr. Hilton Edwards stages this amusing Italian comedy in his usual capable style.

ON THE WIRELESS

SCHONBERG AND STRAUSS.

THE programmes arranged for the B.B.C.'s Wednesday concerts are so good that they tend to overshadow the other musical items in that day's broadcasts. This is what has happened with to-night's concert (in the National programme), in which Elena Gerhardt will be the soloist, and the B.B.C. Symphony Orchestra will be conducted by Arnold Schonberg in the first English concert performance of his Variations for Orchestra." Miss Gerhardt will sing four of Strauss's songs: "Morning," "Cradle Song," "Serenade," and "Cecily." The rest of the concert will be conducted by Adrian Boult, and will include the overture to "Euryanthe" (Weber), and Beethoven's "Eroica" symphony. The concert, which will be relayed by the Belfast station, begins at 8.15, and Mr. Ernest Newman, the well-known musical critic, will give an introductory talk at eight o'clock.

In the Athlone-Dublin programme at eight o'clock the No. 1 Army Band will give a recital, conducted by Colonel Fritz Brasé. The recital will include a rendering of Saint-Saens's symphonic poem, "Le Rouet d'Omphale," and one of Colonel Brasé's popular fantasies on Irish airs, "Erin for Ever."

ON THE CONTINENT.

IT is not likely that there will be many listeners here to a performance in German translation of a play of Shakespeare's which is so neglected in its English original as "Coriolanus." Lest any musical person should waste time to-night through false hopes, let it be understood that Beethoven did not write incidental music to this play. His "Coriolanus" Overture is a complete work of art, an entity as much as the drama itself. Incidental music by Hoffer is hardly a sufficient attraction.

There is plenty of music elsewhere. This being Wednesday, opera may be expected from Rome. Vienna also promises a relay from the State Opera House; Heilsberg is giving "The Marriage of Figaro," and an operetta is to be found in the Leipzig programme.

Musicians abroad are taking great interest in Arnold Schonberg's visit to London to conduct the first performance of his "Variations for Orchestra," and some continental stations are taking a relay of the B.B.C. Symphony Concert, at which this work is to be played.

In view of the importance of the London concert, listeners who prize wireless most for opportunities to hear orchestral music will not search the foreign programmes to-night. As an alternative to London there is, however, at least one strong programme—that of the Lamoureux concert at Paris, at which Alma Moody will be the soloist in the Delius Concerto for pianoforte and orchestra. This concert may be heard on the Radio Paris wave-length.

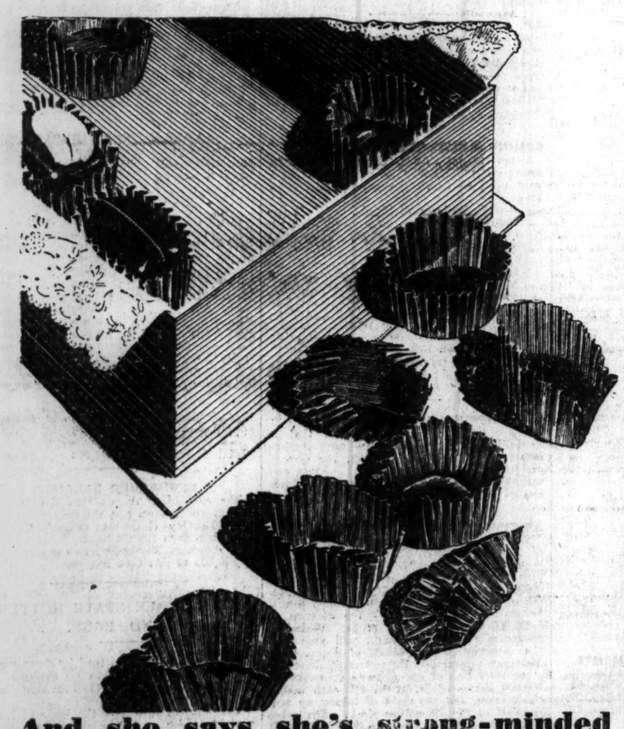
A VISIT TO THEMSELVES.

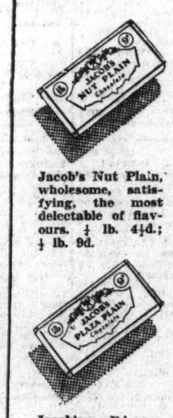
Alfredo and his Band, who are appearing at the Theatre Royal, Dublin, this week, yesterday visited the Grafton Picture House to see the talking film, "The Maid of the Mountains," in which they appear. This photograph of Alfredo and his Band was taken on the steps of the picture house before the visit.



And she says she's strong-minded

It was all our fault. We packed a pound of temptation in a box and called it Jacob's Patricia Chocolates. Someone gave it to her yesterday. Till then she was strong-minded—she could even eat one chocolate and stop. Now we're rather worried. We wonder whether we should have made them quite so good, whether we should have taken six whole days to make each melting bite. Because, you see, she reached the second layer during the evening—and thinned it out considerably. And she calls herself strong-minded. Just think then of all the people who are fond of chocolates. It's just as well we have a big factory and machines that work day and night.

JACOB'S CHOCOLATES



Jacob's Nut Plain, wholesome, satisfying, the most delectable of flavours. ½ lb. 4½d.; ¼ lb. 9d.

MOTHER AND SON.

While the coffin containing the remains of Mrs. Mary Jane Craig, of Walterstown, Dundalk, was being carried down the avenue for burial yesterday afternoon, her son, aged thirty years, died. He had developed pneumonia following influenza. Another son is lying ill with influenza. The father has been confined to his room for some years.

LECTURE ON VIVISECTION.

In the Mansion House, Dublin, this evening, at 8 o'clock, Mr. Frank Reginald Nolan, who has just completed an overseas tour, will lecture on "Vivisection and Vaccination." Mr. George Irvine, hon. secretary, Dublin branch, Irish Union for Abolition of Vivisection, will preside.

THE DRAMATIC FEIS.

HIGH STANDARD OF ACTING.

KEEN COMPETITION IN BELFAST.

FROM A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

BELFAST, Tuesday Night.

THERE were good attendances at the two sessions of the competitions in connection with the Northern Dramatic Feis, held in Belfast to-night. Four plays were staged. The acting reached a high standard.

"Little Bridget," a fairy story, was staged by the Eglantine Players. Mabel Adams was splendid as the fairy changeling. The others also were good, particularly Patricia Benson as Green Jacket, and Pat Allen as Chloe. The play is by Netta Syrett.

The Shakespearean element was introduced in Scene 2 from Act 5 of "Othello," which was presented by "The Cypriotes," youths under nineteen years of age. It was excellently dressed, and the acting was splendid, equalling professional standard in some cases, even if it was a trifle too emotional in some instances. As "Othello" S. M. Ward was dramatic and convincing in his study of the passionate Moor.

The Avon Players staged Christie Gilbert's tragic one-act play, "The Stocking." This fine play won the first prize in the Manuscript Class at the Feis a couple of years ago. The acting was very good, those taking part being Brownie Leighton, Cicely Matthews, Christie Gilbert and Kate Helliwell.

At the second session "The Circle," a comedy in three acts, by Somerset Maugham, was produced by the St. John Dramatic Society. The production was well staged, and the acting was in accordance with the favourable reputation of the society. Those taking part were A. S. G. Loxton, Douglas Stewart, Eric Carlisle, John Brown, Kathleen Porter, Norah Nairn, Betty Lorimer and Norman Brand. The humour of the piece was ably realised, and there was frequent applause.

DUBLIN CITY RATES.

HEAVY INCREASE EXPECTED.

The City Manager and the heads of the departments of the Dublin Corporation have for some time been doing night and day work in connection with the preparation of the municipal budget. These officials have been applying themselves with strenuous endeavour to keeping the estimates of expenditure below figures mentioned sometime ago by the Lord Mayor at a public function, when he stated that the rates would probably be 20s. in the £.

As a result of recommendations by the City Manager to the heads of departments that they must effect economies, it is now expected that the city rates will be under the £1 mentioned by the Lord Mayor, and may be 19s. 2d. in the £, and certainly not more than 19s. 4d., unless there are unforeseen items of expenditure preferred by the Poor Law Union, or other authorities over which the Corporation has no control.

There is no doubt that the new rate will be a heavy increase on that of the present year. The increase has been brought about by the demands for the relief of unemployment on the Dublin Board of Assistance, which is not within the control of the Corporation or the City Manager. It is further an ascertained fact that if it were not for demands from the Dublin Board of Assistance city rates would have been reduced below the 1932-3 figure.

The rate for 1932-3 for the old city area was 16s. 3d. in the £, which was a reduction of 4d. in the £ on the rate of 1931-2. Ratepayers of Dublin (old area) have now every prospect of finding themselves faced with a rate increased by about 3s. in the £.

TRICOLOUR BURNED.

Our Drogheda Correspondent states that the Fianna Fail Committee Rooms at Dunboyne, County Meath, were entered on Sunday night, and a national flag, which was there, was taken out, tied to the railing of the local national schools, and burned. The local Civic Guards are investigating the affair.

FALLING WORLD TRADE.

BRITISH SHIPPING DEPRESSION.

EFFECT OF WAR DEBTS AND TARIFFS

LIVERPOOL, Tuesday.

Mr. A. B. Hughes, presiding at the annual meeting of the Liverpool Steam Ship Owners' Association, to-day, said that the past year had admittedly seen some return of greater confidence and some definite signs of improvement, so far as Great Britain was concerned. The catastrophic fall in the volume of exports which marked the two previous years was arrested, and, in value, those exports were brought within nearer reach of customers abroad by way of lower selling prices.

There was a tendency, however to exaggerate the extent and durability of this improvement. World trade, on the revival of which any real prosperity for British trade and British shipping depended, continued to fall away, both in volume and in value, last year.

WAR DEBTS.

The Association was in full accord with the declared policy of the Government, of working for the final elimination of debts, and the removal or lowering of tariff barriers by way of co-operative action with nations ready to treat, on lines of reciprocity or other practicable methods.

Referring to the enormous excess of shipping tonnage, due in the main to subsidies by foreign countries, resulting in the building of ships superfluous to economic requirements, the Chairman said that the Association during the year became apprehensive of the trend of ideas in certain quarters towards a form of State control of shipping, to have effect whilst the present period of depression continued. Schemes were put forward for the obligatory laying up of tonnage, and the imposition of dues to provide a fund for the scrapping of ships under Government powers. These schemes the Association rejected as being impracticable in working and injurious to the British shipping industry.

FUTILE SUBSIDIES.

The first essential was the recognition of the futility of subsidies and their abandonment. The policy to work for was that which the Association had always put in the forefront, free access to the open freight market and free access to all ports by all ships, irrespective of flag and on terms of complete equality. Subsidies had no place in such a policy, and the Association would support all steps to obtain their cessation.

Colonel J. G. B. Beazley, M.C., was elected Chairman for the ensuing year, and Mr. Lawrence D. Holt, of Messrs. Alfred Holt and Co., Vice-Chairman.

NATIONALISATION OF RIVERS.

A DUNDALK PROPOSAL.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

DUNDALK, Tuesday.

That all the rivers in Ireland should be taken over by the Government, and that a tax should be imposed on all fishermen, the money derived therefrom to pay for drainage work of a national character—these are suggestions of the Glyde Drainage Committee, which met at Dundalk to-day.

Mr. Matthew Campbell said that if the rivers were nationalised the tax could be collected as easily as the motor taxation, and drainage work could be done properly at no cost to the country.

Mr. J. T. Kelly said that drainage in Ireland was done on the most antiquated lines, and people who received no benefit had to pay. The tributaries of the river should be kept clean by compulsion.

CLONTARF WEDDING.

Mr. F. M. GRAHAM AND MISS FRANCES GREENE.

A pretty wedding took place at Clontarf Parish Church between Mr. Frank M. Graham, only son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Graham, Redcote, Eglington road, Dublin, and Miss Frances A. Greene, younger daughter of the late Mr. George Greene, and of Mrs. Greene, 98 St. Lawrence road, Clontarf.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, looked very charming in a pretty vieux rose boucle frock, with coatee and hat to match, and a cravat of sable squirrel. She carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums, snowdrops and freesias. The bridesmaid (Miss Dorothy Dobbin) wore an attractive three-piece costume in navy blue and white. Mr. J. Fisher acted as best man. The ceremony was performed by the Ven. J. H. Yates, B.D., assisted by the Rev. R. Watson.

There was a large attendance of friends at the church, and afterwards at the bride's home. The guests included:—Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Graham, Mr. George Greene, Miss Ball Greene, Dr. C. C. de Burgh Daly, Mr. George Christie, Miss M. Christie, Mrs. F. Figgis, Mrs. J. Dodds, Mrs. A. Carlyle, Miss Daly, Mrs. L. Longland, Mrs. Victor Williams, Mrs. Dobbin, Mrs. Picton Bradshaw, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Deal, Miss H. White, Miss M. Catt, Mr. and Mrs. Price, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett, Dr. and Mrs. G. Dodds, Mr. H. Ross, Mr. R. Clarke, Mrs. Merry, Miss Estelle Murdoch and Miss G. Matthews.

HOCKEY CLUB DANCE.

There were about 400 people present at the annual dance of the Pembroke Wanderers Hockey Club in the Metropole Ballroom, Dublin, last night. There were hockey enthusiasts present from all parts of Leinster, and the dance was continued from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m.

The attendance included the following Committee:—Messrs. J. O'Donnell, B. Gregan, K. Keane, J. J. Carroll, P. Lennon, J. Began, the Misses C. O'Byrne, L. McHergo, M. Furlong, J. O'Carroll, B. Whiteside, A. Carson and N. Kenny.

Others present were:—Mr. and Mrs. E. Spence, Mr. and Mrs. S. Doyle, the Misses A. Dowling, M. O'Brien, K. Russell, M. Whiteside, C. Magee, M. Phelan, A. Dowling, E. Barry, K. Conroy, R. Nugent, P. Daly, N. Bennett, N. Kelly, R. Hennessy, E. McCarton, F. Mack, R. Kerr, C. Crane, D. Murphy, M. Kenny, N. Sharley, M. Quinn, E. Duffy, M. Byrne, K. Lennon, K. Page, N. McMullen, M. Rose, D. Hall, M. A. Burgess, M. Johnston, K. Sheridan, Mrs. Spence, Mrs. Fitzpatrick, and Messrs. R. Martin, T. Pike, C. Little, L. McMullen, R. Power, J. McCarthy, P. Dolan, F. Hirst, G. Beadie, J. O'Connor, C. Peate, C. Boland, F. Kelly, R. Starkey, D. Murphy, F. Strahan, V. Mahon, F. Convery, M. Byrne, W. F. Aylward, J. Johnson, A. Mahon, E. Spence, D. Hunter, E. Riley, G. B. Moore and G. Wilson.

"COLONEL BARRINGTON'S DAUGHTER."

Nearly all the faults which usually marr an amateur production were absent last night when Mr. C. H. Hemming produced his own play, "Colonel Barrington's Daughter," under the auspices of the Irish Auxiliary of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, in the Molesworth Hall, Molesworth street, Dublin. Against an Oriental back-bround, effectively suggested by the stage settings painted by Miss Roddice Day, the plot of an interesting little play was unfolded by a capable band of players. Miss Edith Thompson, as the heroine, "Betty Barrington," gave a most creditable performance, which merited great applause. As "Mrs. Barrington," Miss Dulcie Scholefield also deserves mention, and the best of the male actors was Mr. John Moore, who gave a strong rendering of the part of the missionary—the Rev. John Clayton. Others who took part were the Rev. R. Dowse, Dudley Woodworth, George McKlroy, Miss Dorothy Day, Miss Jennifore Craig Davidson and the Rev. A. P. Armstrong.

WORLD ECONOMIC CONFERENCE.

POSSIBLE DATE OF MEETING.

Answering a series of questions on the subject of the World Economic Conference in the House of Commons yesterday,

The Prime Minister said: The Preparatory Committee of Experts have drawn up a draft annotated agenda, and it has been published by the League of Nations. The Council of the League have decided to transmit the draft agenda to all the States invited to the Conference. As regards the date of the Conference, the Council of the League have decided that the convocation should not be unnecessarily delayed, but that it could not, in view of the necessity for further preparations and the distance to be covered by some of the delegates, take place for at least three months from the present time, and that it should be left to the Foreign Secretary (Sir John Simon), as President of the Organising Committee, to convene that committee at some suitable date during this period of three months, in order to take a final decision as to the eventual date of the Conference. I have been asked by the Council of the League to act as President of the Conference. (Cheers.)

Mr. Bernays (Liberal, North Bristol)—Will the efforts of the British Government be directed to the removal of tariff barriers which are universally admitted to be one of the main causes of the world depression? (Ministerial protests.)

Mr. Maxton (Ind. Labour, Bridgeton)—Do I understand that the committee which is to fix the date of the Conference may meet any time within three months, and that then a further three months must elapse before the Conference can assemble? It may thus be six months before the Conference can take place?

Mr. Macdonald—No; three months after the invitations have been issued the Conference may meet. It is not three months after the date of the Conference has been decided upon.

Captain P. Macdonald (Unionist, Isle of Wight)—Is the United States Government represented on the committee?

Mr. Macdonald—Yes.

Mr. Mabane (Liberal, Huddersfield)—Is the report correct that the Prime Minister has made his acceptance of the Presidency of the Conference conditional on its meeting in London?

Mr. Macdonald—Yes; that is conditional on the decision which the League has already come to.

THE 1933 OLYMPIC EXHIBITION.

BETTER ADVERTISING AND MARKETING.

Sir William Crawford, K.B.E., President of the National Advertising Benevolent Society, a member of the Empire Marketing Board, and Chairman of the Organising Committee of the Advertising and Marketing Exhibition, addressed the Publicity Club of London at Princes Galleries last week on the subject of the great exhibition to be held at Olympia in July.

Sir William said that the exhibition would be the most ambitious and comprehensive advertising and marketing exhibition ever attempted. Its appeal would be threefold: first, to the manufacturers and producers of Great Britain; second, to those of the British Empire; and third, to those of all the other countries of the world.

The aim was to demonstrate to the business men and women of the world the vitally important part which advertising and marketing must play in trade revival.

The exhibition would aim at providing a positive and practical solution of distribution problems, and would show that advertising is the best way to move goods from producer to consumer at lowest cost. It would show also how enterprising firms had increased their turnover and maintained their profits even under present conditions.

The exhibition had the support, directly and indirectly, of ninety per cent. of the great businesses of this country. All advertising and marketing interests would be fully represented. Over two-thirds of the space was already sold, and immediate application was necessary by those who wished to secure a place in what was still available.

NATIONAL MUSIC LEAGUE.

ORCHESTRAL AND VOCAL CONCERT.

The Irish National Music League have every reason to be confident of the future of their effort to promote good music at popular prices in Dublin. At their opening concert, six weeks or so ago, they had a big audience. Last night, for the second concert of the series, there was again a large and enthusiastic gathering, which filled every available seat on the floor of the Round Room of the Mansion House. That the concerts can be given at the low admission price of sixpence is largely due to the co-operation of the 2RN Symphony Orchestra. What a talented group of instrumentalists he has gathered together under his baton, Dr. Vincent O'Brien demonstrated in last night's programme. The audience showed their appreciation in no half-hearted measure, and they listened with the keenest critical attention.

The Overture to Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" was a happy introductory piece, and the audience were quick in their appreciation of the humour which the composer has so brilliantly woven into the work. Ponchielli's "Dance of the Hours" also had a lively atmosphere. One liked immensely the variations of colour and of rhythm which the orchestra displayed in the "Casse Noisette" ballet suite of Tschaikowsky:—The "Danse de la Fee Dragee," the "Dance des Mirletons," and the lovely concluding "Valse des Fleurs" were beautifully treated.

Afterwards the orchestra played Weber's "Invitation to the Waltz," set so delightfully for orchestra by Berlioz. The rhythm was infectious.

Some fine work for the strings was provided in "Echild's Dream," a composition by a young Irish composer, Lindsay Seymour, which was awarded the composer's prize at the Feis Ceoil a year ago. There are some admirable points in the work, notably the introduction for 'cellos, which came out with a lovely singing tone. There is also dainty work for the first violins.

The vocalist was Miss Kitty Fagan, who sang first a group by Del Riego, Haydn Wood and Molly Carew, and then an Irish group, the best of which was "When Thro' Life Unblest We Rove" (arranged by Hughes).

The audience heard some very fine pianoforte playing by a newcomer to the concert platform, Mr. Douglas French Mullen. He chose for his first piece the Mozart "Concerto in A," and gave an admirable rendering of the work, revealing fine understanding and a first-rate technique. Later Mr. French Mullen played a group of shorter pieces, including an Andante e Rondo Cappricioso by Mendelssohn, in which there were some beautiful touches of light and shade.

The Lord Mayor of Dublin in a short speech congratulated the League on the success of its efforts to popularise good music. The League's success, he said, was largely to due to the generous co-operation of the Minister for Posts and Telegraphs, and to the officials of his Department, whose co-operation had made the concert possible.

RELEASE OF POLITICAL PRISONER.

On Monday at dawn Miss C. Donnelly, who had been imprisoned in Armagh Jail for the past two months on a charge of being concerned in the posting of bills announcing a protest meeting against the detention of political prisoners, was released.

It was the intention of the authorities to send Miss Donnelly home to Belfast by the prison van, but Miss Donnelly was taken over by some prominent local sympathisers, and taken home in a luxurious motor car.

THE POTEEN TRAFFIC.

EFFECT OF THE SPIRIT TAX.

The weekly meeting of the Committee of the Licensed Grocers' and Vintners' Protection Association was held in the offices, Commercial Buildings, Dame street, Dublin, yesterday.

The Chairman, Mr. Thomas Gaffney, who presided, said that the industries of brewing and distilling, owing to the depression that existed and the consequent scarcity of money and the high price of drink caused by the abnormal taxation, were being wiped out. The spirit tax actually had converted into an industry the making of poteen in many parts of the country, and had created a situation of danger and demoralisation with which the forces of the State were admittedly unable to cope. He hoped that in the forthcoming Budget the Finance Minister and Executive would make a substantial reduction in both these duties.

Continuing, the Chairman referred to a sub-leader in that day's Irish Times, dealing with the report of the Chief Constable of Cardiff in connection with clubs. The situation was no worse in Cardiff, he said, than it was in Dublin. Many of those alleged clubs, as the law stood at present, were a genuine danger to sobriety and morality, and he sincerely hoped that at as early a date as possible the law governing those places would be altered and tightened up.

A member of the Committee asked the Secretary whether the licensed trader who had been sentenced on the previous day was a member of the Association, and Mr. O'Byrne, replying, said that the trader in question was not a member of the Association as any time since he started in business, nor was he defended by the solicitor to the Association.

The Secretary reported that the Registration of Shops Commission would be sitting on the following Friday at the offices of the Ministry of Industry and Commerce, Lord Edward street, Dublin, when the evidence of representatives of the Association would be heard.

DUBLIN PRESBYTERY.

The Court of the Dublin Presbytery met yesterday at Church House, 16 St. Stephen's Green, Dublin, the Moderator, the Rev. J. C. Breakey, B.A., presiding, and fifty ministers and elders being present.

The deaths of Mr. Charles J. Paul, elder in Howth and Malahide, and Mrs. Gailey, mother of the Rev. A. J. Gailey, B.D., Galway, were reported, and the Moderator was instructed to convey the Presbytery's sympathy with the bereaved.

The Presbytery decided to make no nomination to the Moderatorship of the Assembly.

The Rev. George B. Shaw was nominated for the Moderatorship of the Dublin Synod, and the Rev. J. S. Rutherford, M.A. (Kingstown), was appointed Moderator of the Dublin Presbytery.

The Presbytery unanimously agreed to the following overture to the General Assembly, on the motion of the Very Rev. Dr. Morrow, seconded by the Very Rev. Dr. Hanna:—

"That the Committee for nominating the Moderator of each Assembly shall be appointed by the preceding Assembly, and shall consist of twenty-five ministers and twenty-five elders; that the Ministers shall be the ex-Moderators, together with as many additional ministers as shall make the number up to twenty-five; that the five Synods shall each nominate five elders and two ministers, and, should the number of ex-Moderators be less than fifteen, the ex-Moderators shall appoint such additional ministers as shall make the number up to twenty-five.

"That the Committee thus appointed shall intimate the nomination to the Clerk of Assembly before the close of the year in which they have been appointed."

DALADIER TO FALL?

The financial proposals of the new French Cabinet have been found unacceptable by the Union of State Employés, which invites its members to hold themselves in readiness for any action which events may make necessary.

This decision is, it is felt, almost certain to influence the Socialists, and M. Daladier's Government thus runs the risk of suffering the same fate as its predecessor.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1933.

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND.

Mr. W. T. Cosgrave, in welcoming Cumann na nGaedheal deputies at a meeting of the party in Dublin last night, said the party had no cause for despondency.—(Page 7.)

A lightning strike of dockers took place in Belfast yesterday, but the men returned to work after an hour, when officials of their union had intervened and the Commissioner of Police had promised to investigate the cause of the men's action.—(Page 7.)

Two reports have been issued by the Electricity Supply Board covering the financial years 1930-31 and 1931-32. It is stated that the current accounts for the year ended March 31st, 1932, show a considerable improvement, arising from the more developed position of the scheme.—(Page 8.)

The body of Miss Bridget Flanagan (35), who was blown over the cliffs of Moher, County Clare, on Sunday, was recovered yesterday.—(Page 8.)

GREAT BRITAIN.

Major O. Stanley (Under-Secretary to the Home Office), in the House of Commons last night, stated that the Royal Commission on Betting and Gambling had found that totalisator betting on greyhound racing tracks was a grave social danger. The Government would suppress all "tote" clubs, and, if the existing law was found inadequate, further legislation would be introduced.—(Page 8.)

ABROAD.

Scores of thousands of Republicans, Socialists and Democrats paraded in the centre of Berlin to protest against the Hitler-Papen Government.—(Page 7.)

The Royal Air Force long-distance fliers have already set up a new British "record," and, if they continue their progress, should establish a world "record" by six o'clock this morning.—(Page 7.)

SPORTING.

At Warwick yesterday Nincompoop won the Upton Steeplechase.—(Page 10.)

FINANCIAL.

Loan and discount rates were comfortable.—(Page 3.)

The Belfast Harbour Board has announced that it is prepared to assist in the establishment of an aerodrome on the reclaimed land at the harbour.

Mr. de Valera's Appeal.

In his latest utterances—at Ennis, and at the opening of the new wireless station—President de Valera has appealed for national unity. His arguments were lofty, and we must respect their temper and their tone. Briefly, Mr. de Valera's claim is that God, by many signs vouchsafed during the past millennium, has destined Ireland to a position of peculiar greatness and influence in the coming centuries. She has held her faith, has been true to her ideals, and has been moved in all things by an indomitable spirit of patriotism. Hitherto an alien sway has kept her in the background, but now her grand opportunity has come. She has attained a measure of independence—soon, if Mr. de Valera's policy triumphs, to be complete; and the day is almost ready for her glorious mission, which is nothing less than the salvation of the world. Only one thing remains needful—a real unity of all the national forces—and for this Mr. de Valera makes his passionate appeal. He is willing to let bygones be bygones. His words are spoken to North and South, and to all parties in the Free State; and he has addressed himself particularly to those who "had formerly been known as old Unionists." Mr. de Valera credits this Southern minority with love of country. He tells them that their policy of union with Britain is now hopeless, and he invites them to "come along and help in our forward march."

Last night Mr. Cosgrave expressed his party's opinion on Mr. de Valera's general appeal for a political amnesty and a common front. We speak not only for the "old Unionists," but, as we think, for many thousands of nationalist Irishmen who share their views; and we are very willing to acknowledge Mr. de Valera's temper of conciliation. He admits that Irish Unionists have served their country according to their lights. We assure him that they will continue to serve it, and that, under his own or any other Government, their character, their brains and their resources will be given to the advancement of Ireland's welfare. Nevertheless, they can accept neither his material programme nor his political outlook. They can perceive the idealism and romance of his effort to build the Free State into a small, isolated and self-supporting community; but they know that the effort is bound to fail, with lamentable results for all classes of the citizens. Ireland is an agricultural country, depending almost wholly on one external market, and within a year Mr. de Valera's economic policy has played havoc with that market. Within another year he may have destroyed it altogether. He is turning Britain's good-will into a slowly-deepening resentment. He has repudiated debts which were due to England by an honourable agreement between two Governments. Economic sanity and straight dealing are qualities of the old Unionism. It finds no sanity in an economic war that kills a country's sole market. In its view, no idealism can justify a breach of faith.

The "old Unionists," and probably a still greater number of "old Nationalists," can have no sympathy with an independence which would discard the British Empire. Their ancestors helped to make the Empire; their dearest have fought and died for it; thousands of Irish Unionists and Nationalists have won fame for themselves and for Ireland in the broad arena of Empire throughout five continents. Mr. de Valera is justly proud of the national traditions which he marshalled in his latest speech. Why should he grudge to Irish imperialists an equal pride in the magnificent traditions which have accumulated round the building of the British Empire? In truth—and this is the root of the whole matter—Mr. de Valera is the victim of a defect which may have sad consequences for Ireland. He is unable personally to recognise the equal claims of two loyalties or to tolerate that recognition in others. He quarrels with an idealism which is as high as his own, and more generous. The best Irish Unionists share Mr. de Valera's hopes for Ireland. They believe, with him, that she has much to give to the world, and that, perhaps, she can "help by truth to save the world." Their difference with Mr. de Valera is the difference between the man who hid his talent in a napkin and the man who put his talent out to interest. Which sort of Ireland can be more helpful to the world—a prisoned Ireland, turned inward upon herself, or an Ireland holding a guiding place in the world's greatest empire, expatiating on the largest scene that God offers to human genius, leavening the whole of a vast civilisation with the virtues of Irish energy and Irish faith? Mr. de Valera is a political and spiritual paradox. The head of a State which has colonised the world, he has yielded to an acute agoraphobia. That is the tragedy of his "forward march."

The Kaffir Boom.

The notable activity in the South African gold market has created a regular "boom" on the London Stock Exchange. During the last few weeks there has been a very strong demand for "Kaffirs"—as shares of the Rand mines are termed in Stock Exchange jargon—and there have been some violent rises in the values of shares that had been lying dormant for years. The cause of this encouraging development has been the abandonment by the South African Government of a gold standard which was throttling activities in the gold fields. The price of gold immediately rose, with the result that the aggregate profits of the mines for the month of January were £5,497,000, or £1,536,000 more than in the month of December. One mine, for instance, which in December earned £1,064, showed a profit for January of £21,579, and another's profit rose from £5,701 to £26,637. These increased profits naturally were reflected almost immediately on the London Exchange. The "boom" is still in progress, although many careful investors have taken their profits already; and numerous experts believe that it will continue for several weeks. Two factors are of very great importance. In the first place, the fiscal policy of the South African Government may make or mar the "boom." The Government needs money. Up to the present its direct share in the gold "boom" has been in the neighbourhood of £5,000,000, while its indirect takings will be considerable; but the value of the Rand mines has risen during the last two months by something like £50,000,000, and it is just possible that Mr. Havenga may decide that the Government's share is not sufficient. In the second place, much depends on the future value of sterling. The South African currency now is linked to the British pound, and any violent fluctuations in its value would have very serious effects. On the assumption, however, that the South African Government pursues a wise policy, and that sterling remains more or less at its present level for the next few months, there seems to be no reason why the "boom" in gold-mining shares should not continue. The really important feature of the new development is the possibility that it may herald a rise in general commodity prices, thus preparing the way for a revival of world trade. It is too soon yet to form any sound opinion on this point, but the mere fact that it is being discussed seriously encourages the hope that an improvement is at hand.

A Vanishing Market.

Those Free State farmers who look forward to Mr. de Valera's condition of "frugal comfort" will be interested in the latest Dairy Produce Notes of the Empire Marketing Board, which deal with Great Britain's imports of bacon during 1932. During that year Denmark maintained her commanding position in the British market, increasing her supplies of bacon by 5 per cent., and being responsible for more than two-thirds of Britain's total imports of bacon. Poland also improved her position. During the last four years she has been increasing her supplies fairly steadily, and in 1932 she registered an advance of 6 per cent. Total Empire supplies, which amount to only 3 per cent. of the whole, increased during the year by about 10 per cent. Canada showed a substantial improvement, while most of the other bacon-exporting Dominions held their own. In the case of the Irish Free State, however, there was a lamentable fall. Since 1928 the Free State's exports of bacon to Great Britain have been declining; but last year they fell by no less than 33 per cent., although the economic war did not begin until July. No country in the world produces better bacon than Ireland, and there is no industry that is capable of easier expansion. Mr. P. J. Hogan once said that, if every Free State farmer would rear another pig every year, the adverse balance of trade quickly would be removed; and, in view of the fact that Britain imports 97 per cent. of her bacon supplies from foreign sources, the market for Irish exports is almost unlimited. It is almost incredible that the Free State farmers should throw away such an opportunity; yet it is true. By their votes at the general election they have condemned themselves and their fellow-countrymen to an indefinite prolongation of the economic war with Great Britain; and next year's figures will show an even greater collapse in their bacon exports.

Liechtenstein.

The Berlin Correspondent of the Morning Post offers some enlightening facts on a very paradise for sinners. Between Austria and Switzerland lies the little Principality of Liechtenstein. The Principality has been independent since 1866, and at present has a population of 11,000, including certain people who have retired there in order to be forgotten of the world. As it appears, the Prince of Liechtenstein does not approve of the extradition of his subjects, and thus the man of another nation who can reach Liechtenstein, and there can be naturalised as a citizen, is safe from the clutch of all police who do not care to contravene the international courtesies. Naturalisation, indeed, demands the payment of anything between ten and fifteen thousand Swiss francs, or £400 to £600 at par. What, however, are four or six hundred pounds to the defaulting financier, who generally escapes his creditors with a supply of ready cash that amounts to as many hundreds of thousands? The paternal tendency of the Prince, we learn, has inspired a major industry within his tiny State; for it is the headquarters of some 2,000 holding companies, which conduct both domestic and foreign business, with a different code to suit each form of activity. A new company does not need even registration; it is sufficient that it shall be proclaimed by the Town Crier in the market place. Colossal sums are involved by these companies—sums so huge, in fact, that an exceedingly light rate of taxation provides the Principality with an ample revenue.

NEW INDIAN JUDGE.

The King has been pleased to approve the appointment of Mr. Alfred Henry Lionel Leach, barrister-at-law, as a Puisne Judge of the High Court of Judicature at Rangoon in the vacancy caused by the death, on the 14th October, 1932, of Mr. Justice Otter.

THE JAPANESE GARDEN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—One can share Mr. Boland's appreciation of the charm and beauty of the Japanese garden at Tully, but in one detail he appears to be misinformed. The late Lord Wavertree—then Colonel Hall Walker—in 1915 presented to the nation his horses and mares and all the stock on his stud farms at Tully, Kildare, and Russley Park in England. The munificent gift, however, did not include the lands; it was a condition of the gift that the Government should acquire the lands, and this was done.

One can only hope, with Mr. Boland, that the garden may remain.—Yours, etc.,

"JOHN A DREAMS."

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

NEW HOUSING SCHEME.

A THREE-PARTY TREATY.

FROM OUR PARLIAMENTARY CORRESPONDENT.

WESTMINSTER, Tuesday.

In the House of Commons to-day Sir E. Hilton Young (Minister of Health) moved a financial resolution, relating to housing.

This, he said, was a necessary preliminary to the scheme to ensure the co-operation of building societies, in an effort to provide a sufficiency of houses for the working classes. The scheme was in the nature of a treaty between the Government, the local authorities, and the building societies, and it was hoped to secure a large fresh supply of capital for house construction. It was proposed that a guarantee should be given to the building societies in respect of advances made by them in excess over their normal proportion. The liability in respect of the guarantees would be borne, as to one-third of the excess, by the local authorities, as to one-third by the Exchequer, and as to the remaining one-third by the building societies.

The construction of new houses, however, was not the biggest factor in creating employment in the building trade. The most important factor was repairs, maintenance, and decorations, and in this connection he welcomed the willingness of the building societies to finance at low rates anyone who wished to carry out such work.

SLUM CLEARANCE.

He did not think that there was any longer a need for housing subsidies, more especially as they had stood in the way of a vigorous return to more normal enterprise. Any further subsidies should be concentrated upon slum clearance, and in this connection he proposed to set up a Departmental Committee to investigate the whole subject. The inquiry would include the question of reconditioning, to see whether it was possible to give local authorities the power of compulsory purchase for reconditioning purposes.

The subject of slum clearance was an urgent one, and if it could not be dealt with in one way they must find another. He would, however, warn local authorities that the proposed inquiry must not be regarded by them as an excuse for not putting into force the powers they already possessed under the Act of 1930.

LABOUR'S OPPOSITION.

Mr. Hicks said that the Labour Party would oppose the resolution, because it would throw back on private enterprise work that should be undertaken by the State. In regard to slum property, any attempt to renovate it would be a sheer waste of money.

Lord Eustace Percy welcomed the Minister's announcement, but urged the need for mass production of houses. He had always advocated the formation of a statutory housing corporation, which would operate naturally, and erect houses at rents which the working classes could afford to pay.

Mr. Aneurin Bevan said that in bolstering up private enterprise with State money the Government were attempting to hide political corruption behind a financial resolution.

Miss Rathbone was not satisfied that the Government's proposals would ensure the building of houses to meet the needs of the ordinary wage-earner. There was no guarantee or safeguard with regard to rents, and she was not sure that builders were such philanthropists that they would go to the market which most needed houses, instead of to the market which was most profitable to them.

Mr. A. Greenwood said that in regard to slums the only real solution was complete demolition.

Mr. Geoffrey Shakespeare, replying to the debate, said that Mr. Greenwood had taken altogether a too gloomy view of the situation. As the result of a short tour in the North of England, he was convinced that the Government's policy would be a success.

The resolution was carried by 236 votes to 38.

Mr. Hore Belisha moved the second reading of the Austrian Loan Guarantee Bill, by which the Government proposes to take part, with France and Italy, in guaranteeing a loan to Austria to enable her to discharge her foreign obligations, balance her budget, abolish her exchange control, settle the affairs of the Credit Anstalt, and reorganise her international economy.

The bill was read a second time, without a division.

The House adjourned.

BRITAIN AND THE FREE STATE.

MR. J. H. THOMAS AND NEGOTIATIONS.

In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Lewis (Conservative, Colchester) asked the Dominions Secretary if he had any further statement to make on the subject of British relations with the Irish Free State.

Mr. J. H. Thomas said that he had no further statement to make, except that the position still remained that the United Kingdom Government desired a friendly settlement, provided that it proceeded on the basis of the acceptance of the validity of existing obligations.

Mr. Lewis asked whether the Irish Free State had not yet sufficient confidence in the justice of their case to be willing to submit it to an arbitrament tribunal.

Mr. Lunn (Labour, Rothwell) said that there had been a general election in the Irish Free State, in which the people had expressed their confidence in Mr. de Valera, and, in view of the strong desire for a settlement, he asked would not the right hon. gentleman initiate negotiations?

Mr. J. H. Thomas—The position of the Government is that they believe that when there are honourable obligations entered into between two parties, those obligations ought to be, and should be the basis of any future negotiations. I have never hesitated to say that we are ready to enter into negotiation, Mr. Thomas added, but it must be on the basis that those who have made an agreement must keep their agreement.

Mr. Maxton (Labour, Bridgeton)—Is the right hon. gentleman satisfied with the results of his policy up to now?

Mr. Thomas—I have got a few hundred thousand pounds more of what was due to us. (Laughter.)

LONDON LETTER.

PARLIAMENT RESUMES.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
TUESDAY NIGHT.

The Imperial Parliament resumed its activities this afternoon, and the House of Commons was attended unusually well for an opening day. There was a fairly long list of questions on the Order Paper, and these were supplemented by a number of private notice questions, dealing with several points of interest. Early during the question hour Mr. Lewis asked the Dominions Secretary if he had any further statement to make on the subject of Britain's relations with the Irish Free State. Mr. J. H. Thomas replied that he had not, but that the British Government remained desirous of a friendly settlement—though he alluded again to the necessity of a strict adherence to agreements. The Prime Minister was almost heckled with regard to the date and arrangements for the World Economic Conference, but he was unable to give any definite date, and merely answered that three months' notice would be given to foreign Governments before the conference opened. Sir Herbert Samuel asked for a special debate on Kenya, but was reminded that he had several opportunities during the next few days to raise this subject.

The Prime Minister was very definite to-day in his references to the question of totalisators on dog racing tracks and totalisator clubs, and it is clear that the Government intends that both must be abolished, although those in use on the dog racing tracks may have a few weeks' respite from their threatened doom. The Government is waiting on the report of the Betting Commission before it takes action, and it is not unlikely that the report will be available sooner than has been expected. Another statement of interest made by the Prime Minister was that the Government intends to license goods traffic on the roads, thus putting into operation some of the conclusions of the report of the Salter Committee.

Unemployment.

Members were commenting in the Lobby to-day upon the heavy increase in the number of unemployed, as shown by the Government return issued last night. There had been a hope—almost an expectation—that on this occasion the numbers would show a marked decrease, but it is evident that the return of prosperity is still a long way off. A point made in the discussions was that, with an increasing number of unemployed, the Chancellor of the Exchequer will find it difficult to arrange a satisfactory Budget.

The Personal Service League, formed to restore confidence among the unemployed, is making such rapid progress that it soon will have dépôts in every London borough and in every county. The Queen has her own working party at Buckingham Palace, and this example is being followed extensively in many homes. Thirty-one thousand garments were sent out by the League in January, and of these two-thirds were contributed by a big working party established in two houses in Grosvenor place, lent by the Duke of Westminster. One of the biggest problems to be solved is the supply of boots for men and children in distressed areas, and in most cases these must be purchased for distribution. The movement generally has been received by people of all classes with enthusiasm.

Reform of Clubs.

Plans for the promotion of a bill in Parliament relating to the sale of drink in clubs are nearing completion, and will be supported by organisations representing no fewer than 6,000 clubs. The principal bodies concerned are the Association of Conservative Clubs, the Working Men's Club and Institute Union, the National Federation of Liberal Clubs, and the Golf Clubs' Association. It is proposed that all restrictions on the hours during which drink may be sold shall be removed; that the responsibility of registration shall be placed in the hands of the local authorities; and that no new members may be admitted without a lapse of seven days between nomination and admission, in place of the present period of forty-eight hours. Another provision of the measure is that no profit may accrue from the sale of drink, except to the general body of members.

President Hindenburg's Decree.

One of the most significant features of President von Hindenburg's decree vesting the power of government in Prussia in the hands of Herr von Papen is that Herr Hitler definitely has been ignored. Thus point is lent to the rumour that the Nazi leader's position in the German Government is shadowy. It is understood that he consented on appointment never to see the President except in the presence of Herr von Papen. The Prussian decree is regarded by constitutionalists as forcing the powers of the President to the utmost degree of legality. Its purpose is quite clear, and shows that the new régime means to win the general election at any cost by securing control of every form of government machinery likely to possess power to influence the electorate.

The British Jewellers.

British jewellers and silversmiths will have a very prominent place in the London section of the British Industries Fair, and an area of 25,000 square feet will be devoted to a series of composite displays. Every inch of the available space has been engaged for months, and the preparations promise a most interesting display. An interesting feature will be the number of exhibits showing success attained by British firms in the manufacture of articles formerly supplied from foreign sources. The great development in the manufacture of the electrically-controlled clock will be demonstrated fully. Britain is pre-eminent in this field, and one firm exports several thousand clocks a day. Great progress also has been achieved in escapements for all types of clocks of domestic patterns, motor clocks, time-switches, and gas and electric light controllers.

Safety in the Streets.

The London County Council is inaugurating a poster campaign, designed to make the streets of London safer, and next week four thousand posters with the motto, "Thank You, Mr. Motorist," will be placed on tram-cars. A picture shows a motorist who has pulled up in response to the extended arm of a conductor, thus enabling tram passengers to cross to the pavement. It is said that the use of a similar poster on certain cars has justified the extension of the principle. It is addressed to the inexperienced motorist—particularly to motor cyclists—but applies to all; for the idea is designed to encourage the "give-and-take" spirit of motorists in general.

Miss Wethered's Status.

Miss Joyce Wethered, the golf champion, who has taken an appointment as golfing adviser in a very well-known firm in the West End, probably will retain her amateur status as a golfer, though the question must be debated by the Ladies' Golf Union. So far no steps have been taken to ascertain whether this great golfer will be eligible to compete in future championship matches. It is understood that when the matter arises it will be submitted to the Royal and Ancient Club for final decision. All golfers would regret the loss of Miss Wethered's amateur status. Her retirement would be a distinct loss to the game which she has played so well.

LIGHTNING STRIKE IN BELFAST.

DOCKERS CEASE WORK, BUT RESUME AFTER AN HOUR.

DENIAL THAT REVOLVERS WERE DRAWN.

RETURN OF SOME OF THE RAILWAY COMPANY'S MEN.

AN incident which occurred at the Belfast docks yesterday threatened to involve the dockers in the railway dispute. A strike actually did take place, but it lasted for an hour only, and the men returned to work after officials of their union had had an interview with the Commissioner of Police.

The incident arose out of the loading of some articles at the docks for the railway company, dockers alleging that an armed police escort forced them to place the articles on a railway lorry. Immediately afterwards the men struck work, but resumed an hour later when told that the Commissioner of Police had promised to investigate the matter to-day.

Last night the Home Secretary for Northern Ireland denied the statement that the police had forced the dockers to deliver the goods "at the point of the revolver."

The Great Northern Railway Company and the London, Midland and Scottish (Northern Counties Committee) yesterday extended their temporary train services from Belfast, and trains were run to a number of towns in Northern Ireland. Both companies hope to have still better services to-day.

A feature of the railway strike in Belfast yesterday was the return to work of some of the Great Northern Company's men.

The power loom weavers in Belfast were informed yesterday that the Executive of the Transport and General Workers' Union in London had confirmed the decision that members of the union in Belfast must not handle goods diverted from the railways to motor lorries. It is feared that one result of this order will be the closing of some of the linen mills in Northern Ireland.

The general opinion in Belfast is that there will not be an extension of the railway strike to the dockers, but that the men will continue to refuse to deal with diverted railway traffic.

There was no development of the strike in Dublin yesterday, but it was learned that Mr. Lemass, the Free State Minister for Industry and Commerce, has not decided to communicate with, or to visit, Mr. Andrews, the Northern Minister of Labour, in connection with the strike.

Eight hundred men in the employment of the Great Northern Railway at Dundalk received notices of the termination of their contracts with the company yesterday.

IMPROVED TRAIN SERVICES.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

BELFAST, Tuesday.

The feature of the strike situation to-day is an extension of the temporary services on both the Great Northern Railway and the London, Midland and Scottish (Northern Counties) Railway operating from Belfast. On the Great Northern line there was more activity than at any period since the strike commenced. Two more engines were available, and, in addition to trains to Lisburn, Portadown, Banbridge, Armagh and Antrim, there was also a service between Enniskillen and Omagh. It was also found possible to run trains between Cookstown and Dungannon. An omnibus service linked up these trains, and the enterprise was greatly appreciated by the travelling public and merchants.

The Traffic Superintendent, Mr. J. Lockhart, declared to-day: "We are going ahead. We will have a larger programme of trains operating to-morrow, and hope soon to have our full service running again."

MEN RETURN TO WORK.

A new development to-day was the return to work of a number of men who had been on strike on the Great Northern system. A number of employés are also returning to the London, Midland and Scottish system, and the rail car service between Belfast and Carrickfergus was resumed.

An extensive programme, providing for a better passenger train service, has been made by Major Malcolm Speir and the Secretary of the London, Midland and Scottish (N.C.C.) Railway. The new service will come into operation to-morrow, and will be continued until further notice.

An additional train will be run on the Belfast-Larne line, making twelve double trains in all. There will also be two double trains between Belfast and Coleraine, and a midday train from Coleraine to Portrush and back to Coleraine. Trains will also be provided between Belfast and Cookstown, Coleraine and Magherafelt.

OMNIBUS SERVICES.

The 'bus service is running as usual, and in some cases extra vehicles have been brought into use, while a number of men have been engaged for the 'buses should their service be required.

Owing to the delay in the train service on the other side of the Channel, the Stranraer steamer was 48 minutes late in arriving at Larne this morning, and it was 10 o'clock before the connecting train for Belfast was despatched.

The number of passengers travelling by the Stranraer-Larne mail route was above the average this morning.

UNION OFFICIAL'S STATEMENT.

The statement by the Great Northern Traffic Manager, that the position in regard to the Northern Ireland railway strike had improved very materially, was declared by a union official yesterday to be totally at variance with information in his possession.

The Lord Mayor of Belfast, Sir Crawford M'Cullagh, whose name has been associated with possible intervention in negotiations to obtain a settlement, states that he had not yet been asked to intervene.

LIGHTNING DOCK STRIKE.

MEN OUT FOR AN HOUR.

An incident took place at the Belfast docks this afternoon arising out of the railway strike which almost led to an extension of the strike to the docks.

A motor lorry, accompanied by armed policemen, arrived at the Glasgow shed at the docks for two cases consigned to the Great Northern Railway. The dockers allege that the police got off the lorry and demanded that the two cases should be removed at the point of the revolvers. The cases were then placed on the lorry, and were subsequently taken to the railway.

INQUIRY TO BE HELD.

The officials of the Transport and General Workers' Union complained to the Belfast Commissioner of Police, Mr. Britten, of the action of the armed police. The Commissioner promised to hold an inquiry to-morrow into the allegations, and this seemed to satisfy the dockers, who returned to work after an hour's absence, on the understanding that if there is any repetition of to-day's incident they will come out on strike again.

Mr. Daniel Hillman, National Organiser of the Transport and General Workers' Union, said this evening, that he was of the opinion that the Great Northern Railway officials to-day tried to involve the dockers in Belfast in the railway dispute.

"Our relations with the North of Ireland steamship owners," he added, "have been very good, but in view of the action of some railway official the whole of the Northern dockers and carters would have been involved had not immediate action been taken and common-sense shown by the officials of the union."

HOME SECRETARY'S DENIAL.

Interviewed this evening, the Home Secretary for Northern Ireland said that the statement which had been circulated, that the police had insisted upon dockers delivering goods, even at the point of the revolver, "is destitute of truth, and there is no foundation whatever for the statement. Nothing of the kind has occurred either to-day or at any period during the strike."

"NO REVOLVERS WERE DRAWN."

On inquiry at the offices of the Belfast Police Commissioner last night a reporter was informed that the affair reported at the docks had been inquired into, and it had been found that no revolvers were drawn.

It was added that the police merely afforded the ordinary protection to life and property in connection with the lorry incident.

DOCKERS AND DIVERTED TRAFFIC.

It is understood that the Executive of the Transport and General Workers' Union in London to-day decided to confirm the decision that no traffic diverted from the railways to motor lorries could be handled by their members in Belfast. Consequently consignments of linen, maize, meal and other commodities to and from towns inland are being held up, and some of the inland linen mills may have to close down.

The Power Loom Weavers' Association in Belfast to-day was informed of this decision.

AN IMPORTANT MEETING.

Mr. Cramp and the other officials of the National Union of Railwaymen and Associated Locomotive and Firemen's Executive are crossing to Belfast to-night from London, and a meeting of both Executives will be held here to-morrow. If the Railway Union's Executives ask the Transport and General Workers' Union members at the docks to join the strike, and involve all the dockers in Belfast and other Northern ports, and also their members who are 'bus and lorry drivers, I understand that the matter will be referred to the Executive of the Transport Workers in London, and the General Secretary may cross to Belfast, or the Executive direct that the men be called out. Consequently the meeting of the Railway Union Executives in Belfast to-morrow will be of considerable importance.

It is the general opinion that there will be no extension of the strike to involve all the dockers, but that diverted railway traffic will not be handled.

NEW CABINET SECRECY.

FEW CHANGES EXPECTED.

DAIL MEETS TO-DAY.

CENTRE PARTY AND PRESIDENCY.

BY OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT.

THERE was great activity in political circles yesterday in view of the opening of the new Dail to-day. The various parties held meetings to appoint their officials and arrange party programmes. By evening most of the 153 members had taken the prescribed Oath at the Clerk's office in Leinster House. President de Valera and other Ministers presented themselves during the afternoon.

FIANNA FAIL.

At the Fianna Fail Party meeting, which was held in Leinster House, Mr. Ben Maguire, T.D., Leitrim-Sligo, was elected chairman, and the whips appointed were Mr. G. Boland, Mr. Oscar Traynor, Mr. Eamonn Donnelly and Mr. Robert Briscoe.

CENTRE PARTY.

The new Centre Party held a prolonged meeting at the offices of the Farmers' and Ratepayers' League, in Stephen's Green, and it is understood that there will be a further meeting to-day. It was officially announced that Mr. Frank MacDermot was elected chairman, on the motion of Mr. James Dillon, seconded by Mr. T. O'Donovan. No authoritative information was available as to what attitude the party would take towards the nomination of Mr. de Valera for the Presidency. It was rumoured during the evening that a discussion took place on that subject. The possibility that the party might abstain altogether was suggested.

CUMANN NA NGAEDHEAL.

Mr. W. T. Cosgrave addressed the meeting of the Cumann na nGaedheal Party at 3 Merrion Square on the present situation. The party discussed in private various matters concerning their plans for the new session of the Dail. Mr. Cosgrave was elected chairman and leader of the party, and Mr. Michael Davis, Ballina, Deputy Chairman. Mr. Richard Mulcahy and Mr. Peadar S. Doyle were elected as Party Whips.

LABOUR PARTY.

During the morning Mr. W. Norton and Mr. W. Davin, of the Labour Party, discussed with President de Valera various matters of importance to both parties. The interview lasted over an hour. It is understood that the Labour representatives informed the President that they would be ready to support the Government on the lines of the resolution passed at the Labour Party meeting last Friday.

NORTHERN M.P.'S.

There was no further information yesterday regarding the possible attendance of members of the Northern House of Commons at Leinster House to-day. It appears that no instruction was received by the officials at Leinster House as to any intention on the part of the Northern members to be present, and, consequently, no special arrangements have been made for their accommodation.

THE CABINET.

The distribution of portfolios in the new Cabinet remains a close secret which will not be disclosed until President de Valera makes his statement during the afternoon. The belief is that the changes will be few and unimportant.

NORTHERN M.P.'S.

MR. DEVLIN INTERVIEWED IN DUBLIN.

"You know as much about the matter as I do," replied Mr. Joseph Devlin, M.P., when he was asked by an Irish Times representative yesterday if it was true that he and other members of the Northern Ireland Nationalist Party would be present at the opening of the Dail this afternoon.

Mr. Devlin said that he had not the least idea where the rumour originated, and, as far as he knew, there was no truth in the reports which have been made regarding the possibility of Nationalist members of Parliament attending sittings of the Dail.

"My visit to Dublin has nothing to do with the opening of the Dail," he added, and he had not made up his mind whether he would be in Leinster House, even as a spectator, to-day. He also replied to a question that he was not certain if he would be seeing President de Valera or any members of the Executive Council during his stay in Dublin.

The Nationalist leader also stated that he was always interested in any move for the uniting of all the thirty-two counties of Ireland.

£30,000 PROFIT ON OLYMPIC GAMES.

WINDFALL TOWARDS LOS ANGELES RATES.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

LOS ANGELES, Tuesday.

The Olympic Games held here last summer returned a net profit of, approximately, £30,000. While no official statement of the Olympiad has been made, this figure was revealed in a statement from the Community Development Association that it "hoped to contribute to the City and County of Los Angeles the final surplus of the Olympic Games, in the neighbourhood of £30,000."

It was unofficially stated that the gross gate receipts for the Games, which financially were the most successful ever held, were slightly short of £400,000.

The surplus will be evenly distributed between Los Angeles County and City.

JAPAN COMES TO HEEL.

IMPORTANT DEVELOPMENT AT GENEVA.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

GENEVA, Tuesday.

Important new proposals were submitted by the Japanese delegate to Sir Eric Drummond this evening. They were also communicated to the British, French, German and Italian delegations.

It is understood that they go a long way towards accepting the draft resolution of December 15th, and involve certain verbal alterations which will have the careful attention of the Committee of Nineteen.

It is still too early to say that an agreed settlement with regard to conciliation procedure is near at hand, but prospects may be said to have improved.

The Drafting Sub-Committee meets to-morrow morning, and will receive notification of the proposals from Sir Eric Drummond. It is probable that they will be referred as soon as possible to a meeting of the Committee of Nineteen.

HITLER REGIME CONDEMNED.

DEMONSTRATION IN CENTRE OF BERLIN.

SCORES OF THOUSANDS ON PARADE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

BERLIN, Tuesday.

SCORES of thousands of Republicans, Socialists and Democrats—with bands playing and flags flying—marched to the square in front of the ex-Kaiser's Palace this afternoon and held a mass demonstration against the new regime in Germany.

One isolated banner, which appears to have escaped the notice of the police, bore the inscription: "General strike defeats Hitler-Papen Government."

Speeches by leaders affirming the workers' unrelenting hostility to the Hitler Government were wildly cheered by the huge crowd, which lustily sang "The International" and then quietly dispersed.

The police were in strong force everywhere, but did not have to intervene.

SHOUTED DOWN.

Expressions, such as "Jewish pig," "scoundrel," "swine," were hurled by infuriated Nazi deputies at the Socialist, Herr Loebe, a former Speaker of the Reichstag, when he presided to-day over the meeting of the Reichstag Committee for the Protection of the Rights of the People.

The uproar was so tremendous that the sitting had to be suspended without Herr Loebe being able to say a word.

One of the Nazis had declared that Herr Loebe had described Hitler in a recent speech as a "Slovak with bloody fingers," and went on to say that the Nazis refused to work with such an impudent fellow, and would forcibly prevent the committee from meeting.

Herr Loebe, who denies having made the alleged remark, intends to summon a fresh meeting for to-morrow, when another "scene" is likely to be staged.

FORCE TO QUELL MUTINY.

DUTCH AUTHORITIES NOT TO NEGOTIATE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

BATAVIA, Tuesday.

A SQUADRON consisting of the cruiser Java and the destroyers Everisen and Piet Hein is fuelling at Sourabaya preparatory to a 1,200 miles dash after the runaway Dutch battleship De Zeven Provincien. Air units are also being concentrated at Serang (Western Java).

The runaway battleship, it is pointed out, carries no anti-aircraft guns that could be used to counter action from the air.

Thousands of Europeans, natives and Chinese assembled to-night in front of the Governor-General's palace shouting "God save the Queen," singing the National Anthem, and giving voice to their loyalty and confidence in the Governor-General.

DEPUTIES' INCITEMENT.

THE HAGUE, Tuesday.

There was an agitated debate in the Second Chamber of the States-General to-day, when Communist and Labour members constantly interrupted the Minister for Defence, M. Deckers, who declared that there was no question of negotiating with the mutineers. If the battleship were not surrendered immediately and unconditionally when surrender was called for, the Government would use force. Steps would also be taken against all "desperate influences" that had been undermining Dutch authority in the East.

Replying to a Labour member, the Minister said that the Government's financial policy was no reason for mutiny.

A Liberal deputy who rendered homage to the Government was interrupted by M. Wynkoop, a well-known Communist deputy, who cried, "Homage to the mutineers."

M. de Visser, another Communist, expressed admiration for the mutineers, and said that his only regret was that others did not follow their example.

MOSCOW BROADCAST.

The Speaker intervened to say he would not allow members to instigate to rebellion.

The Dutch section of the Communist International at Moscow has broadcast an appeal to the crews of warships and mercantile vessels of all nations to refuse to take part in the pursuit of the runaway battleship, which, it declares, to be safe in the territorial waters of Soviet Russia.

The fugitives were authoritatively stated to be nearing the island of Siberut, situated some hundred miles from the west coast of Sumatra, at 8 o'clock this (Tuesday) evening.

OBITUARY.

LORD SYDENHAM.

Lord Sydenham died suddenly from cerebral hemorrhage yesterday morning at his home in Onslow square, London. He collapsed while dressing, and before a doctor could reach him he was dead. He was 84 years of age.

Soldier, author, defence expert, and Colonial Governor, Lord Sydenham's career covered an immense variety of activities. Over sixty years ago he was serving with the Royal Engineers, and nearly fifty years ago his work in the Egyptian Expedition gained for him the Medal and Bronze Star.

He was Governor of Victoria from 1901 till 1904; and, from 1907 till 1913, he was Governor of Bombay. He served on many commissions and committees, and was the author of numerous books on naval and military subjects, and national defence.

The son of the Rev. W. J. Clarke, of Folkestone, George Sydenham Clarke was knighted in 1893 and created Baron Sydenham of Combe in 1913. He was chairman of the Queenstown Harbour Commission at one period.

SIR HERBERT CORY.

Sir Herbert Cory died at his residence, Coryton, Whitchurch, near Cardiff, at 6.30 last evening, on his seventy-sixth birthday. He was taken ill on returning to Cardiff last week, after attending the wedding at St. Margaret's, Westminster, of his daughter, Rosalie, to Mr. W. H. Ferguson.

Sir Herbert was a member of the well-known Cory family from Padstow, Cornwall, who settled in Cardiff eighty years ago and built up a successful shipping business. His father, John Cory, was the founder of the firm, which still carries on business at Cardiff docks.

He was created a Baronet in 1919. He was married twice, the heir to the title being his eldest son, Herbert George Donald Cory, born in 1879, who is a shipowner.

MR. J. D. O'CONOR.

The death has occurred at his residence, Ashton Lawn, Cork, of John David O'Conor, Chief Inspector of the Munster and Leinster Banking Company. Mr. O'Conor had been employed in Cork by the company for about thirty years, and altogether he had been with them for about forty-two years. He was a native of Dublin. He had been an inspector of the Munster and Leinster Banking Company for many years, and only about three years ago he was appointed Chief Inspector for all Ireland.

STATE GREATER THAN PARTIES.

BUT NATION STILL GREATER.

MR. COSGRAVE TALKS TO DEPUTIES.

GOVERNMENT NOT FREED FROM CRITICISM.

MR. W. T. COSGRAVE, leader of the Cumann na nGaedheal Party, speaking at the meeting of the party held at 3 Merrion square, Dublin, last evening, said:—

"We meet on the eve of a new Dail, and it is a personal pleasure to welcome back old deputies and welcome in the new. This is the ninth Dail, and it is worthy of note that the old cry of the undissolved second Dail has passed into the limbo of those forgotten and discarded political coats previously worn by our opponents.

"This Government has succeeded in creating high political tension and economic disturbance which are the stock-in-trade of the Fianna Fail Party. But the country must some day settle down into political calm and get rid of economic disturbance, and it is the people who must in the end pay the price for relief. Let us hope that it will not be too high. Victory marches cannot solve our problems, nor can flowery speeches, whether of unchristian abuse or of mild appeals for unity, drive unemployment from the State. That much is certain.

"War is not a paying proposition. It entails suffering, loss, privation. It disturbs trade and commerce, and dislocates and impedes industry. It is generally conceded that America won the Great War and Germany lost it; that America was almost a world's workshop during the war—and for a while had stored most of the gold in the world. For the past two years the unemployment position of the victor with high tariffs and unequalled resources is almost as bad as that of the vanquished. The manufacturer and the trader have replaced the munition worker and the soldier.

"The struggle now is for trade—and without trade unemployment is bound to come, and, unfortunately, to stay until trade revives. The revival of trade depends much less on Ministerial pronouncement than Government spokesmen would lead the public to think, but it does depend on Government policy. A majority even of the electorate does not put the hall-mark of infallibility on Government policy. A Parliamentary majority can get certain things done, but the majority does not make the policy sound. It must be sound in itself. The Government may receive from the electorate a lease of power—but that lease of power does not confer the right to damage the trade of the country—nor to delay remedying the damage its policy may have caused. Nor can a majority of the electorate confer upon the Government of the day immunity from criticism.

ELECTION METHODS.

"I have referred to a majority of the electorate, and it is to be noted that a majority of the electorate is one thing—the number of votes cast and counted is another. The results of the election appear to have induced in the leaders of Fianna Fail a mood of spiritual exaltation entirely out of harmony with the unworthy methods employed during the struggle. Personation, intimidation, slander and misrepresentation were all called into play; the fears of the poor and the credulous were worked upon, and pains were taken to cast doubts upon the secrecy of the ballot. Less of the political Pharisee and more of the good Samaritan is what the Irish nation requires to heal its present and pressing ills.

"We hear a good deal about unity, and some reference to co-operation by all. If these expressions are seriously meant they will require to be employed and applied free from ambiguity. We are apparently invited to consider that the decisions of the people in 1922 and in 1923 and in 1927 at the general elections which took place were all wrong, but that the people at this election have decided aright—and that it is our duty to be silent and acquiesce in all that is done and uttered by Ministers, and not only by Ministers, but by the most irresponsible of their followers. Each and all are to be regarded as political oracles. The economic war must go on until Fianna Fail says it is time it should stop. Unemployment can increase—Fianna Fail says it is all right. Public expenditure reaches £30,000,000 per annum—Fianna Fail says it may want more or less—but it must not be questioned—must not be criticised.

"People who start an industry, no matter how small, are public benefactors—and I subscribe to that—if they invest their money, give employment under reasonable conditions, at fair wages, but if Government policy is responsible for closing a factory fulfilling these conditions, then, according to Fianna Fail, it is national apostacy to say so.

MEANING OF UNITY.

"These are some of the peculiarities of the party whose spokesmen invite unity and co-operation. Unity, we suspect, means that the members elected to Dail Eireann, outside the wings of the Government Party are to turn their backs upon the people who supported them at the election, and give their active assistance in the pursuit of a policy which they have been elected to expose and oppose. If the appeals for co-operation and unity—apart from empty rhetoric—have any other meaning let us have that meaning clearly set out in public. There can be political unity on a determined effort to bring the economic war to a finish. Bad statesmanship precipitated it—good statesmanship is required to end it. The country cannot prosper while it continues, and the numbers of unemployed must mount up while it lasts.

"While we regret the country's losses in trade and in the employment of our people, we have no cause for despondency. The Cumann na nGaedheal Party has a great constructive history. It has reason to feel proud of the fine steady patriotic people comprising a preponderating percentage of the working classes and the poor amongst its supporters, solidly behind its policy. In that unswerving support proof against all the forces mobilised against us we have maintained our position, and I warmly congratulate the members of the party on their success.

"That success means much nationally. We have the true Irish national tradition. It is this party which hold the national heritage from Collins, Griffith and O'Higgins, who were the nation-builders of their generation. They had vision, courage, perseverance. Their policy had national union as its cornerstone, and political prejudice blasted it out of its place. Others might have faltered. The dislocation of the national scheme only emphasised the greatness of these heroes. Years after they have passed away their political opponents endeavour to shield themselves under their mantles. It is good to see even a late political repentance, and we can derive satisfaction from the utterances of those who so violently opposed the policy of the Treaty, and now boast of the political and economic freedom they enjoy. That political education must be broadened still more. It requires a greater experience to realise that the State is greater than parties—the nation greater than the State."

FINE PROGRESS OF THE GREAT FLIGHTS.

MOLLISON MAINTAINING HIS SCHEDULE.

THE giant Royal Air Force long-range monoplane has already accomplished two-thirds of its flight from England to Cape Town without a landing. "Everything O.K.," the message accompanying the wireless announcements from the two officers in the aeroplane, sums up the progress of their attempt on the world's long-distance "record."

Mr. J. A. Mollison, who left Barcelona on Monday evening on a further stage of his flight to South America, landed at Villa Cisneros, in the Rio de Oro, yesterday afternoon, and intended to begin his last land section—to Thies (Senegal)—at midnight.

The young South African flier, Victor Smith, who began his attempt on Mrs. Amy Mollison's England-Cape Town "record" yesterday morning, did not make the progress during the day that he had planned, and spent a few hours at Perpignan resting before resuming his flight to Oran at midnight. Mrs. Mollison reached Oran on her first day.

ARRIVAL IN CAPETOWN TO-DA .

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

CAPE TOWN, Tuesday.

FLYING steadily at a rate which has increased from 110 to 140 miles per hour as the aeroplane grows lighter, the two Royal Air Force airmen, Squadron-Leader Gayford and Flight-Lieutenant Nicholetts, are making magnificent progress in their effort to beat the American non-stop "record" of 5,012 miles.

This will be achieved when they pass over Zesfontein, a tiny lonely outpost in the barren territory of Ovamboland (British South-West Africa), inhabited only by poverty-stricken Hottentots.

It is estimated that, if all goes well, the 'plane should pass over Zesfontein at 6 a.m. to-morrow, but Government meteorologists announce that the machine is likely to pass into unfavourable weather, with strong southerly winds and cloud, which may delay her flight.

They have already beaten the former British long-distance "record" of 3,948 miles, set up in April, 1929, by the late Squadron-Leader Jones-Williams and Flight-Lieutenant N. H. Jenkins, from Cranwell to Karachi.

LOG OF THE FLIGHT.

By ten o'clock to-night they had averaged a little more than 100 miles an hour, and they had been 39 hours in the air.

The log of the flight so far is as follows:

MONDAY.

7.12 a.m.—Left Cranwell.
10 a.m.—Nearing Paris (330 miles).
2 p.m.—Avignon (665 miles).
4 p.m.—Over the Mediterranean (800 miles).
7.45 p.m.—Eighty miles south of Tunis (1,375 miles).

TUESDAY.

4 a.m.—Over middle of Sahara (2,263 miles).
8 a.m.—Approaching Nigeria (2,770 miles).
2 p.m.—Nigerian coast (3,300 miles).
4 p.m.—Duala (3,500 miles).
8 p.m.—Libreville (3,850 miles).
10 p.m.—200 miles north-west of Boma (4,000 miles).

At 8 p.m. the fliers stated that the aircraft was flying above and through thick clouds.

WEDNESDAY.

2 a.m.—Ninety miles south of River Congo (4,260 miles).

MOLLISON'S PROGRESS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Tuesday.

Mr. J. A. Mollison landed at Villa Cisneros, in the Rio de Oro, at 3.15 p.m. to-day, and is leaving again at midnight for Thies (Senegal).

Mr. Mollison is attempting to fly to Brazil in three and a half days. His time table to date is as follows:—

8.12 a.m., Monday—Left Lympne.
5.10 p.m.—Landed Barcelona.
8.45 p.m.—Left Barcelona.
7.20 a.m. to-day—Landed Agadir.
9.35 a.m.—Took off for Villa Cisneros.
3.15 p.m.—Landed Villa Cisneros.

BAD WEATHER IMPEDES VICTOR SMITH.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

PERPIGNAN, Tuesday.

Mr. Victor Smith, the nineteen years old South African airman, who is attempting to beat Mrs. Mollison's "record" for the flight from England to Cape Town, has landed here from Bordeaux. He left Bordeaux for Barcelona at 1.30 p.m. He intends to take off again at midnight for Oran.

He had had bad weather all day. It was raining when he left Southampton and throughout his journey, and visibility was very bad. When he landed at Bordeaux he was an hour and a half behind his schedule.

FROM "THE TIMES."

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.)

THE BAR OF THE NATION.

The Times, in an editorial article to-day, remarks:—The projected debate on the B.B.C. was put down yesterday for this day fortnight, but a spate of correspondence has already made it clear that public opinion is against any proposal for closer parliamentary control. That demand has been revived, of course, by the blundering broadcast on New Year's Eve, when the B.B.C., represented by an unknown and unnamed voice, took its listeners for a personally conducted tour of Europe and varied travelogue with remarks on the armed establishments of some of the nations visited. The relevance of these statistical details was never clear, and they were not appreciated by Poland, one of the countries concerned. The formal Polish protest which followed was, perhaps, marked by a certain inconsistency, since Polish broadcasting has been anything but free of propaganda.

The members of Parliament who have been incensed by the admitted New Year lapse nurse other grievances against the B.B.C., adds The Times; but the answer to them is partly that other political sections have other and contradictory complaints and that the two sets of grievances largely cancel out, and partly that there is no noticeable echo for any of them in public opinion. Evidently, then, the right way to measure impartial intention in the B.B.C. is by the contentment or otherwise of its many-minded public, and evidently there is no case yet for supposing it to have strayed so far from its appointed path as to require a complete revolution in its direction.

As a guide in a certain limited field, the B.B.C. has prudently established a Parliamentary Committee, which it can consult. Its political programme at election times is settled by the parties themselves, by agreement through their leaders and Whips. For guidance in other matters and at all times the B.B.C. can more usefully look to the criticisms, not sparingly offered through the Press, and through its own post-box, than to incursions by the Legislature.

EMPIRE COMMITTEE OF CO-OPERATION.

MR. DULANTY TO ACT FOR IRISH FREE STATE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

OTTAWA, Tuesday.

The following will represent the British Empire in London on February 14th on the committee which, following the Ottawa Conference, is being appointed to facilitate economic consultation and co-operation between the Governments of the British Commonwealth:—

United Kingdom—Major-General Sir Fabian Ware, K.C.V.O., and Sir Horace Wilson, K.C.B.

Canada—Mr. O. D. Skelton, Under-Secretary of State for External Affairs; Lieutenant-Colonel G. P. Vanier, Secretary of the Canadian High Commissioner's Office in London.

Irish Free State—Mr. J. W. Dulanty, C.B., High Commissioner for the Irish Free State in London.

Southern Rhodesia—Hon. J. W. Downie, C.M.G., High Commissioner.

Newfoundland—Lord Edward Patrick Morris and Mr. W. C. Job, late member of the Legislative Council of Newfoundland.

New Zealand—Sir Thomas Wilford, K.C.M.G., High Commissioner, and Mr. Thomas Forsythe.

CABINET'S DEBT TALKS RESUMED.

SUGGESTION FOR LUMP SUM PAYMENT.

The consultations between Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British Ambassador to the United States, and the War Debts Committee of the British Cabinet on the best methods of approach to the War Debts Conference at Washington next month were resumed late yesterday afternoon, yesterday's conference taking place in the Prime Minister's room at the House of Commons. The meeting adjourned after an hour and a half, and will be resumed this afternoon.

According to a Reuter message from Washington, the American people will never stand for a lump sum proposal, whereby three-fourths of the debt would be cut away, said Representative H. T. Rainey, the Democrat leader, discussing the war debt situation to-day.

Mr. J. W. Collier, Chairman of the House, Ways and Means Committee, also speaking of the debts, told reporters that he is always ready for a cash settlement, but has no faith in merely changing amounts and leaving payments over a long period.

THE NEW CUNARDER.

QUESTION OF BOND ISSUE.

Mr. Lyons (Conservative, Leicester, East), in the House of Commons yesterday, asked the Chancellor of the Exchequer whether, in view of the probable commercial advantage of the completion of the new Cunard liner, he would consider the advisability of issuing bonds, guaranteed wholly or in part by the Treasury, to ensure the completion of the ship, and in the interests of employment connected therewith?

Mr. Chamberlain referred Mr. Lyons to a reply which he gave on November 24th.

Mr. Lyons asked whether the Cunard Company really desired this ship to be built, in view of the Atlantic trade, and how many people would be put into work by the completion of this vessel?

Mr. Chamberlain—As regards the first part of the question, I have no reason to suppose that the Cunard Company are not still convinced that they desire to have a vessel of this kind in the service. He added that he would like to have notice of the second part of the question.

Mr. Kirkwood (Labour, Dumbarton Burghs)—Will the right hon. gentleman get into touch with the Cunard Company, with a view to this ship being put into commission, because three out of five in the shipbuilding and engineering industries are unemployed?

Mr. Chamberlain—All these matters are under review by the Government.

THE RAILWAY STRIKE.

THE SITUATION IN DUBLIN.

MR. LEMASS NOT GOING TO BELFAST.

On inquiry at Government Buildings, Dublin, yesterday, it was ascertained that Mr. Lemass, the Minister for Industry and Commerce, had not decided to communicate with or visit Mr. Andrews, Northern Ireland Minister of Labour, in connection with the Great Northern Railway strike. The first intimation of his reported intentions came before Mr. Lemass in the form of a statement by Mr. J. Stobbie, of the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, which appeared in yesterday's newspapers. It was stated on behalf of Mr. Lemass that he knew nothing about it.

So far as the Great Northern Railway Company is concerned there was no change in the situation in Dublin yesterday. No peace overtures have been made on either side.

DUNDALK 'BUS SERVICE.

Although there was a rumour that the company's local omnibus service at Dundalk would be stopped by a lightning strike, nothing happened yesterday, the service being carried on as usual.

Rail services in Northern Ireland are improving, and two goods trains were run from Belfast on Tuesday. It is hoped that a further improvement in the services may be effected before the end of the week.

On behalf of the railway company doubt is expressed as to whether it will be possible to re-employ at once all of the men who are anxious to resume work.

Mr. C. D. Watters, of the National Union of Railwaymen, went to Belfast last night. Whether this visit to the North has anything to do with the rumour that negotiations for a settlement are about to be opened up is uncertain, but the visit is believed to have some significance.

RAILWAY COMPANY'S NOTICES.

Our Dundalk Correspondent states that all employés in the Great Northern Railway locomotive works there were handed notices of dismissal yesterday. Eight hundred men are affected.

UNUSUAL ROAD INCIDENT.

'BUS FOLLOWED BY TAXICAB.

DROGHEDA, Tuesday.

The Civic Guards at Drogheda are investigating a rather mysterious occurrence which took place on the main Dublin to Dundalk road this morning. The Guards who were acting as an escort on the 10 o'clock Catherwood 'bus from Dublin to Belfast noticed that the 'bus was being pursued by a taxi-cab occupied by the driver and another man. This car, it is stated, drew up at Eden quay after the 10 o'clock 'bus had left, and the driver, learning that the 'bus had gone on, set off after it.

It picked up the 'bus near Swords, and continued behind it the whole way to Drogheda, pulling up when the 'bus stopped, slowing down when the 'bus slowed, and speeding when the 'bus quickened its pace.

When the 'bus reached Drogheda, where there is a wait of five minutes, the taxi-cab pulled up in the street behind it, and when the 'bus left to proceed to Dundalk the car again took up the pursuit. This increased the suspicions of the Civic Guard escort on the 'bus, and they instructed the 'bus driver to increase his speed and get into Dunleer well ahead of the cab, so that they could communicate with the local Guards there and have the vehicle stopped.

Instead, however, of the 'bus leaving the taxi-cab behind, the latter vehicle increased its speed, and, passing the 'bus before Dunleer was reached, disappeared from view in the Dundalk direction. When the 'bus reached Dunleer the Drogheda Guards were communicated with, and an effort was made to track the taxi-cab, some Guards setting out after it in a fast car, but no sign of it was to be seen.

LEVY ON RAILWAYMEN.

The Wexford National Union of Railwaymen have decided to make a levy on the members to assist railwaymen involved in the Northern strike.

PEACE RUMOURS.

LEADERS GO FROM DUBLIN TO BELFAST.

From Our Industrial Correspondent.

Rumours regarding the opening of negotiations between the railway companies and the trade unions were afloat yesterday in Dublin. These are based, first of all, upon the announcement that the Executive members of the National Union of Railwaymen are returning with Alderman Dobbie to Belfast; and, secondly, upon the fact that Mr. C. D. Watters, the Irish secretary of the same organisation, has also left for the Northern capital.

The rumours are strengthened by statements made by certain of the men's leaders. Notwithstanding these rumours, however, there does not seem much hope of a settlement before the week-end at the earliest.

At a meeting of the members of the three unions concerned in the strike at the Ardee Hall, Dublin, last night, Mr. E. P. Hart, Amalgamated Transport and General Workers' Union, informed the men that rumours were abroad regarding the temporary licence to run 'buses on certain routes formerly served by the Great Northern Railway Company's 'buses. He gave the men an assurance that these 'buses would be stopped immediately that the strike was settled.

The following telegram on the situation in Belfast was received from Mr. Squance and read to the meeting: "Second week in, but men out stronger than ever. Loyalty wins.—Squance."

Mr. R. Batten, who presided, drew attention to a statement that the men were drifting back to work, and said that this telegram was the answer to this new effort to break the spirit of the men.

TRADES COUNCIL SUPPORT.

After a discussion, in which many of the delegates present took part, a resolution was passed by the Dublin Trades' Union Council last night, upon the proposal of Councillor Gilbert Lynch, seconded by Mr. J. W. Kelly, Irish Union of Distributive Workers and Clerks, and supported by Mr. Robert Tynan, Irish Municipal Employés' Trade Union, congratulating the railwaymen upon their magnificent fight, and pledging the moral and financial support of the Council to the men during the continuation of the strike.

CARGO HELD UP AT DERRY.

From Our Own Correspondent.

DERRY, Tuesday.

Three hundred tons of sulphate of soda which arrived at Derry Quay for Messrs. Holmes, Mullin and Dunne, Derry, from Ghent has been held up at the docks owing to the railway strike.

Consignments of the cargo were intended for places outside the city, and they have been hitherto usually sent by railway.

CORK COUNTY FINANCES.

INCREASED BANK INTEREST.

£45,000 EXTRA ON THE RATES.

CORK, Tuesday.

Mr. W. J. BRODERICK, T.D., Chairman, presided at a special meeting of the Finance Committee of the Cork County Council held to-day to consider the estimates for the next financial year.

The Secretary (Mr. J. F. Wrenne) submitted the report, which stated that the estimate for the next financial year showed a decrease in probable revenue of £16,077 11s. 6d., and an increase in expenditure of £42,921 11s. 9d. Provision had been made for meeting the estimated adverse balance in respect of the current financial year of £19,915 net. The estimated levy for the year ending the 31st March, 1934, showed an increase of £78,914 3s. 3d., when compared with the rate levy for the current financial year.

The decline in revenue was accounted for by drawing on the guarantee fund following deficiencies in payments of land annuities for the year ended 31st March, 1932. £13,595 was retained of the Council's estimated share of the agricultural grant against defaulting annuitants.

Of the increased expenditure of £42,921 the sum of £34,681 was accounted for by demands of subsidiary bodies, to whom the Council was bound to supply money. The increase in the estimates of the Boards of Assistance amounted to £29,835 of the entire estimated expenditure for the next financial year, amounting to £654,165 3s. 8d.

Subsidiary boards and committees controlled the disbursement of £377,367 15s. 6d., which represented over 57 per cent. of the Council's annual outlay.

Estimated contributions from Government sources amounted to £292,058, which represented over 44½ per cent. of the Council's probable expenditure for the coming financial year. Receipts from other sources were estimated at £7,110.

In reply to a member the Secretary said that 46 per cent. of the current year's rates had been collected.

Mr. D. L. O'Gorman said that the estimate should be referred to the Council as excessive. It meant a levy of more than 10s. in the £ on cultivatable land, and nearly 12s. in the £ on the valuation.

Continuing, he suggested drastic economies, including a 10 per cent. "cut" in all salaries and in expenditure on roads.

There was no seconder to Mr. O'Gorman's proposals.

After a lengthy discussion the meeting decided to apply to the Government for a refund of the £11,360 retained estate duty, thus reducing the estimated adverse balance to £8,555.

Reductions effected in the itemised list of expenditure totalled £33,805. This left the estimated expenditure for the year (including the adverse balance) at £658,052 3s. 8d. This figure, less £316,955 (agricultural grants and other estimated receipts) left the net sum to be levied at £341,107 3s. 8d., which represents an increase of £45,909 on last year's estimate.

The demand for services directly under the control of the Council, as distinct from those administered by Boards of Assistance and other subsidiary bodies, accounts for £10,428 of the increase, or, approximately, 2½d. in the £.

These figures were finally recommended to the Council for adoption.

VANDALISM IN CHURCHYARD.

COUNTY SLIGO OUTRAGE.

SLIGO, Tuesday.

Great indignation has been aroused throughout County Sligo, and particularly in Collooney district, by the act of some vandals, who entered St. Paul's Churchyard, Collooney, and defaced the tombstone over the grave of Major Bryan Cooper, T.D., whose family seat, Markree Castle, is in Collooney. The cross itself was untouched, but the plinth on which it stands, and which bears the inscription, was heavily smeared with tar.

Strong condemnation of the outrage is expressed by people of every class and creed in the district, where the Cooper family, who are large employers, are held in the highest esteem.

Superintendent R. J. Downey, Sligo, and the Collooney Guards are investigating the affair.

DUN LAOGHAIRE COUNCIL SUMMONED.

The Dublin Official Gazette of last night contains a notice signed by Messrs. Stewart and Orr, solicitors for William Alphonsus Doody, 7 Pearse street, Dublin, and dated 2nd February, stating that a summons in the High Court of Justice of Saorstat Eireann has been issued wherein William Alphonsus Doody is plaintiff and the Corporation of Dun Laoghaire and Patrick J. Hernon, Dun Laoghaire Borough Manager and Town Clerk, are defendants, and wherein the plaintiff claims the following relief:—

1. (a) A declaration that the plaintiff continues to hold the office of Accountant of the Corporation of Dun Laoghaire.
   (b) An inquiry as to what sums are due to him from the Corporation of Dun Laoghaire by way of salary and arrears of salary of such office.
   (c) An order for payment of all sums so found due to him by the Corporation of Dun Laoghaire.
2. Alternatively, a declaration that the defendants are bound to take all proper and necessary steps to award and procure for the plaintiff compensation for removal from his said office of Accountant of the Corporation of Dun Laoghaire and, if necessary, to procure the consent of the Minister for Local Government and Public Health to the award of such compensation.

FUNERAL OF MR. THOMAS CAHILL.

The funeral of Mr. Thomas Cahill, Dublin City Mace Bearer, and Officer of Commons, took place to Glasnevin Cemetery, after Requiem Mass at St. James's Parish Church, Dublin, yesterday, the Rev. ELECTRICITY SUPPLY BOARD'S REPORTS.

DEVELOPMENT OF SCHEME.

CLOSE INTERNAL AUDIT SYSTEM.

INDUSTRIAL MOTIVE POWER.

TWO reports have been issued by the Electricity Supply Board covering the financial years 1930-31 and 1931-32. The delay in issuing the report for the year 1930-31 is explained by the fact that the previous report for 1929-30 was delayed. The report for the present financial year 1932-3 will, it is understood, be available at an earlier date this year.

The report for the year ended March 31, 1931, in dealing with the Board's accounts, states:—

"In the course of the year a transfer to the Board of the main portion of the Shannon system was effected, and the present accounts, therefore, still reflect part only of the charge for a full year of the interest on the total capital involved. This debit, together with interest on advance of capital made direct to the Board, amounted to £359,400 0s. 11d. In addition, interest, repayments, and provision for repayments in respect of liabilities assumed from local authorities involved £95,720 12s. 6d.

A DEFICIENCY.

"Owing mainly to these charges, which arose in respect of capital before sufficient time had elapsed for the growth of revenue the results of the trading for the year show a deficiency of £200,121 15s. 9d. In arriving at this figure adequate provision has been made for bad and doubtful debts and for depreciation in stocks.

"In considering the figures it must be borne in mind that the year under review continued to cover the period of construction, and, therefore, represents only a partial utilisation of the system.

CURRENT ACCOUNTS.

The current accounts for the year ended March 31, 1932, show a considerable improvement arising from the more developed position of the Scheme. This report states:—

"The accounts for the year ended March 31, 1932, show a deficiency of £24,627 7s. 3d., which compares with a deficiency of £200,121 15s. 9d. in the preceding year. In arriving at this result for the year under review a full year's interest has been charged in respect of the capital value of the transferred Shannon Works and in respect of advances of capital made direct to the Board. This debit amounted to £455,035. In addition, interest, repayments, and provision for repayments in respect of liabilities assumed from Local Authorities involved £93,450. The direct capital charges, therefore, amounted to £548,485. These charges, in so far as they are applicable to sales of energy, absorbed 57.1 per cent. of the gross revenue from such sales."

INCREASED REVENUE.

Dealing with the increase in revenue and the increased use of electricity, the report further states:—

"The revenue from sales of energy to consumers amounted to £938,934, representing an increase of £203,632 over the figure of £735,302 for the preceding year. The table below indicates the growth in the number of units generated and consumed and the average price per unit for the three years ended March 31, 1932:—

March 31, '32	151,843,717	110,677,196	2.04d.

"The substantial increase in the revenue has not resulted in any addition to expenses, which show a reduction as compared with the previous year.

"During the year 1931-32 radical changes were effected in the general organisation of the Board's activities and in the system of recording, which have already led to valuable improvements, and which it is hoped in the near future will lead to definite economies.

RADICAL CHANGES.

"During the year 1930 the investigation of the weaknesses in the system of control of expenditure and of recording proceeded, and it finally became apparent at the beginning of the year 1931 that the Board's requirements could not be satisfactorily met unless radical changes were introduced. The scattered nature of the Board's activities throughout the country rendered imperative a rigid control of wages and materials, and the establishment of some system under which all works and services could be immediately costed and controlled. The Board accordingly decided, as from the beginning of the year 1931-32, to alter the organisation. The scheme which was introduced provided for a division of the country into thirteen districts, in each of which the various activities of the Board were closely co-ordinated through a district office, under the control of a district engineer.

"Since the scheme was introduced a system of close internal audit has obtained, and frequent inspection has ensured accuracy in the work. A relatively high standard of efficiency had been reached by the end of the year."

PRICE OF ELECTRICITY.

In regard to the increase in the price of electricity, the report states that the Board, in order to meet its general expenses, sinking fund and interest, found it necessary to increase certain tariffs for general domestic and lighting supplies. Industrial motive power rates and public lighting rates were not altered. No change was made in the general type of tariffs previously in force.

In the year 1931-32 the total number of units generated was 151,843,717, of which Ardnacrusha supplied 146,293,880, or 96.4 per cent., the residue being supplied from Pigeon House and Cork Steam Stations.

During the year 1930-31 fifty-four towns or new areas of supply were added to the Shannon networks, and 20,439 new consumers were added. In the course of the year 1931-32 there were twelve additional towns connected to the Shannon networks, and the increased number of consumers was 9,462, bringing the number of consumers at March 31, 1932, to 77,130, as compared with 47,229 two years previously.

The Dublin United Tramways Company system was not completely connected to the Shannon system until November 25, 1930, so that in 1930-31 it accounted for 8,611,026 units, while in 1931-32 it absorbed 22,460,000 units.

MOTIVE POWER.

Dealing with industrial motive power, the 1931-32 report states:—

"The use of electricity for industrial motive power purposes increased very substantially during the period under review. The new power consumers obtained included a large ironworks and implement factory, several flour and maize mills, quarries and stone works, a confectionery firm, an artificial manure works, a distillery, a hosiery factory, and a factory in which electric process heating for powdered soap has been adopted. Arrangements were made for supply to two charging stations erected by the Great Southern Railways for use with the Drumm battery experimental coach.

"The net increase in the industrial load in the two years under review was over 90 per cent.

PUBLIC LIGHTING.

"The total number of contracts in force for the year 1931-32 was 148, representing an increase of 21 on the preceding year. There still remain 22 areas in which Shannon current is available for which contracts have not been obtained. In 19 of these the local authorities concerned had no power to strike a rate for the service offered, and in the remaining three gas light was retained. The revenue from public lighting was £52,952 in 1930-31 and £57,024 in 1931-32.

"In June, 1930, the Board established a Lighting Service Bureau. The aim of this bureau was to effect an improvement in the general standard of all forms of illumination in areas in which a supply of Shannon current is available by placing free and expert advice at the disposal of existing and prospective consumers, and at the same time inviting enquiries from them on all matters relating to the most efficient methods of lighting.

"Considerable success has attended the efforts of the Lighting Service Bureau to effect improvements in the general standard of illumination, and to promote the use of lighting as a medium for advertising."

OTHER POINTS.

Other items in the reports show that during the year 1931-32 14,166 consumers had their installations completed or altered, tested and connected to the mains. The Board carried out 5,874 of these installations.

The sales of appliances and apparatus for which credit has been taken during the year 1931-32 amounted to £41,571, on which the rate of gross profit was 22.2 per cent. Having charged a proper proportion of general overhead expenses, the merchandise trading accounts show a net loss of £1,256. The showrooms in Drogheda, Kilkenny, Wexford, Tralee and Sligo were closed during the year.

DUBLIN AND CORK.

During 1931-32 Dublin City used 39 per cent. of the current generated. The Dublin United Tramways Company used, in addition, 14.8 per cent., so that in Dublin 53.8 per cent. of the current generated was used. Cork City used 6.2 per cent., and the Ford factory 2.6 per cent.

The maximum load on the main stations was 55,700 kilowatts in 1931-32, an increase of 8,100 kilowatts over the previous year.

The total amount paid in local rates, according to the 1930-'31 report, was in excess of £50,000, and it is understood that in the year 1931-'32 the amount totalled £52,000.

The number of units sold by electricity undertakers in the Free State other than the Electricity Supply Board in 1931-'32 was 2,731,805, as compared with 110,677,196 sold by the Board. The sales by the Board were, therefore, 98 per cent. of the total.

THE AMERICAN MARKETS.

BONDS AND COMMODITIES IMPROVE: STOCKS CLOSE FIRM.

(Reuter's Telegrams.)

NEW YORK, Tuesday.

The declaration of the regular quarterly dividend by the General Motors Corporation, coupled with the firmness of commodities, had a stimulating effect on sentiment to-day. Trading, however, was dull and price movements narrow until near the close, when some improvement was shown. The day's sales amounted to 580,000 shares.

The market opened firm, but Tobacco issues early developed heaviness. Socony Vacuum Corporation registered a slight improvement following the announcement of the regular quarterly disbursement of 10 cents., while General Motors also gained fractionally on the dividend announcement which was made late yesterday.

The recent dividend news was regarded as encouraging, but price changes generally were negligible. Tobaccos again displayed easiness in the afternoon, and Gold Minings were subjected to a little profit-taking, but there were signs of short-covering in the Utility group. The easiness of Tobacco issues was due to reports indicating that a cut in the wholesale prices of cigarettes was under consideration.

The ability of the Stock market to retain a portion of the advance recorded during the summer and autumn while commodities had lost all their recovery was considered as encouraging.

A slow rally developed in the late trading, and the market closed firm.

Trading on the Bond market was quiet, but there was a slight improvement in the undertone.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Tuesday.

Trade was light on the grain market to-day, with prices early backing and filling narrowly. Later the market improved slightly on local buying. Outside buying, however, proved insufficient to hold the advance. Wheat maintained a steady level on reports of a cold wave and snow in the South-West together with a forecast for continued cold weather. Trade was mixed owing to conflicting reports regarding the snow covering. Maize eased owing to a lack of export interest, which had the effect of offsetting unfavourable weather reports. Rye and Oats fluctuated in unison with other grains.

WHEAT opened steady, ⅛c. up to ⅛c. down, and closed barely steady at ⅛c. to ½c. decline.

BLOWN OVER CLIFFS.

BRAVERY OF SCOUT MASTER.

ENNIS, Tuesday.

ABOUT one thousand people were thrilled at the Cliffs of Moher, County Clare, this afternoon when Scoutmaster Augustine Madden (24), of the Third Galway Troop of Catholic Boy Scouts descended two hundred and twenty feet at the end of a steel cable to recover the body of Miss Bridget Flanagan (35), who was blown over the cliffs when taking photographs on Sunday.

Following the discovery of the body on what appeared to be an inaccessible ledge of rock, an appeal was made through the medium of cinema screens for volunteers who would risk the perilous descent. While sitting in a picture-house in Galway Scoutmaster Madden saw the "S.O.S.," as he himself described it, and both he and Scoutmaster Warner, also of Galway, immediately volunteered to take the risk.

Accompanied by a number of sea-faring men, under the charge of Mr. Michael Folan, first mate of the steamer, Dun Aengus, the two Scouts motored from Galway to the Cliffs of Moher. Mr. Folan supervised the erection of a windlass through a pulley, on which steel cable was slung over the face of the jagged cliffs, which at this particular point rise to a height of over 300 feet above the ocean. Guide ropes were fastened to the cable, at the end of which was a small wooden seat, similar to that used by painters when at work on high buildings.

On this seat Madden was slowly lowered to the ledge of rock on which the body of the victim of the accident had remained for two yards apart, and accordingly as a hand-against the face of the cliff by a strong western wind and sustained a number of cuts and bruises on his arms and knees, which were bare; for the only clothing he wore was that of the well-known Scouts' outfit — tunic, shorts and a pair of gloves. On the land side of the cliff the cable was held by one hundred men stationed two yards apart, and accordinglyly as a handkerchief was waved by a Civic Guard standing on a jutting cliff at the side, the cable was slowly paid out.

When Madden reached the body he was suffering from the intense cold winds, and had considerable difficulty in knotting ropes around the body. He completed the task, and on signalling to the Guard was hauled up the cliff to safety. The dead body was next hauled up and removed to the Flanagan home at Lough Doolin, where the inquest was held.

The Rev. Father Quinn, C.C., Lisdoonvarna, recited the last prayers.

Later in the evening when leaving Lisdoonvarna on his way back to Galway, Madden was cheered by a large crowd of people in recognition of his bravery.

The entire operations connected with the recovery of the body occupied two and a half hours.

A verdict of "accidental death" was recorded by Dr. J. H. Counihan (Coroner) at the inquest on the body.

Dr. O'Dea said that deceased woman had sustained a broken neck, several fractured bones and a dislocation of the left shoulder joint. Death was instantaneous.

In joining with the Coroner's expression of sympathy to the relatives of the dead woman, Superintendent Reynolds thanked the local people for the assistance they had given in recovering the body. He particularly thanked Mr. Madden, of Galway, who, he said, at great peril to his own life, went down the face of such a dangerous cliff to bring up the body.

GRAVE SOCIAL DANGER.

TOTALISATOR ON DOG TRACKS.

"TOTE" CLUBS TO BE SUPPRESSED.

MAJOR THE HON. O. STANLEY (Under Secretary to the Home Office) made a statement on the future of totalisators and "tote" clubs, in answer to a question by Captain Arthur Evans (Conservative, Cardiff South), in the House of Commons yesterday.

As regards the use of the totalisators in "tote" clubs, Major Stanley said, the Government accept the recommendations of the Royal Commission, who were impressed by the spread of the organised facilities for betting and gambling and of the habit of betting and gambling. The Commission says that the use of the totalisators for transactions which, in their view, are, in substance, betting transactions, whether in clubs or on greyhound tracks, lead to an enormous growth of facilities for continuous betting, and to an increase in exploitation of the gambling instinct of the population at large by persons for their own financial gain.

Regarded from this point of view, the totalisator appears to the Commission to be a grave social danger, and their unanimous recommendation is that totalisator betting, both in clubs and on greyhound tracks, should be brought to an end as soon as possible.

The Government are advised that the use of the "tote" in clubs is illegal under the existing law, and they propose to put into force the law, with a view to the suppression of these clubs. Should changes in the method of conducting betting operations through the totalisators in these clubs be adopted, and should it be found that the existing law is inadequate to deal with them, the Government will introduce any legislation which may be found necessary to effect the complete suppression of these clubs.

CONTRARY TO LAW.

The Government are further advised that the use of the totalisator on greyhound racing tracks is contrary to the existing law, which it is the duty of the authorities to enforce. At the same time, the Government recognise that the facilities afforded by the "tote" are only one form of the betting facilities provided on these tracks, and that the Royal Commission will be dealing, in their final report, with the general question of betting facilities on these tracks. The Government do not propose to come to a final decision as to legislation, if any, which may be necessary to deal with the use of the "tote" on greyhound tracks until they have had an opportunity of studying the final recommendations of the Royal Commission with regard to other forms of betting.

Captain A. Evans—With regard to the "tote" on greyhound tracks, and the effect of their abolition on unemployment, will the House be given an opportunity to debate the matter on a motion for the adjournment?

Major Stanley—That is a matter for the Prime Minister.

Captain Evans—Will the Prime Minister give me a reply?

Mr. Macdonald did not answer.

LAW TO BE ENFORCED.

Mr. O. Lewis (Conservative, Colchester)—Can he say whether, pending the receipt of the final report of the Commission, the Government propose to enforce the existing law regarding totalisators on greyhound racing tracks?

Major Stanley—Yes, sir; we intend to enforce the law as it stands.

TERENURE COLLEGE.

ANNUAL DINNER.

Tribute to the intellectual and moral equipment of the generation now passing through schools was paid by the Very Rev. J. C. O'Shea, O.Carm., President of Terenure College, when speaking last night at the annual dinner of the Terenure College Union at Jury's Hotel, Dublin.

Father O'Shea, who was responding to the toast of "The College," urged that every boy who to-day passed, in the normal course, through a college ought to become an active participant in the movement of "Catholic action." This was not a work of supererogation, but of vital necessity.

"Boys of the present day, to my mind," he said, "respond in a rather remarkable manner—a spontaneous manner—which is altogether heartening, to guidance and direction in the matter of a deep and personal devotion as Catholics. Boys to-day seem to have a very deep personal devotion to our Lord in the Blessed Sacrament.

That has grown up in recent years. It is a guarantee of the future of the generation that is just coming on. They are fitted intellectually and morally."

There should be some guarantee, declared Father O'Shea, that these potentialities should be resolved into action, and he put it to the members of the Union that they should make an effort to see that that was done.

Speaking of the ever-increasing responsibility that was thrown upon college authorities to provide openings for their boys after they left school, he pointed out that some would go on to universities and some would be absorbed in home occupations, but there was a section which looked to the college to help them. They had been sent to the college to learn to earn their daily bread, and they felt that it was up to the college to help them. They were right, and it was for the Union to help in the work. Apart from the intrinsic importance of this problem, its solution would help in solving the other problem of Catholic action.

The toast was proposed by Mr. M. A. Cole, who said that those who had enjoyed the privilege of a sound Carmelite education had received a sound moral training. In Ireland they lacked constructive, informed criticism in many branches—in fact, all branches—of national life. He thought they might have better criticism of the theatre and the cinema, which was one of the great forces in moulding the life of any country. Films were made now to pander to the lowest common denominator of mankind, and in any Catholic country there should be a strong public opinion in regard to them. Expressing the opinion that the Free State could, and must, play an increasing part in world affairs, he said that it would perhaps strive to show that unbridled individualism, so far from making a healthy economy, was in fact its death knell.

Mr. J. J. Shiel, in proposing "The Union," suggested that Father O'Shea should have reversed the order when he spoke of Catholic action and the question of finding openings for boys. He thought that Father O'Shea should have drawn attention to the extreme necessity of Catholic Irishmen and Irishwomen devoting their attention to the necessity of finding openings for boys who left school. He was in entire sympathy with Father O'Shea's ideas on Catholic action, but Catholic life could not be conducted without bread to eat, and, consequently in this work of Catholic action, there was a definite purpose of creating work for Catholics of every class.

Dr. Vincent P. Tighe, President of the Union, in responding, agreed with Father O'Shea that the Union should enlarge its scope. If school unions were strong, they could become a great asset to their country in preventing tendencies to unrest.

AMERICAN YACHTSMAN BURIED AT SEA.

QUEENSTOWN, Tuesday.

THE body of Mr. Ralph Gordon Crimmins, the American yachtsman, who was drowned on Sunday off Queenstown when his small boat, of which he was the sole occupant, capsized, was buried at sea to-day several miles outside Cork Harbour. This was in accordance with the wishes of Mr. Crimmins, who was passionately fond of the sea.

A short Service had been held at his house, "Belgrove," Queenstown, and a few hours later the coffin, upon which were several floral tributes, was transferred to the Dutch tug Zwartzee. It was followed by the widow and her brother, Mr. Arthur Chance, a civil engineer, of Dublin, and a few intimate friends. Then the tug, with her ensign and the American flag at half-mast, steamed slowly out of Cork Harbour, passing the British destroyer, Scotsman, which dipped her flag.

COLLEGE HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

A meeting of the College Historical Society will be held at 8 o'clock to-night in the Graduates' Memorial Buildings, Trinity College, Dublin. The motion for debate will be —"That the decline in family life in modern days is to be deplored." The speakers will include Mr. M. N. Hartnett and the treasurer (Mr. D. P. Owens) for the motion, and Mr. J. S. Alionn and the auditor (Mr. T. de V. White) against the motion. The chair will be taken by Mr. Ralph Brereton-Barry, barrister-at-law.

THE NEW IRELAND INSURANCE COMPANY.

SUPERVISORY STAFF DINNER.

Dr. J. Ryan, Free State Minister for Agriculture, spoke at the annual supervisory staff dinner of the New Ireland Insurance Company last night in Wynn's Hotel, Dublin.

The company, he said, was formed out of love for Ireland, and the men in its services strove to keep Ireland in the forefront. Just like the ideal government, which strove to defend the weak, so a corporation, like an insurance company, went out in defence of the weak.

Mr. Sean O hUadhaigh, solicitor, said that the company had the most earnest and successful body of workers to build up the prosperity of the country and bring back self-respect, common-sense and determination. Irishmen were capable of doing everything in their own country that people did abroad. The Irish people at the election had given a great demonstration of faith in their own future. It seemed to him that the company was going to play an extremely important rôle in the development of Irish industry.

Mr. M. W. O'Reilly, managing director, outlined the progress of the company during the year, and said that this country was unique in that it had not created for itself insurance legislation. Most of them closely associated with industry were bending their energies so that in the near future it might be possible to induce the Government to introduce legislation to assist the future development of their industry, or, at any rate, to lay down for them a charter for the insurance industy. During the year the company had been instrumental in financing the establishment of at least three important new industries in Dublin. The policy of the company would continue to be directed towards financing and assisting the creation of further industries as opportunity presented itself.

POTATOES AT THROW-AWAY PRICES.

"Potatoes are being sold at 15s. per ton, and the farmers of the best agricultural district in Ireland are heading for chaos and disaster."

This statement was made at a meeting of the County Louth Agricultural Committee in Dundalk yesterday by Mr. Hugh Magee, who stated that conditions in Cooley were deplorable. There were thousands of tons of potatoes for which there was no demand and no price, and if things did not improve neither rates nor rents could be paid.

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

IRELAND'S GRANT TO THE HOLY SEE.

The grant of £19,000 which Ireland sent to the Holy See last year places her ninth on the list of contributions from the nations for the maintenance of the Roman Catholic Apostolate among the pagans.

List of contributions from the leading nations:—U.S.A., £249,530; France, £98,811; Italy, £71,866; Germany, £50,999; Belgium, £46,672; Holland, £33,862; Canada, £21,108; Poland, £20,491; Ireland, £19,000; Spain, £13,604; Switzerland, £11,287; England, £8,056; Scotland, £4,531.

The grant of £19,000 does not represent Ireland's entire contribution, for a considerable amount goes to the support of the foreign missions through the individual missionary societies.

The total sum received from the entire Roman Catholic world for the year 1931-32 and placed at the disposal of the Holy See for the maintenance of the foreign missions was £708,077, but the total sum actually distributed to the missionary vicariates was £751,649. This was possible by drawing on reserve funds from the previous year.

Subsidies were given to 669 missions, each missionary bishop or prefect apostolic receiving a grant averaging about £1,000. A remarkable fact is that missions staffed or controlled by Irish missionaries received in grants altogether the sum of £21,380—£2,380 more than what Ireland contributed to the Central Fund. This total comprised subsidies to fifteen different Irish missions. The bulk of these subsidies went to Irish missionaries in Africa, where there are nine completely Irish vicariates. Irish missionaries in China also received grants.

"A WOMAN'S SOLUTION OF UNEMPLOYMENT."

Mr. Oswald Gregson gave the opening lecture of the month to the Irish Women Citizens' Association, at their rooms, 24 South Frederick street, Dublin, last night.

Mr. Gregson spoke on "A Woman's Solution of the Problem of Unemployment," and said that men had refused to increase the mechanism of distribution (money), and thus had crippled industry and commerce. Necessary capital should be assembled free of interest, and used to acquire the means of wealth production, and thus a right standard of living for the working producers could be achieved and the cost of living lowered.

The lecturer was introduced by Miss Louie Bennett, who acted as chairman.

DUBLIN'S PROUD POSSESSION.

NEW MUNICIPAL ART GALLERY.

THE LANE MEMORIAL ROOM.

THE hoarding has been removed from the front of the new Municipal Art Gallery and Museum. The entire façade, with the new portico, is exposed to view. The portico is well proportioned in its prominence to make true unison with the curved curtain wall wings which extend on either hand and end in tall, massive pillars. Eventually these pillars will be surmounted with handsome electric lamps of brazier type.

It will be a couple of months before the interior is ready for the reception of works of art. Some further time must be allowed before the museum section of the gallery will be finished and furnished for the display of exhibits. Enough of the sculpture and picture galleries has been completed to give a fair conception of the whole interior. Until the gallery in all its parts actually is opened the public will not be able to appreciate how fine an addition to municipal assets has been achieved by the Corporation. It will then be seen that the Charlemont House Gallery, in Parnell square, is an accomplishment of which Dublin may be proud.

THEN AND NOW.

In Lord Charlemont's time it was a different porch up to which Lord Edward Fitzgerald drove in his high-built car with Pamela by his side. Nevertheless, with all the reconstruction that has had to be done, much has been preserved of Georgian memories. Passing through the double-columned porch one enters by a vestibule into the first hall—made more handsome than in Charlemont's day by the fact that the original room has been doubled in replica, and made symmetrically one. Four Corinthian capitalled pillars now support the ceiling, the original pillars on the left having been duplicated on the right. The old Georgian mantelpieces have been retained, and on the right-hand wall have been inserted two plaques of sculptured classical subjects. These were removed from another part of the house which disappeared in the reconstruction, and now befittingly decorate this enlarged chamber. Tied Tonic fluted columns support the lintels of three broad doorways from the hall, in which the colour scheme is "invisible," or a pale blue with ivory white for the "surrounds" and ornamented cornices.

THE GRAND STAIRCASE.

The next step is to an inner hall, from which the grand staircase of the old mansion ascends. The staircase remains intact with its hand-drawn ornate ironwork in the balustrade. All the old delicately-modelled and carved decoration of the walls also is preserved. The foyer, the ante chamber to the handsome high-domed room in which sculpture will be exhibited, leads from the staircase hall. On either side of the foyer are commodious committee rooms, and one enters the sculpture gallery through folding-doors of teak and leaded glass, leaving the actual building of old Charlemont House behind and coming into the wholly new structure comprising the art galleries. The sculpture gallery appropriately is built and decorated in a severer style than the previous chambers. A motive of rams heads and festoons run along the frieze, and the ceiling is supported by Doric fluted columns and pilasters. Right and left to side galleries are doorways with semi-circular archways, above which are modelled representations of the City Arms. These doors lead to oval chambers, one of which was an annex to the old building, while the other has been made in duplicate of it.

THE LANE PICTURES.

From the centre of the sculpture gallery there is a long vista through the middle of five picture galleries, ending with the Lane Memorial Room, which will, it is hoped, some day contain all the pictures comprising the gifts and bequests of Sir Hugh Lane to the City of Dublin. This gallery will have as one of its principal objects of art interest a portrait bust of Lane, now being sculptured by Mr. Albert G. Power, R.H.A.

The first picture gallery, which is nearly finished, shows the intention of the fitting in of the others. It is divided from the Sculpture Gallery by a twin-columned entrance, and below the picture line the walls are faced with dadoes of American walnut, the flooring being of parquetry wood blocks. The picture space of the walls is covered with tongued sheeted wood, overlaid with art canvas of grey-blue hue.

LIGHTING.

The picture galleries are all low ceilinged and roof-windowed, giving excellent light in the daytime. At night, when it is also proposed that the galleries shall be open to give opportunity to all classes of citizens, the lighting is provided on the Hurst-Seager system. The virtue of this method is that it mininises mirrored reflections of a spectator in a picture. These reflections are the bugbear of all art-lovers. In the Hurst-Seager system a person stands shaded from the light, which falls through coloured glass like daylight on the object viewed. The electric lighting is concealed in the cornices and is unobtrusive. Extensive side galleries complete the picture rooms, and in one on the left-hand is preserved a handsome carved wood doorway, which was part of the old building. This doorway is in the Students' Room, off which extends an up-to-date photographic chamber, such as in now found in all important art galleries. It is possible to separate each picture room, one from the other, by means of steel fireproof doors that can be rolled across the apertures from concealed spaces in the walls when the gallery is closed at night.

The ground floor space of the new Municipal Art Gallery is nearly twice that of the Luxemburg Gallery in Paris, Sir Hugh Lane's ideal of an art gallery, and Dublin has in this structure something quite up-to-date and altogether befitting its purpose.

THE MUSEUM.

The Museum is well arranged in three spacious rooms on the first floor of Charlemont House, where also offices for the Curator, Mr. J. Reynolds, have been provided. These have all handsomely stucco-decorated ceilings and cornices. The Museum rooms will be reserved to civic treasures in the main, somewhat on the lines of the Carnavalet Museum of Paris.

Throughout the entire Gallery systems of ventilation and equable atmosphere have been installed which will ensure the preservation of the works of art and conduce to the comfort of visitors. Of the lighting system an European expert who recently made an inspection, declared that he did not know where there was anything to beat it.

The plans and specifications of this fine Art Gallery were prepared under the direction of Mr. Horace T. O'Rourke, F.R.I.B.A., M.R.I.A.I., and Mr. R. Sorley Lawrie, Dip.Arch., Aberdeen, A.R.I.B.A.

COTTAGES AT 1/- A WEEK.

AND TENANTS TWO YEARS IN ARREARS.

DUNDALK, Tuesday.

At a meeting of the County Louth Health Board in Dundalk to-day more than a dozen cases were reported where tenants of cottages held at one shilling a week owed two years' rent. One tenant, who owed more than three years' rent, was stated to be the owner of a fa

The Chairman (Mr. McGahon) said that the reports were not much encouragement to members to build another thousand cottages in the county.

Notices to quit were ordered to be served on the defaulting tenants.

PENSIONING COAL MINERS.

SPANISH SCHEME TO AVERT A STRIKE.

A scheme to pension three thousand miners was proposed at Oviedo (Spain) by the Governor in order to relieve the critical situation in the mining industry there. The Governor put forward this scheme at a joint conference of employers and men.

The pension for each man would be five pesetas (2s. 6d.) daily, provided by a three per cent. levy on the wages of those who continue working and by the contribution of an equal sum by the owners.

Both sides have promised to study the scheme, but a general strike is still considered inevitable.

MALICIOUS DAMAGE AT BRAY.

LIGHTING FITTINGS BROKEN.

Mr. P. J. Meghen, B.E., B.Sc., Commissioner, Bray, held the monthly statutory meeting in the Town Hall, Bray, yesterday afternoon.

A communication from the Electricity Supply Board was read, which drew the attention of the Commissioner to malicious damage to the fittings of the public lighting service at the O'Byrne and Herbert roads, Bray. Mr. Meghen's co-operation was requested in the prevention of the repetition of such damage, as otherwise the charge for the public lighting of these districts would have to be increased to make good the damage.

It was also stated that damage had been caused to public property on the sea front. Shrubs had been torn up, and the glass in the clock on the sea baths was broken.

It was decided to refer the complaint to the Civic Guard authorities.

The O'Rahilly Cumann Fianna Fail, Bray, forwarded a resolution stating that, as the work on the Bray river had not been completed, a further grant should be obtained to finish the work. The work which had been done already had prevented Little Bray from being flooded on two occasions recently.

Mr. Meghen said that it would be necessary to secure a further grant to complete the work, and he would approach the Minister about the matter.

The work of replanting Bray Head is in progress, and it was decided to purchase 16,000 trees for the purpose.

DUBLIN'S PROUD POSSESSION.

NEW MUNICIPAL ART GALLERY.

THE LANE MEMORIAL ROOM.

THE hoarding has been removed from the front of the new Municipal Art Gallery and Museum. The entire façade, with the new portico, is exposed to view. The portico is well proportioned in its prominence to make true unison with the curved curtain wall wings which extend on either hand and end in tall, massive pillars. Eventually these pillars will be surmounted with handsome electric lamps of brazier type.

It will be a couple of months before the interior is ready for the reception of works of art. Some further time must be allowed before the museum section of the gallery will be finished and furnished for the display of exhibits. Enough of the sculpture and picture galleries has been completed to give a fair conception of the whole interior. Until the gallery in all its parts actually is opened the public will not be able to appreciate how fine an addition to municipal assets has been achieved by the Corporation. It will then be seen that the Charlemont House Gallery, in Parnell square, is an accomplishment of which Dublin may be proud.

THEN AND NOW.

In Lord Charlemont's time it was a different porch up to which Lord Edward Fitzgerald drove in his high-built car with Pamela by his side. Nevertheless, with all the reconstruction that has had to be done, much has been preserved of Georgian memories. Passing through the double-columned porch one enters by a vestibule into the first hall—made more handsome than in Charlemont's day by the fact that the original room has been doubled in replica, and made symmetrically one. Four Corinthian capitalled pillars now support the ceiling, the original pillars on the left having been duplicated on the right. The old Georgian mantelpieces have been retained, and on the right-hand wall have been inserted two plaques of sculptured classical subjects. These were removed from another part of the house which disappeared in the reconstruction, and now befittingly decorate this enlarged chamber. Tied Ionic fluted columns support the lintels of three broad doorways from the hall, in which the colour scheme is "invisible," or a pale blue with ivory white for the "surrounds" and ornamented cornices.

THE GRAND STAIRCASE.

The next step is to an inner hall, from which the grand staircase of the old mansion ascends. The staircase remains intact with its hand-drawn ornate ironwork in the balustrade. All the old delicately-modelled and carved decoration of the walls also is preserved. The foyer, the ante chamber to the handsome high-domed room in which sculpture will be exhibited, leads from the staircase hall. On either side of the foyer are commodious committee rooms, and one enters the sculpture gallery through folding-doors of teak and leaded glass, leaving the actual building of old Charlemont House behind and coming into the wholly new structure comprising the art galleries. The sculpture gallery appropriately is built and decorated in a severer style than the previous chambers. A motive of rams heads and festoons run along the frieze, and the ceiling is supported by Doric fluted columns and pilasters. Right and left to side galleries are doorways with semi-circular archways, above which are modelled representations of the City Arms. These doors lead to oval chambers, one of which was an annex to the old building, while the other has been made in duplicate of it.

THE LANE PICTURES.

From the centre of the sculpture gallery there is a long vista through the middle of five picture galleries, ending with the Lane Memorial Room, which will, it is hoped, some day contain all the pictures comprising the gifts and bequests of Sir Hugh Lane to the City of Dublin. This gallery will have as one of its principal objects of art interest a portrait bust of Lane, now being sculptured by Mr. Albert G. Power, R.H.A.

The first picture gallery, which is nearly finished, shows the intention of the fitting in of the others. It is divided from the Sculpture Gallery by a twin-columned entrance, and below the picture line the walls are faced with dadoes of American walnut, the flooring being of parquetry wood blocks. The picture space of the walls is covered with tongued sheeted wood, overlaid with art canvas of grey-blue hue.

LIGHTING.

The picture galleries are all low ceilinged and roof-windowed, giving excellent light in the daytime. At night, when it is also proposed that the galleries shall be open to give opportunity to all classes of citizens, the lighting is provided on the Hurst-Seager system. The virtue of this method is that it minimises mirrored reflections of a spectator in a picture. These reflections are the bugbear of all art-lovers. In the Hurst-Seager system a person stands shaded from the light, which falls through coloured glass like daylight on the object viewed. The electric lighting is concealed in the cornices and is unobtrusive. Extensive side galleries complete the picture rooms, and in one on the left-hand is preserved a handsome carved wood doorway, which was part of the old building. This doorway is in the Students' Room, off which extends an up-to-date photographic chamber, such as in now found in all important art galleries. It is possible to separate each picture room, one from the other, by means of steel fireproof doors that can be rolled across the apertures from concealed spaces in the walls when the gallery is closed at night.

The ground floor space of the new Municipal Art Gallery is nearly twice that of the Luxemburg Gallery in Paris, Sir Hugh Lane's ideal of an art gallery, and Dublin has in this structure something quite up-to-date and altogether befitting its purpose.

THE MUSEUM.

The Museum is well arranged in three spacious rooms on the first floor of Charlemont House, where also offices for the Curator, Mr. J. Reynolds, have been provided. These have all handsomely stucco-decorated ceilings and cornices. The Museum rooms will be reserved to civic treasures in the main, somewhat on the lines of the Carnavalet Museum.

Throughout the entire Gallery systems of ventilation and equable atmosphere have been installed which will ensure the preservation of the works of art and conduce to the comfort of visitors. Of the lighting system an European expert who recently made an inspection, declared that he did not know where there was anything to beat it.

The plans and specifications of this fine Art Gallery were prepared under the direction of Mr. Horace T. O'Rourke, F.R.I.B.A., M.R.I.A.I., and Mr. R. Sorley Lawrie, Dip.Arch., Aberdeen, A.R.I.B.A.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

DUNDALK, Tuesday.

At a meeting of the County Louth Health Board in Dundalk to-day more than a dozen cases were reported where tenants of cottages held at the shilling a week owed two years' rent. One tenant, who owed more than three years' rent, was stated to be the owner of a fa

With each cottage there is attached a garden of half-an-acre.

The Chairman (Mr. McGahon) said that the reports were not much encouragement to members to build another thousand cottages in the county.

Notices to quit were ordered to be served on the defaulting tenants.

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE.

NINCOMPOOP'S WIN.

TOGARO PROVES BEST IN A FIELD OF EIGHTEEN.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.
WARWICK, Tuesday Night.

AVALANCHES of rain fell here last night, and the downpour continued until near mid-day to-day. The going, which had been very holding yesterday, was a sea of mud this afternoon, and the horses and jockeys brought back a considerable part of the course with them. Both were plastered from head to foot, and some of them were almost unrecognisable.

Nobody, certainly, would have known handsome old Gate Book after the race for the Upton Steeplechase; for his sleek white coat had become a brown, with the accumulated mud of three miles all over him.

This race produced a casualty in its early stages; for Rock Hill II., after jumping the first fence badly, fell at the second obstacle—the water jump—and, breaking his back, was destroyed immediately. He was a useful sort of jumper, who was trained by Captain Powell for Mr. Sidney Villar, and had been entered for the Grand National.

The race also produced another casualty, though not a serious one, except to backers. This was when the hot favourite, Mighty Chance, blundered three fences from home and shot Stott on to her neck. He hung there for about fifty yards, and then slid gracefully off, well clear of the mare's hooves.

AN EASY WIN.

Her mishap left the second favourite, Lord Portman's Nincompoop, in front, and then he shook off Columbus, who was the only one of the others who could go with him, and beat him by eight lengths. Hall Boy, who was placed third, was nearly a fence behind.

Surprisingly large fields turned out, considering the conditions; for there were eighteen runners for the selling hurdle race and the same number for the Novices' Steeplechase. Only the light-weights in the seller could go through the mud, and they filled the first half-dozen places.

The race was won by Cox's small Midland stable with Togaro, a six-year-old gelding by Torlonia, who beat Cameronia, joint favourite with Busy Bee, who could not go in the mud, by four lengths. Some one, apparently, has an exalted idea of the value of Togaro; for it cost his connections 150 guineas to buy him in.

OPPORTUNITY BLUNDERED AWAY.

Dash o' White, an odds-on chance in the selling steeplechase, blundered away his opportunity at the same fence as Mighty Chance. Slight Hope then continued to lead, but was well run out of it by Hadji Baba, whom Moloney rode for George Beeby, and for whom there was no bid after the race.

As two-thirds of the eighteen got round in the Novices' Steeplechase they cannot be said to have jumped badly, but at half-way they were strung out all over the course and were jumping in their own time. Sledge and St. Jude were out by themselves at the last fence, and the former won easily, Emancipator gaining second place as St. Jude, who was joint favourite, could hardly raise a gallop at the close.

The winner a five-year-old mare by The Winter King owned by Mrs. Esmond Harmsworth, has been running without distinction in selling hurdle races recently, so that the other seventeen runners cannot be of much account.

FAVOURITE FAILS.

Mr. Tom Walls paid a fugitive visit to the meeting to see his Tibetan Prince run for the Chandos Hurdle, for which he was favourite. He never showed up, however, and Prince Noir, giving 2st. to St. Cecilia, ran her out of it from the last flight, making a second winner for Moloney.

We wound up the day with a field of a dozen runners for the Watergall Hurdle, and only three were backed—Blaze, Duncansbay and Citizen. The picking in bulk was right but the placings were wrong, for Blaze, the better favourite, was beaten by Duncansbay, and Citizen was third after a weak exhibition.

SELECTIONS.

Some of the racing at Gatwick to-morrow does not promise well, but there will be one good event, at least, the Brook Steeplechase of three miles, where the likely Grand National candidate, Kellsboro' Jack, will be opposed in all probability by Buck Willow. If KELLSBORO' JACK is the horse he is thought to be, and the Wroughton estimate of him is a high one, he should give the younger horse the 4lb. that separate them and beat him.

The Stewards' Handicap Steeplechase over four miles may be won by HOLMES and the Maiden Hurdle by DODABETTA.

BRISBANE, Tuesday.

THE M.C.C. won their match with Queensland by an innings and 61 runs here to-day. After Ames had scored a brilliant 80, which helped to take the M.C.C. score to 343, Larwood and Verity ran amok among the Queensland batsmen, and the State side were all dismissed for 81. Larwood simply tore through the Queensland side, demoralising the Australian batsmen with his speed, which made Gilbert, the so-called "black terror," appear only a medium-pace bowler in comparison.

He took 6 wickets for 38 in eight overs, and one extra fast ball from him nearly broke Gilbert's off-stump. Incidentally, this was the only time the wicket was hit to-day. Verity, the Yorkshire slow left-hand bowler, was less spectacular, but almost as successful, taking the other four wickets for 20 in six overs, 3 balls. He bowled a tantalising length, and always had the batsmen guessing with his subtle variation of pace.

AMES AT HIS BEST.

Ames's innings reminded one of his best English form. He hit out with great confidence, and was especially severe on Gilbert, whom he repeatedly hooked and pulled magnificently to the boundary. Once he straight-drove him into the grand stand. Only once before in his career has Gilbert been hit for 6—by L. Constantine, the West Indian, who plays in the Lancashire League.

Ames, who obtained his 50 in 59 minutes, batted altogether for only 76 minutes, so that he scored at the rate of over a run a minute. His best hits were one 6 and eleven 4's. He was last out, stumped in reaching forward to Oxenham. Ames hit 36 of the 40 runs added to-day, and 34 of the 37 put on for the last wicket in 25 minutes.

Facing arrears of 142 Queensland changed their batting order in the second innings, Gough, the captain, going in with Cook. Gough failed to prevent a repetition of the bad start in the first innings, however, for without a run on the board he was caught at silly leg by Allen off Larwood's second ball. Larwood, bowling with the wind, sent them down at a great pace.

VERITY'S SPELL OF SUCCESS.

Hammond had one over, and then Larwood got to work again. He almost got Cook caught in the slips, but Hammond just failed to take the ball.

Only 15 runs were on the board, however, when Andrews cut a ball from Larwood, and gave Jardine an easy catch in the gully. The batsmen had more fast bowling to face when Bowes came on for Hammond at 18, but it was Larwood who continued to get the wickets. At 23 Levy sliced a ball, and Ames made a smart catch on the off-side, and one run later Cook was out in a similar manner to Andrews, caught in the gully by Jardine off Larwood.

GAMBLE'S MERRY "KNOCK."

Litster was Verity's next victim at 38, Allen taking a good catch at short slip, and, without addition to the score, Waterman skied a ball to Paynter at deep mid-on, to give Verity his third wicket. At this point Verity had taken three wickets for five runs. A short and merry innings by Gamble followed. He hit Larwood for 14 in one over, his hits being 6, 4, 2, 2, before Verity again took a hand, this time making a catch at third slip in Larwood's next over. This was at 52, after the 50 had been reached in 70 minutes Larwood clean bowled Gilbert with a smashing delivery, which nearly broke the off stump, at 57, and, after a stubborn partnership between Oxenham and Govan, who put on 24 runs, Verity finished off the innings by getting Oxenham leg before wicket at 81. The innings lasted one hour and 40 minutes.

The weather was sultry, and promises to get warmer. Thus the tourists will be glad of the extra day's rest before the next Test, which begins on Friday. The official attendance was 2,443, and the gate receipts amounted to £139. Score:—

TO COMBAT THE LEG THEORY.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

W. M. Woodfull (Victoria).
W. H. Ponsford (Victoria).
V. Y. Richardson (South Australia).
D. G. Bradman (New South Wales).
E. H. Bromley (Victoria).
L. Darling (Victoria).
W. J. O'Reilly (New South Wales).
S. J. McCabe (New South Wales).
T. Wall (South Australia).
H. Ironmonger (Victoria).
H. S. Love (New South Wales).
Twelfth man—B. J. Tobin (S. Australia).

By the inclusion of Darling and Bromley, Australia are obviously banking on successfully combatting the English leg-theory methods by the generous sprinkling of left-handed batsmen.

S. J. McCabe has quite recovered from an attack of influenza, and has left Sydney for Brisbane, accompanied by Don Bradman, W. J. O'Reilly and H. S. Love.

With the relegation of B. J. Tobin to twelfth man from among the twelve selected for Friday's Test, all four New South Wales players will be playing.

ENGLAND'S TEAM NOT YET KNOWN.

MITCHELL MAY BE A LAST MINUTE CHOICE.

BRISBANE, Tuesday.

All is now ready for the fourth and vital Test, in which victory for England means the regaining of the "ashes." No sooner was to-day's match between the M.C.C. and Queensland finished than the groundsmen got to work on the wicket, defacing spike marks, rolling and watering it. The wicket should be in perfect order provided that the threatened monsoon does not break. The skies at present, however, are ominously clouded.

England is almost certain to field the same team as played at Adelaide in the third Test, although it is possible that Mitchell may replace the Nawab of Pataudi as twelfth man, consequent upon Mitchell's good performance at Sydney, where he took Bradman's wicket.

The players are confident that Voce will be fit. If he is not it is even money whether his place will fall to Mitchell or Bowes.

MAY SUIT SPIN BOWLERS.

Although it is open knowledge that Jardine intends to exploit the leg theory, the wicket is more likely to be suited to spin bowlers. Thus Mitchell may be a last-minute selection.

Bromley, a left-hander, has been selected for Australia owing to his better ability to combat the leg theory tactics than Tobin, whose showing for South Australia against New South Wales in the match which finished at Sydney yesterday was disappointing. Tobin made only eight in the first innings, and one in the second, while he failed to take a wicket and had 92 runs hit off him.

Queensland were hoping for the last-minute inclusion of their all-rounder, Ron Oxenham, and were greatly disappointed when his name was not to be found among those selected to-day. Elaborate police precautions are being taken to deal with any demonstrations that may arise.

AINTREE CANDIDATES.

RESIDUE'S CHANCE FANCIED IN BROOK 'CHASE.

GATWICK has always been a favourite course with trainers who wish to try out their Grand National candidates, and quite a good sprinkling of Aintree horses are entered in to-day's card. Purely from a "trial point of view," the Stewards' Handicap Steeplechase is likely to be the best event, but the Brook Steeplechase is likely to produce the more exciting contest.

Here Kellsboro' Jack, a National aspirant, runs, and he represents I. Anthony instead of Sorley Boy. Kellsboro' Jack put up a wonderful performance when he finished second to Flambent at Newbury, and there is no doubt he is going the right way in his preparation. Residue is another I like. He has been showing a lot of improvement recently and will make a top-class steeplechaser. At Newbury a fortnight ago he just missed a place in Remus's race, and he should do better this time.

Buck Willow has shown plenty of promise, and he gave Golden Miller plenty to do at Lingfield last Saturday. It is true that Miss Paget's horse was carrying a lot of weight, but in view of Golden Miller's previous displays the form cannot be regarded as other than good. Thrumster is one who likes to be in front from the start, and he is sure to set a good pace. He will go close, but I anticipate that the finish will be fought out by does not seem to have a very difficult task in the Burstow Selling Steeplechase, and, though Afrikander is expected to make a forward show, I make him my best bet of the day.

RESIDUE,

Kellsboro' Jack and Buck Willow, and I like them in the order named.

STARLESS

The Stewards' Handicap Steeplechase is run over four miles, and one who will stay the distance is Robin-a-Tiptoe, who ran well at the last meeting here. Society won at Cheltenham over this distance, and she is fit. Liberty III. was unlucky to be beaten at Newbury, and she is expected to show some improvement. I have had a good tip for Liverton Lodge, and there was a lot to like about her performance at Birmingham, where she beat Bath Chap. She will not be easily beaten, but I prefer the claims of LIBERTY III.

Plot, Chef de Musique and Suze are likely to be backed for the Maiden Hurdle, but should be good enough to continue his run of successes.

TROUTWAL

should beat Invermark and win the Horleyland Selling Hurdle, and I prefer to Tom Tit III. in the Duxhurst Hurdle.

FRIAR BACON

THE N.C.C. MEETING.

The winter meeting of the National Coursing Club was held at the Exchange Hotel, Liverpool, yesterday afternoon. Lord Sefton was re-elected president, Mr Foyle Fawcett hon. treasurer, and Messrs. T. P. McNaught and Co. auditors. Three members of the Standing Committee (Mr. H. C. Pilkington, Mr. E. C. L. Bradley and Mr. H. Peel), whose term of office expired, were replaced by Mr. C. Glidden Osborne, Mr. R. Rank and Mr. Foyle Fawcett.

Proposed amendments to the bye-laws were adopted without discussion, as was also the report of the Standing Committee. Mr. E. C. Bradley, Mr. C. Glidden Osborne and Lieutenant-Colonel J. Haseltine were elected members of the club.

Major H. Pell, Colonel Sir J. Humphrey, Mr. P. J. O'Sullivan and Mr. A. L. Wing were re-elected members of the club.

FROM THE HUNTING FIELDS.

MEATH HOUNDS.

Saturday, The Kennels. Hounds found a bad fox in Charlesfort, but he would not leave, and was killed. They found in the laurel covert in Allenstown, and went away over the Ballybeg road and over the G.N. Railway to Hurdlestown, where he was lost. The next find was in the gorse covert near the Hill of Faughan. This fox went away on the Oatlands side, and ran a right-handed circle back into Oatlands and over the road to the Hill of Faughan. Going down to the Allenstown road, he went right-handed back to the covert and away again the same way. He went on to Ardbraccan, and, turning to the right, went back to Dorinstown, where he was lost, after an hour's hunting.

Monday, Churchtown Cross-roads. A fox went away as hounds were going in. He went on past Curraghtown and over the road to Shambo, pointing for Bective. He then turned to the right, and ran on by Robinstown and on over Balbray and into Philpotstown covert. Going right through, he led on over Dunderry Park and past the house, and on past Churchtown Graveyard, and, with the covert on the left, got to ground a couple of fields further on. A very good fifty minutes. They found next in Meadstown Sticks, and went away along the Bottoms and on to Lawless Cross, and on past Churchtown House to Churchtown covert, where he got to ground, after a fast twenty minutes. They then drew Meadstown gorse, Carrollstown and Philpotstown blank, and this finished a good day.

The meet yesterday was at Kilbride. Hounds found, and went away at once from Ballymacarney and ran on over Irishtown. Turning then to the left, they went over Coolquay and on to the Ward police barracks, and went on past Coolotrath to the Ward Cross-roads. They turned to the right here by Cherrypond and ran on to Kilchane old covert, where he may have got in, but was not marked. The time was fifty minutes to here. They found at once in Kilrue, and went away on the Ashbourne side, and, turning to the right, crossed the lane to the paddocks and went back to the covert. He went away at once again on the same side, and, leaving Harlockstown on the left, crossed the lane and went on by Fleenstown. Leaving Baltestown on the right, he ran on to Kilbride Chapel, where scent gave out. Hounds found in Ratoath, and went away over the Sutherland and on over the river to Crichstown nearly to Curraha Chapel, where scent gave out. A good day's sport.

KILDARE HOUNDS.

This pack held a bye-day at New Abbey on Monday. New Abbey and Gilltown were drawn blank, but there was a quick find in Silliott Hill covert, the fox running to Two-Mile House, and then right-handed to Killashea, where he got to ground. This hunt was followed by a nice 35 minutes from Coolmoonan, hounds running through Herbertstown to Silliott Hill; distance about five miles as they ran.

Meeting at Newcastle village on Tuesday, Locktown was the first draw, and held a fox which ran straight out over the Peamount road, then across the Hazlehatch-Newcastle road to Lyons, where he got to ground beside the lane outside the demesne wall. Castlebagot held, but the fox got to ground within a few fields of the covert. Johnstown Kennedy was next tried, but was blank. A fox, however, was found in Goodall's corner, but he soon got to ground, and this ended the day.

HUNTING.—Reports from the various packs, List of Appointments and Point-to-Point Fixtures appear in "THE IRISH FIELD." On Sale every Saturday. Price 2d.

NEWMAN LEADS AGAIN.

Newman gave a brilliant display in the first session yesterday at Thurston's Hall, London. He commenced play more than 500 points in arrears, but by scoring 1,165 against Davis's 396 resumed the lead. Continuing an overnight unfinished 192 Newman went to 388 (full), and also had innings of 321, 469 and 178. Davis's chief runs were 194, 203 and 118. The averages, in Newman's favour, were 291 and 175. Newman outpointed Davis to the extent of more than 1,000 points at the later session, when he aggregated 1,490 against 117. Davis could not get settled, and made breaks of only 57 and 60, while Newman's runs included 296, 107, 198 and 166 unfinished. He averaged 372 against 23. Closing scores:—Newman (in play), 13,699; Davis, 12,200.

SPORTING GOSSIP.

Closing of Entries.

Entries close to-day with Mr. F. Harold Clarke, 9 Hume street, for five races, including the Irish Grand National at Fairyhouse, the Dundalk Hurdle Race at Dundalk meeting, and five races at the Naas March meeting.

Grakle's Next Race.

We are informed that Grakle, who is trained by Tom Coulthwaite, is making excellent progress for the Grand National. His next race will be the Grand Allies Steeplechase, which will be run at Manchester on Saturday, February 25.

Grand National Horse Destroyed.

Rock Hill II., who had been nominated by Mr. A. S. Villar for the Grand National, broke his back when he fell during the race for the Upton Handicap Steeplechase at Warwick Races yesterday, and had to be destroyed. The accident occurred at the water jump, which is immediately in front of the stands. The gelding was lying second at the time, and his jockey, W. Parvin, was fortunate in not being trampled on by the horses following.

BOXING.

THE CONQUEROR OF JOHN L. SULLIVAN.

NEW YORK, Tuesday.

J. J. Corbett, the former heavy-weight champion of the world, is lying seriously ill here with a disease of the heart. The doctors have given up hope of his recovery, although they anticipate that the ex-champion may linger for several weeks.

Corbett, known as "Gentleman Jim" and "Pompadour Jim," won the heavy-weight title from John L. Sullivan at New Orleans, Louisiana, in 1892, by a knock-out in the twenty-first round. He lost his title five years later, in 1897, to Bob Fitzsimmons, at Carson City, Nevada, being beaten in the fourteenth round.

Corbett took part in one of the greatest fights of all time. This was his contest with Peter Jackson, the leading negro fighter of his time in 1891. These two fought an epoch-making contest, which, after 61 rounds had been fought, was declared a draw. "Gentleman Jim" originally got his nickname because he was a "white collar fellow who worked in a bank." Of recent years he has earned his living acting on the stage. Tall and erect, he still has the figure of a Guardsman, and his face does not bear a scar of his gigantic battles in the ring.

CHANGE ON IRISH FIFTEEN.

L. B. M'MAHON TO REPLACE M. CROWE.

THE Irish selectors, not being satisfied as to the soundness of M. Crowe, have decided to call upon L. B. M'Mahon, of University College, Dublin, to take his place in the three-quarter line on the Irish team against England at Twickenham on Saturday. As well, two substitute backs will travel with the team—namely, G. J. Morgan, of Clontarf, and J. J. O'Connor, of University College, Cork, as well as the forwards, C. Beamish and G. R. Graves.

Crowe did not turn out for Leinster on Saturday as expected, but intended to play in a match to-day if he felt fit. The selectors, however, decided to take no chances, and in picking M'Mahon as his substitute, we doubt if they have weakened the team in any way. Crowe is probably a sounder man in defence, but his hands are not too reliable, and if the Irish forwards can give their backs a good service of the ball, M'Mahon should fit in well with the others. It will be remembered that on the occasion of his first international game at Twickenham two years ago he scored a remarkably clever try which enabled Ireland to pull off a victory. He since then played for Ireland against South Africa last winter, when he partnered P. Murray at half-back. M'Mahon, P. Murray and Davy were out at practice yesterday, and they, as well as all the other members of the team, are fit and well.

The Irish team cross, via Dun Laoghaire and Holyhead, by the morning mail to-morrow, and while in London will make the Russell Hotel their headquarters. They will have a practice on one of the London grounds on Friday afternoon.

SENIOR SCHOOLS' CUP.

SYNGE STREET'S PROMISING DEBUT.

C.B.S., SYNGE STREET 3

The first appearance of the Christian Brothers' School, Synge street, in the Senior Schools' Cup competition was marked by a display of the greatest promise. They were against formidable opposition in O'Connell Schools, but only went down by 2 goals (1 penalty) 1 try (11 points) to a penalty goal (3 points). To have their line crossed only twice by a decidedly strong team was a really excellent performance, considering the fact that Synge street have only been playing the game since October, and that their full-back, O'Connor, was playing in his first Rugby match. They were a fine, well-built lot, and the forwards packed low in the tight, getting the maximum shove; while there was never an attempt to put their feet up before the ball came in. They brought off some excellent loose rushes also, and every man tackled well; though, naturally, they have not yet mastered the art of going low. In the second half the backs brought off a couple of passing movements, and Deering did some smart things both in attack and defence. He was the best back, but O'Connor—not a bit flustered by his lack of experience—fielded and kicked coolly.

O'Connell Schools will give any team in the competition a hard fight. They have, as usual, a big, heavy and lively pack, in which Curtin is outstanding, with good support from Kelly and Mayes, and the backs show a vast improvement on last year's form. They are not very fast, but handle well, and, most important, they have now gained confidence in their back play. Roddy, Dempsey and O'Sullivan, all have an eye for an opening, and, despite the fact that he has played very little this year, Gaughran retains all his steadiness and coolness at full-back.

O'Connell's had all the better of the first half, and, after being kept out for a quarter of an hour, scored all their eleven points in a short space of time. First Roddy caught the defence on the wrong foot and cut through, to score between the posts, and convert himself, and then O'Sullivan kicked a penalty goal. Shortly afterwards Collins finished a good passing movement by running strongly, to get over at the corner flag. The second half was a complete and surprising reversal of form, as Synge street kept play in their opponents' half practically the whole time, and, though their only reward was a penalty goal, kicked by Green from near the touch-line, they missed a certain try when Deering was tackled just short of the line, with McManus unmarked outside him. Teams:—

O'Connell Schools—B. Gaughran; T. Lyons, C. Roddy, R. Dempsey, D. Collins; J. O'Sullivan, V. McAllister; J. Bolger, C. Curtin, P. Kelly, E. Lyons, B. Victory, N. Floyd, A. Finnegan, J. Mayes.

C.B.S., Synge Street—W. O'Connor; T. McManus, D. Deering, B. Dowling, C. Manahan; F. McDermott, V. Fortune; H. Quinlan, J. Roe, T. O'Donovan, W. Mangan, T. Fortune, N. Green, L. Uhleman, M. McCabe.

TERENURE'S NARROW VICTORY.

Terenure College... 3 pts. High School...... 0

In the other Senior Schools' Cup game, at Donnybrook, yesterday, Terenure College beat High School by a try (3 points) to nil, an encouraging victory for Terenure, but after a poor and dull match. There was altogether too much touch-kicking by the backs, and it seemed to be their only method of gaining ground. Terenure were on the attack practically all the time, but the heeling of the forwards was slow, and Stewart never gave his three-quarters the ball. Both he and Doran are useful halves, but Stewart varies his tactics more. The forwards, apart from their bad heeling were good, especially in the loose, where McAulay, Carrigan and A. Brennan were outstanding. High School were rather a lifeless team. The forwards did fairly well, but the backs were too closely marked to gain any ground. C. V. Boyle, the scrum-half, brought off an occasional useful dribble.

The score came mid-way through the first half, Doran slipping away from a scrum to score between the posts, but the kick was missed. High School's only dangerous effort came shortly afterwards, Boyle dribbling away in the loose and beating man after man before Stewart picked up near the line and cleared. Teams:—

High School—D. H. McNeill; G. Worlin, H. Begley, H. S. Keegan, R. D. Magill; P. R. Walker, C. V. Boyle (capt.); P. R. Purcell, T. H. Walker, D. F. Reeves, R. W. Mason, W. S. Moore, S. G. Watson, G. W. Keegan, R. S. Young.

MUNSTER JUNIOR CUP.

Waterford .... 6 Clonmel 0

Waterford Club travelled to Clonmel and met the local fifteen in the third round of the Munster Junior Cup. It was a strenuous game, mostly with the forwards, and keen tackling was a feature. Clonmel defended so well that the visitors never crossed their lines, while the homesters got over several times, but made only one try. Clonmel had much of the play territorially, but lacked finish in their advances. Widger, who played well for the visitors, put two penalty frees between the posts and won the match for Waterford by 6 points to 3.

Mr. Russell (Cork Constitution) refereed. The winners play Bandon in the next round.

TO-DAY'S FIXTURE.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL.

THE FREE STATE CUP SEMI-FINAL.

At a meeting of the Emergency Committee of the F.A. of the Irish Free State, held last night, it was decided to defer consideration of the referee's report against Kirkwood (Cork) until a statement was received from this player, who was ordered off in the F.S. Cup re-play with Shamrock Rovers. The Committee took no action on a report against Smith (Shamrock Rovers).

It was also agreed that no action be taken on the report of alleged stone-throwing at the Cork players.

The date of the semi-final of the Free State Cup, between Shelbourne and Dolphin, has been changed to February 26th.

SCOTTISH CUP—SECOND ROUND REPLAYS.

Clyde, 5; Leith Athletic, 0.
Partick Thistle, 2; Ayr United, 0.

ROWING.

FAST ROW BY CAMBRIDGE.

The Cambridge University crew had another fast row on the Cam yesterday in their preparation for the Boat Race on April 1. From the Pike and Eel to Little Bridge, a distance of one and three-quarter miles, their time was 8 mins. 57 secs.

During their record lock-to-lock row on Saturday the crew covered the same stretch in 9 mins. 10 secs., after they had been rowing for 7 mins. For yesterday's practice C. A. Noble occupied No. 4 seat in place of R. B. Wylie.

The boisterous south-westerly wind occasioned the Oxford crew some inconvenience yesterday, and the work was restricted to the two miles stretch between Sandford and the Lower Radley Boat-house. The order was unaltered, P. Hogg (New College) retaining his seat at No. 3.

Two outings were made under the supervision of P. Johnson (Magdalen). On the first, with the exception of a hard minute's row at 31, little beyond paddling was attempted, but the second time the crew paddled up to the Horse Gate, and then had a hard row of three minutes, afterwards paddling home.

COURSING.—Notes and reports of interest in all parts of the country appear in "THE IRISH FIELD." On Sale every Saturday. Price 2d.—(Advt.)

COURSING.

WATERLOO CUP DRAW.

GABLE END IRELAND'S HOPE FOR ALTCAR.

BY OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

LIVERPOOL, Tuesday.

FOUR of the eight Irish nominators for the Waterloo Cup returned their nominations. Mr. Denis Gorey, of Kilkenny, relies, as last season, on his Gable End, which is in Bob Wright's kennels; Mr. Joseph Shaw, of Belfast, runs Sousie; Mr. James Fullerton, of Ramelton, Co. Donegal, will be represented by his recent purchase from Major Hugh Peel, Bryn Set Sail, and Mr. James Campbell has nominated Time.

The full list of Irish nominators stands, however, but Ireland's interest in the Cup—the first and second rounds of which will be decided to-morrow at The Withins—is confined altogether to the running of the four dogs named. Possibly by to-morrow night the Irish contingent will have lost all interest in the cup so far as our dogs are concerned, although Bob Wright considers that Gable End is moving faster than last season, and has a good chance of raising a couple of flags on The Withins, on which pace is always a strong factor.

COMMENTS ON THE DRAW.

The draw worked out splendidly, all the best known dogs being separated, and, with anything like luck, the "crack" runners should be left in the closing stages. It was singular that No. 1 on the list, Last Lavolta, should come last out of the bowl, but she can have little chance against the fast puppy, Ramrod.

Taking the first section, Fulford is a determined runner, and should get the better of Bryn Set Sail, while the puppy Calculation should go too fast for Tampico, though the latter is a finished worker. Nearly Home looks to have little chance with Blackadder, while constant should have no difficulty in disposing of Springfield Siesta.

In the next four the pick is undoubtedly Jubilant. He could not have been drawn better, and it will be a big surprise if he does not survive the first day. He is lengths faster than Hetton Solon, and Second Time to Slips should account for Racketter, who has very little to beat in Happy Favourite. This looks to be the easiest section.

GENIAL NOBLEMAN'S CHANCES.

In the next eight there should be a great course between Dee Rock and Roango. They are puppies, and while the first-named was a good divider of the United Produce Stakes, Roango won the valuable South of England Cup at Newmarket. The lead is a big problem. Roango may go up in front, and if so will win. The winner of this course should then have the genuine Swahili to meet, but he is none too good a killer, while he may not have forgotten the gruelling he got at Aldingbourne. In this section is Genial Nobleman, who should lead and beat Ghandi's Opportunity, and his chances are bright for going through with Jubilant to the final day.

There is very little outstanding in the next eight. The pick may be Pincurl. She is short of pace, but is a stylish worker and rattles her hare about in the best style. We then come to Jazz Reveller and Monolith. The two are well matched for pace, and the course should prove a good betting medium. Dorique is fancied, but should be led by Harefield Hill, and pace in this case may prove to be the deciding factor.

LAST YEAR'S WINNER AND GABLE END.

Last year's winner, Ben Tinto, comes into the next eight. He comes up against Glamorgan's Opportunity, and it is a pity the latter is rather off colour, for we should have seen a brilliant race to the hare. Ben Tinto should go up in front, and if he raises the flag he has a comfortable journey second time to slips. Another interesting trial will be between Jinking Hare and Lawful Marriage. The heavy going may beat the first-named, who is a very big dog. Sold Again is splendidly drawn against Gate House, but afterwards he has a difficult trial with either Ellen Beaton or Telephone. Ellen Beaton is a beautiful runner and a great killer, and may easily be in the last sixteen.

There are some good runners in the last eight. Rough Rope, the Netherby Cup winner, should account for Pagoda, and the "Irishman," Gable End, the fastest in the stake, should get the better of Slip Away.

It was unfortunate that the recent weather conditions should have been so atrocious, heavy rains preventing trainers from giving their candidates their final gallops.

It was, as a result, a very depressing tour of the kennels one made, while it tended to make this Waterloo Cup one of the most open on record. One did not come across one hopeful trainer on the journey round Formby, Hightown, Aughton, Maghull, Freshfield and Birkdale, and it was generally agreed that for the class of entry it will be one of the worst of Waterloo Cups.

HOW THE DOGS ARE PAIRED.

THE WATERLOO CUP—For 64 all-ages. Winner £500 and Cup (value £100) given by the Earl of Sefton; second £200, two dogs £50 each, four dogs £30 each, eight dogs £20 each, and sixteen dogs £10 each.

JUBILANT FAVOURITE FOR THE CUP.

Lord Tweedmouth presided at the banquet in the evening, the attendance being large and representative. When the card was called over the short odds betting disclosed the fact that many of the trials in the first round of the Cup are expected to be very close.

It was almost 10 o'clock before the long odds betting was reached. Business was not very brisk at the start, and although, with the exception of Happy Favourite, everyone of the sixteen drawn in the first quarter of the card came in for support. It was not until the name of Jubilant was reached that apparently a well fancied candidate had been found. After 1,000 to 80 and a 100 to 10 had been freely taken the best offer at the end was 8 to 1.

Sonsie, the solitary candidate from Ireland, found no support, but Roango was well backed at 20 to 1. Of the second sixteen, however, Genial Nobleman had the shortest price, 1,000 to 80 being the best offer at the close of some poor betting about the brindled son of White Collar. Several offers of 1,000 to 50 about Border Bedouin were accepted, and "sixteens" were subsequently offered.

Things dragged a good deal until Ben Tinto was reached. An offer of 8 to 1 was igonred, but at "tens" there was business to be done. In the last sixteen Rough Hope was backed at 1,000 to 40, and with Gable End finding some friends at the same rate, business came to an end.

ATHLETICS.

IRELAND'S CASE RE-STATED.

"1924 DECISION HOLDS," SAYS GENERAL O'DUFFY.

Interviewed with reference to Press reports that the Amateur Athletic Association had again changed its name and would be known in future as the International Board of the Amateur Athletic Association, the Scottish Amateur Athletic Association, and the Northern Ireland Amateur Athletic Association, General O'Duffy said that he had not received official notification from the Federation Headquarters, Sweden, of any such change, nor was he aware that a meeting of the International Council had been called to consider the question. There are only three official decisions bearing on this matter.

"Ireland (32 counties)," continued General O'Duffy, "was unanimously admitted as a member of the International Athletic Federation at the Paris Congress in July, 1924. At a meeting of the Council of the Federation held in London in May, 1931, the matter was discussed and referred to the Congress at Los Angeles. This decision can have only one interpretation—viz., that Congress is the only body competent to sanction the transfer to England of any part of Ireland for athletic purposes.

A POINT OF ORDER.

"When our item was reached on the agenda at the Los Angeles Congress, I immediately raised, on a point of order, that the decision of a previous Congress should not be subject to review unless the circumstances changed since such decision was given. The Chairman ruled that Congress could, if it so wished, alter any decision made at a previous Congress, and that the matter would be dealt with. I did not press the question for the following reasons:—The ruling clearly showed that no decision was up to that moment reached in the matter, and that, accordingly, the so-called Northern Ireland body was an illegal body, and that the English Association acted contrary to the International rules in recognising such body; and that the ruling was in harmony with the decision of the Council meeting of May, 1931, when it referred the question to Congress for decision.

"Immediately the Chairman gave his ruling on my point of order, Captain Baran, of Poland, moved, and Mr. Nai, of Italy, seconded, that the matter be not further discussed. The Chairman allowed the motion to go to the meeting, although it was a direct negative to the Chairman's ruling of a few minutes earlier, and it was carried by 12 votes to 6.

"Owing to the Chairman's ruling on our point of order, and as we had nothing to fear from having the matter very fully discussed, Ireland voted against the motion. The vote was clearly and unequivocally for or against discussion. Congress decided not to discuss the matter.

"HIGH-HANDED ACTION."

"Therefore, the 1924 decision holds, as it was not altered by Congress, and Congress alone can alter it. The minutes bear out this assertion.

"If the Council, which consists of only seven members, decided, as reported in the Belfast Press, the decision is ultra vires, over-riding as it does the decision of Congress, and will not, under any circumstances, be accepted by the N.A.C.A. Such extraordinary and high-handed action on the part of the Council, admittedly at the instigation of and to the advantage of England against Ireland, will have a very adverse effect on the respect and prestige of the International Federation, and the ordinary members of the Federation will, I have no doubt, take strong exception to it should it become necessary to place the position before them.

"I make this last appeal to the Irish athletes living in the North to link up now before it is too late with your comrades in the South. Do not be misled. The N.A.C.A. is the only athletic body in Ireland which can ever be recognised internationally, and you can never compete as Irishmen under the auspices of any other association."

CROSS-COUNTRY DATE CHANGED.

Mr. P. C. Moore presided at a meeting of the Leinster Provincial Council, N.A. and C.A., at 74 Dame street, Dublin, last evening. It was arranged that the Chairman should hold a preliminary meeting in Mullingar, after the Junior Cross-Country Championship next Sunday for the purpose of re-organising athletics in County Westmeath.

Owing to clashing with the date of Congress, the Leinster Junior Cross-Country Championship, fixed for the Lloyd Course, Kells, for Sunday, February 19th, was postponed to February 26th, entries to close on February 20th. The definition of a junior for this event is one who has never been on the scoring six of the winning team in any national, senior or junior, or in any provincial, senior or junior, or in any county senior cross-country championship, or who has never been placed first or second in any of the foregoing events or who has never been selected on an international cross-country team.

B. Gadd (Brand Hall) beat W. Button (Harborne)—6 and 5.
A. R. Wheildon (Moseley) beat Tom Green (Copt Heath)—4 and 3.
Tom Barber (Derbyshire) beat C. H. Ward (unattached)—2 and 1.

SEMI-FINAL.

Gadd beat Hooker—2 and 1.
Barber beat Wheildon—3 and 2.

ENGLISH WOMEN ARRIVE IN U.S.A.

The team of British women golfers, under the leadership of Miss Fishwick, arrived at New York yesterday, on their way to Palm Beach, Florida. They leave to-day for Palm Beach, where they will compete in the Florida championship, which begins on Monday next. They will then play in the South Atlantic championship at Ormond Beach, Florida, the championship beginning on February 21. A week later they will be playing at St. Augustine, Florida, in the Florida East Coast championship.

The 27th of February is closing date

Many people handed in their own cash and counterfoils, and that of relatives, and friends overseas. We are thankful, and so are these many people, because now they'll be sure of getting their acknowledgments before the Draw, and there will be no need to run the risk of their counterfoils being held over, or mistakes occurring in receipts owing to the rush. So please help us, to help yourself, to help others.

BADMINTON.

HANDICAP EVENTS AT ELM PARK.

START OF ALL-IRELAND TOURNAMENT.

THE twenty-seventh annual Open Irish Championship meeting began at Elm Park, Merrion road, Dublin, last evening, when play was entirely confined to the handicap events. This will be so this evening also, as it is not intended to touch the championships till to-morrow morning. However, nearly all the first-class players have entered for the handicaps, so that some good matches are in prospect.

A variety of reasons have caused the entries to be smaller than in some previous years, but in quality the standard is well maintained. The Scottish team to play in the international match on Friday will arrive in time to take part in the championships to-morrow morning.

Other distinguished players from across the Channel are Mrs. Horsley, the English international, and E. Chase, the Welsh international. Details:—

First Round.

C. H. Maidment and C. Booth (—10) beat M. Wilson and J. Pollard (7)—15-8, 15-12.

Second Round.

J. K. Maconchy and S. Spratt (4) beat E. F. Duke and C. M. Winder (6)—9-15, 15-10, 15-14.

HANDICAP WOMEN'S DOUBLES.
First Round.

Miss Carty and Mrs. Kelly (—4) beat Mrs. Macdougald and Miss C. Smith (—2)—15-11, 4-15, 15-14.

Second Round.

Miss Stoker and Mrs. Good (—11) beat Misses E. Tomkin and P. Waddell (12)—15-12, 15-12.
Misses Atoch and Craigie (9) beat Miss Carty and Mrs. Kelly (—4)—10-15, 15-8, 15-7.

HANDICAP MIXED DOUBLES.
First Round.

C. Maidment and Miss N. Stoker (—5) beat P. MacDermott and Miss Goodman (6)—15-9, 15-13.
C. Booth and Miss N. Conway (2) beat S. Cooper and Miss E. Carty (—1)—15-11, 15-10.

WOMEN'S HOCKEY.

FORWARDS IMPRESS IN SCHOOLS' TRIAL.

A TEAM .... 8 B TEAM 5

The Schools Interprovincial Trial Match, played yesterday afternoon at Milltown, resulted in a win for the A team by eight goals to five.

The A team attacked strongly at the start, but Miss Watkin lost a couple of opportunities of scoring early on. Eventually play went to the other end, where Miss Rowlands scored a clever goal. Immediately after Miss Burke, taking a pass from Miss Walker, ran through to equalise. The A team continued to attack ,and further goals were added by Misses Burke, Watkin and Radcliffe before the interval.

At half time Misses Ogden and Strahan changed places. Miss Talbot replaced Miss Radcliffe, and Miss Wheeler took Miss Brennan's place at centre half.

In the second half play was very even, both sides scoring an equal number of goals. The scorers were Misses Burke (3) and Talbot for A team, and Misses Wheeler (2) and Rowlands (2) for B team.

The most prominent players were Misses Burke, Rowlands, Talbot in the forwards, Misses Wilson, Walker and Hassett of the halves, and Miss Pike was best at full back, neither goalkeeper impressed. Teams:—

A.—Misses Stiven (Glengara); Harding (Alex. Col.), Pike (Alex. Col.); Hassett (Alex. Col.), Wilson (Hall, Monkstown), Baird (Masonic); Strahan (Monkstown), Watkin (Alex. Col.), Burke Muckross), Radcliffe (Alex. Col.), White (St. Marys).

B.—Misses Moffett Wilson (Alex. Col.); Kenny (Glengara), O'Connor (Arklow); Brown (Glengara), Bowers (Alex. Col.), Walker (Muckross), Ogden (Wesley), Rowlands (Glengara), Brennan (Loreto), Talbot (Arklow), Matheson (Hall, Monkstown).

TEAM FOR FURTHER TRIAL.

The following have been selected to play Miss Steen's XI. at Milltown on Tuesday next.

Misses another (Bertrand) and Foxton (Masonic); Kenny (Glengara), Pike (Alexandra College); Hassett (Alexandra College), Wilson (Hall, Monkstown), Walker (Muckross) and Bowers (Alexandra College); Treanor (Rutland) and Ogden (Wesley), Rowlands (Glengara), Burke (Muckross) and Wheeler (Mercers), Radcliff (Alexandra College), White (St. Mary's, Haddington road.)

TO-DAY'S FIXTURE.

Monkstown v. Optimists. Green Lanes, Terenure, 3.30.

Monkstown—Misses Guy; Harrison, O'Dea; H. McCormick, Fox, Harrington; Taylor, Boardman, Conan, Flavelle, Darley.

GAELIC GAMES.

THE RAILWAY CUP MATCH AT CORK.

WILL U.C.D. AGAIN BRING OFF THE "DOUBLE"?

(By PAT'O.)

THE MARDYKE grounds, Cork, will likely accommodate a big crowd on Sunday, when Leinster's Senior football selection meets Munster. This is the first interprovincial football match fixed for Cork City since the Railway Cups were presented. Munster football needs such a stimulus; for, outside Kerry, the standard in the South is low. Cork County is on the up-grade, however, and extended a weakened Kerry team at Killarney last Sunday.

Had Kerry travelled at full strength, Cork might still have won, and Kerry's unbeaten record in the National League been ended. Kerry called in four new players. Led at the interval, the champions finished well, and Brosnan's goals decided the issue. O'Regan was the most prolific of Cork's scorers. Errors in attack were costly, but Kerry seemed to have something in reserve, and finished strongly. Whether they can hold Leinster on Sunday, even with Comerford's aid, is another matter. Comerford, a native of Clare, was again the "live wire" in the Guards' mid-field last Sunday, when his initiative led to Perry's score, which saved his side from defeat in the second half. Kerry will field their best side, and they always play well at Leeside.

Critics consider that Dublin is too strongly represented on the Leinster side, but I think it wise to play familiar men beside McDonnell. Leinster's back line should do well, as Higgins, Meade and McCann make a powerful line, whilst McLaughlin's reach and steadiness will be helped by Hickey and Brennan at both corners. Shaw and Walsh should dovetail at mid-field, and Martin (Kildare) is a cool, skilled player on the forty yards mark. Byrne (Kildare) and Delaney should make a perfect wing, and O'Dowd was Dublin's most successful "winger" against Kerry. The outlying players of Leinster's team are short of matches at the moment, but Kerry are set their hardest proposition of recent years. The Leinster side travel on Saturday evening.

ULSTER AND CONNAUGHT.

The Ulster and Connaught selection committees have pleased the critics, and their match at Monaghan should be a close affair. The railway strike set rumours afloat, but I learn that the teams will play as selected, with a Leinster referee. Armagh has four men in central positions, and Ulster's representatives were in a confident mood at the last meeting of the Central Council. The winners of next Sunday's games should provide material for a first-class final at Croke Park.

It is a curious corollary of the Charity Cup that earlier winners have won the succeeding County Championship. St. Josephs first came into prominence when winning the Cup in 1930, and they won the Dublin Championship in 1931. Erin's Hopes next won the Cup, and went on to win the 1932 title, so that St. Lawrences (Howth) may reasonably take heart for the 1933 competitions. They have stout opposition on all sides—the Guards, St. Joseph's, Kickhams, Geraldines, U.C.D., Army and Fingalians are all playing well. Indeed, the championship was never more open, and Dublin's football standard has steadily improved.

The opening match in the Hurling League, between Faughs and U.C.D., at Artane, will bring old followers out on Sunday. U.C.D. are training hard for their Fitzgibbon Cup matches at Galway next week. Having won the Sigerson Cup at home, U.C.D. hope to repeat last year's double. The Cork College had a good try-out recently against Sarsfields, and Donal McCarthy hopes to retrieve the ground lost this year. Galway at home are a serious proposition, but I think the Dublin team is the strongest of the three, and may win again.

VETERAN STATESMAN DIES AT GENEVA.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

GENEVA, Tuesday.

Count Albert Apponyi, the veteran Hungarian statesman, died here this afternoon of influenza at the age of 87. The body will be taken to Hungary for burial.

The Disarmament Conference adjourned for a few minutes as a mark of respect, after tributes had been paid to one of the most devoted supporters of the League of Nations and the organisation of peace.

ANNUAL POPPIES.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Garden Correspondent says:—

TABLE CHICKENS.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Poultry Correspondent says:—

Those who have a lot of chickens specially fattening for market should keep them all together under cover, as birds for table use are killed at an early age, and do not require outdoor exercise. In fact, they fatten better by keeping them warm, confined in a shed and without much exercise. This, with good feeding, will encourage quick growth and plenty of flesh. Of course, a certain amount of exercise is necessary to keep them in health and to give them good appetites; for they must have plenty of food if they are to fatten well. The food must be more of a concentrated and nourishing quality, and should also contain fattening substances. The best food for this purpose is milk, and if given sour mixed with soft mash it will keep them in health.

DUBLIN DISTRICT COURT.

(BEFORE MR. McCARTHY.)

Noel Roe, aged 16 years, described as a page boy, of Joyce road, Drumcondra, was returned for trial in custody to the Circuit Court for obtaining money by means of tricks. The main charge concerned was for £3 6s. 6d.

A boy named Thomas McCusker, living in Arbour Hill Barracks, giving evidence, said that he was given a cheque for £3 6s. 6d. with which to pay a bill of £1 12s. in a shop, and to bring back the change.

After paying the bill he met Roe, who told him that he was sent merely to have the cheque cashed and that the bill was not to be paid. McCusker said that, believing Roe, he went back to the shop and got the balance of the money. All of this he gave to Roe, who sent him back to his mother for an insurance book on which he was to get young McCusker £20 a year in an office "round the corner." McCusker said that when he went for the book Roe disappeared with the £3 6s. 6d.

In another case a 15-year-old girl, living in Charlemont Mall, was given £1 4s. 8d. by her mother to redeem a suit of clothes from pawn. When going home with the suit she met Roe. Roe, according to her evidence, said that her mother had changed her mind and wanted the suit repawned for £1, with which he (Roe) was to get a £5 loan from a society. She pawned the suit, and gave Roe the £1. He disappeared.

Roe was alleged, in another case, to have got 2s. 2d. from an eleven-year-old girl sent to pay a bill in a baker's shop by telling her that the price of bread had gone up, and that she should go home for more money. In a fourth case a boy was given 2s. 6d. by his mother to go for meat. He met Roe, who told him that his mother, having changed her mind, now wanted the money to pay insurance.

ALLEGED ATTEMPT TO FORCE SAFE.

(BEFORE MR. McCARTHY.)

John Whelan (19) and Richard Ives (20), both of Lower Dominick street, were remanded in custody until Friday next charged with having broken into the garage of Messrs. Sanderson and Sons, King's Inns lane, and attempted to force the office safe.

Detective Sergeant Gill said that between 10 and 11 a.m. yesterday, when making inquiries into the attempted robbery, he questioned Ives, who said: "It's all right, sergeant; I know all about it. I was there." Whelan, when questioned, said: "I know nothing at all about it." Ives in another statement (produced) said that at about 10 p.m. on Monday night, when passing Sanderson's garage, he said to Whelan: "It would be easy to break in there." Whelan replied: "All right." They forced the wicket (according to the statement) and walked into the office. They tried to open the safe with a screwdriver, but failed. They also failed to break it with a small sledge. After one and a half hours, they left the garage without having stolen anything.

Sergeant Gill said that Whelan subsequently made a statement corroborating what Ives had said.
